ILL-TIMED,-The drowning of young Zeller occured on Thursday of last week while a party were on a pleasure excursion, and the event certainly should have cast a gloom over those who were among the pleasure seekers. But the said event did not apparently mar the enjoyment of the party as the excursionits came up to this city after their day's festivities were over, passed up and and down in front of town with joyous music playing. This we regard as very ill-timed and out of place. Our own town was cast in sorrow over the death of one of its most prominent citi-zens and whose remains had just been taken to the grave, and our people dic not care to witness the display of made by the exentsionists; and if they had no regard for the lost one of their own party, the respect due our city at our loss and feelings of sorrow, should have been sufficient to deter such exhi-bitions. There is a proper time for all tatage, but the proceedings of the managers of the excursion last Thursday were decidenly out of place and showed very had taste, to say the least,
