Radical Oppression. The St. Louis Republic lays the blame of the desperate financial condition of the South upon Republican oppression. It says: The Republican party cannot rid itself of the responsibility for this miserable business, nor can it evade the duty of having to answer for it, sooner or later.

It is not the work of the rebellion, for when the Southern States come out of the rebellion they had, with the exception of Virginia, very limited debts; but they were seized by the governing power at Washington and violently given into the hands of its depraved partisans to be plundered at will.

The very power at Washington which did not scruple to take the government from the majority and give it to the minority, professed to have no authority over the minority, and the unrestrained carpet-baggers and negroes, having nothing but what they could manage to steal, and possessing no interest in the State but that of robbers and plunderers, robbed and plundered without limit—the Republican party at Washington looking approvingly on the wretched spectacle, and never interfering except to prevent the people from bringing it to an end.

FAVORABLY MENTIONED.—The Albany Democrat has this to say of Hon. Geo. R. Helm, to all of which we echo a hearty amen: We frequently hear the name of our distinguished fellow-citizen, Geo. R. Helm, favorably mentioned in connection with the Democratic nomination for Congress.

Mr. Helm has served Lima county in many honorable official positions and has always acquitted himself with credit and ability. We do not know that any State would have a more distinguished nomination, but should be selected by the convention we are certain that our party would be ably represented upon the canvass in any political tournament, and if elected our State would have no reason to be ashamed of its young Representative.
