THE ENTERPRISE.

OREGON CITY, OREGON, MARCH 26, 1875.

JOURNAL OF ARMY LIFE. - We are in receipt of a book with the above title, from Dr. R. Glisan, of Portland. The book is well gotten up, and contains 511 pages. As its title indicates, it is a history of army life as observed by the author, and gives a most complete and author, and gives a most complete and interesting account of the Indian wars of our State and Washington Territory of 1855 and 1858. It cannot fail to be of interest to all old Oregonians, and besides to those who desire information as to the early life of its pioneers. The book is handsomely bound, printed on clear type, and is in every way worth the supscription price, and will amply repay any one to read it. It is sold by supscription, we believe, at $2.50 per capy. It can be had by addressing Dr. R. Glisan, at Portland.

THE ENTERTAINMENT .- The entertainment given last Thursday evening and appropriately responded to by at Pope's Hall by the pupils and those called upon. Mr. Coldwell, in friends of the City Grammar School was well attended and in every way a success. Some of the performances really deserves special mention, but not having a full memoranda, we feel as though we might do some injustice by speaking of one and omitting others, and therefore say that as a whole the entertainment was a success and a credit to those who participated therein. The ball by the Turners the same evening was also a success, well attended, and of course those who participated had a very joyable time.
