THE OLD, OLD HOME.

When I long for sainted memories, Like angel troops they come,
If I fold my arms to ponder
On the old, old home.
The heart has many passages The heart has many passages
Through which the feelings roam,
But its middle aisle is sacred
To the thoughts of old, old home.

Where infancy was sheltered Like rose-buds from the blast, Where girlhood's brief elysium In joyousness was passed; To that sweet spot forever, As to some hallowed dome, Life's pilgrim bends her vision— "Tis her old, old home.

A father sat, how proudly, By that hearthstone's rays, And told his children stories Of his early manhood days; And one soft eye was beaming, From child to child 'twould roam; Thus a mother counts her treasures In the old, old home.

The birth-day gifts and festivals, The blended vesper hymn, Some dear one who was swelling it (Some dear one who was swelling it
Is with the Seraphin).
The fond "good nights" at bed-time,
How quiet sleep would come,
OAnd fold us all together
In the old, old home.

Like a wreath of scented flowers Close intertwined each heart. But time and change in concert Have blown the wreath apart. But dead and sainted memories Like angels ever come, If I fold my arms and ponder on the old, old home.

But we suppose there is no use of complaining against the "powers that be," for the people of this State are represented as a "small factious set" and the time has not yet come for us to prove to the contrary. The testimony we will give next June, coupled with that of last October, o will be apt to be conclusive.

The Executive Committee of the State Grange of the Petrons of Husbandry, recommend to the subordinate granges in the jurisdiction that they elect their officers at the last regular meeting of such Granges held in December, A. D., 1873, and the offi-cers then elected be installed at the Granges in January, A. D., 1874.
