We now publish more than double the amount of reading matter that was published in the Enterprise when we took charge of it, and it shall ever be our aim to keep up in its various departments fully to the support given us. It has been our aim to make the Enterprise a good reliable local and general news papes, besides a true and consistent Democratic organ. It has been our object to do justice first to our county and State and then the politicians. That we are proud of the success with which we have met and the many encouraging endorsements we have received from our patrons, we do not deny and we trust that in the future, as in the past, we | ter. shall be deserving of their confidence and support, assuring them that we shall always endeavor to make the paper a welcome visitor. The Ex-TERPRISE shall be in the future what it has been in the past, an independent Democratic paper, representing no elique or faction, but the party and its true friends throughout the State. We have no political favors to ask from any quarter, and consequently can act free and independent on all questions. We shall always claim the right to express four opinion freely in regard to aspirants for political preferment, and claim the privilege of opposing the placing in the lead any and all men who have not a true party record or who may people of the Western country to be otherwise objectionable to the masses.
