The poem is entitled:

TO A POLITICAL OPPONENT. I send thee, Greeley, words of cheer, Thou bravesi, traest, best of men. For I have marked thy strong career As traced by thine own stordy pen. I've seen the struggle with the foes

That dured thee to the desperate fight. And leved to watch the goodly blows Dealt for the cause thou deem'st the right.

In thy own strength hast dured he strong Nor on another's arm relied. Thy own great purposes avowed,

When others faltered by the side,

And more have ever seen then shrink From the flerce surges of the crowd.

Their all unaided and alone Del'st take thy way in life's young With no kind hand clasped in thy own,

No gentle voice to soothe thy tears. But thy high heart no power could tame, And thou hast never ceased to feel Within thy veins a sacred flame That turned thy iron nerves to steel.

I know that then art not exempt From all the weaknesses of earth, For passion comes to rouse and tempt The truest souls of mortal bitch. But those hast well fulfilled thy trust. In spice of hope and love and fear,

And e on the tempesals thundergust

But clears thy spirits atmosphere. Thou still art in thy manhood's prime. Still foremest 'mid thy fellow-men, Though in each year of all thy time Thou hast compressed three-score and

EVENT CONTRACTOR CONTRACTOR CONTRACTOR A LITTLE CONTRAST.—The organs of the Administration are making a great flourish about its Indian policy. Let us make a little contrast between one year of Andrew Johnson's Administration and one year of his successor's. In 1868, the last year of Mr. Johnson's Administration, the Indian service cost $3,988,954. In 1871, the third year of General Grant's Administration, this same service cost $7,426,397. This is another brilliant example of the economy of the persent Administration. There was far more trouble with the Indians last year than in 1868. The fact is, Grant's Indian policy or impolicy has increased the mud-
