OREGON CITY, OREGON, MARCH 28, 1873.

REFURNING.-Last week we noticed the fact that Mr. R. Jacob, President of and milling, $1 80@185. the woolen factory at this place was on his way home, and may be expected to arrive here on the next steamer. We Barley-1,000 sks coast, 1 $ 23; coast, $1 15 (6) 22; bay, $1 27 16 (6) 35, Sale of 820 sks bay brewing at $1 35. arrive here on the next steamer. We have since learned, that he has completed all the purchases of machinery for the new woolen mills. The machinery includes all the latest and most improved patents. When put up and ready for operation, there will be no more complete and perfect mill on the Pacific coast; and the machinery, when worked by skilled operators, will be capable of turning out all kinds of woolen fabrics surpassed by no other factory, either in the East or West. Already a large por-tion of the machinery is on the road, and the remainder is to be shipped by rail in a few weeks. All the machinery is expected to arrive by the time the building is ready for its reception. The contract calls for the completion of the building by the 15th of June; but if good weather is vouchsafed, workmen can begin to put up the machinery by the 1st of June, if not prior to that date. Work on both the building and putting up of the machinery will be crowded forward with great activity, as it is the intention of Mr. Jacob to have the mill ready to turn out fabrics by the 1st of FOR DEFENDENT .- Our readers will rememer that sometime since an action was commenced in the U. S. District Court against the Lock Company wherein several of our citizens were in-terested. The case was tried the fore-part of the present week, and resulted in a verdict for the Lock Company. We learn that our young friend Chas. E. Warren, Esq., who was engaged against the Company, made a most able and thorough argument in behalf of his clients. It was his first case in the U.

Although many other pictures will be more widely popular, it will be hard to select a single one which will do more to win for the Alding the respect of those whose cultivation enables them to recognize and appreciate the highest forms of art. James D. Smille gives a spirited sketch of that famous ride "From Ghent to Aix;" and there are also two smaller sketches by Tavernier, which are very beautiful. "The Fox and Grapes," after Dore, is a specimen of that master's most happy tyle, and is a triumph of pictoral art. Altogether we congratulate the publishers upon their success in the art department of this number, and we will also congratulate ourselves upon he possession of such a magnificent "exponent of American taste." The literature is more excellent than usual. The most noticeable articles are "Interludes," a sparkling story, by Elizaeth Stoddard, and "The Tawny Mus-tehe," a bright social sketch, by Sucly contributes a pleasant paper about "Giants, Real and Mythical;" W. W. about "Pussy Willows in Alders;" and Henry Richards a bit of gossip about Short and Pithy Letters," torials, which are in Mr. Stoddard's best vein, are "A Few Thoughts about "The Horse and his Riders White Birches of the Saramac," Love's Last Service." Aker Allen opens the number with a hetic poem, entitled "Inconstancy ey," a melancholy leve poem; and Jon Sydney with an amusing nursery song on "Baby's Toilet," Music, Art. and Literature are intelligently and critically treated.
