NEW GOODS—See the new advertisement of I. Selling, in another column.

Market Report.

Wheat is quoted at the mills in this city, No. 1, at 80 cents per bushel; oats, 20 cents per bushel.

TAKEN SICK IN THE CARS—From a private letter received by one of our citizens we learn that on Thursday last, as the Eastern train on the Central Pacific arrived at Sacramento, a man by the name of James Clark, formerly a resident of this city, and who was on his return here, was taken off the cars in a dying condition and sent to the hospital.

THE ABOVE ITEM we take from the News of last Tuesday. Mr. Clark was formerly employed on the railroad in this and Multnomah counties.

Wheat is $1 per bushel at Boise City. The ruling price for wheat in Walla Walla is 35 cents per bushel.

Washington Territory has a glut of candidates for the position of Delegates to Congress.

Washington Territory has 38 Granges, Idaho 7, Montana 19, Colorado 61, and Dakota 55.

Gen. Sheridan, with his little order, has killed the Black Hills gold excitement for the present.

A single blast in the Sherman mine, Boulder county, one day last week, loosened $8,000 worth of ore.

The Seattle Intelligence establishment is offered for sale. The proprietor wants to go to a Southern clime.

The Indians in the neighborhood of Maricopa, Arizona, have raised upwards of 250,000 lbs of wheat this season.

The young man William Fricke, arrested at Walla Walla last week on a charge of horse-stealing, was discharged.

Mr. Sweeney, living in Cowitz county, this year raised 40 bushels of wheat to the acre and 100 bushels of oats.

It is estimated that the wheat crop in Montana this year is 50 per cent. less than last, and the oat crop 33 per cent. less.

The officers at Fort Russell do not credit the report that gold will be found in any considerable quantities in the Black Hills.

According to the census just completed, Denver has a population of 16,800 permanent residents, of whom but 6,500 are females.

Hon. H. G. Struve Pardoned.

The Seattle Dispatch of the 31st inst. says that "We are pleased to announce a result of which we had not a doubt, that the President has granted an unconditional pardon to Hon. Henry G. Struve, Secretary of Washington Territory, for deserting from the army twenty years ago."

Mr. Struve at that time in his nonage, a German by birth and but recently arrived in this country, had enlisted under the misapprehension that in this Democratic country a private soldier was in the line of promotion, to be determined by ability and meritorious service.

He very soon discovered the delusion of his idea of the service. Assigned to menial duties in a military hospital, he found nothing before him in the military career to which he had bound himself before he was of age to contract a civil obligation.

Several years of degraded and degrading menial servitude during the flower of his manhood. Like any youth of education and spirit, who should find himself thus circumstanced through misapprehension or deception, he took violent possession of himself and asserted his own manhood, in violation of law, choosing rather to incur the risk of recapture and condign punishment than undergo years of irksome slavery tending to unfit him for future usefulness.

Without resorting to any dishonorable evasion or subterfuge, he only sought a section of the country where he was not known, and entered upon a new career, with no other aid than his own energy and indomitable will.

He has achieved a success to which few attain, and established for himself a character which none need be ashamed of. He has labored for a score of years with this error of his youth, visible only to himself, hanging over him like a pall, clouding his brightest hopes, and liable at any moment to fall upon him and shroud his future in darkness.

Through the malice of enemies it was at last disclosed to the world, and as often happens, the malicious intent has proved a blessing to its object, and a plague to the inventors. It has dispersed the cloud which has chilled his best efforts, and left no shadow upon his fair fame in the view of honorable citizens.

The Secretary of the State Agricultural Society informs the Record that in a few days he will purchase, as directed by the Board, the silverware offered for premiums in divisions L. and M. (ladies' and Misses' departments) of the premium list, to-wit: To the persons taking the highest number of first premiums, not less than seven, silver plate valued at $25; and to the person taking the second highest number of first premiums, not less than five, silver plate valued at $15.

The same condition rule in the divisions for Misses under 14 years of age, and for the highest number of first premiums, silverware valued at $15; for the second highest, silverware valued at $10.
