OREGON CITY, OREGON, JAN. 21, 1876

CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Cooking presented a petition asking the prohibition of...
Jan. 13.—Widom presented petitions of 2,840 citizens of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Ohio and Missouri, asking an appropriation of $100,000 for the improvement of the Upper Missouri river. Referred.

HOUSE.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Bills were introduced by Wells for a custom house and postoffice building at St. Louis.
By Falkner, to prohibit Senators, Representatives and Delegates to Congress, from acting as council, or otherwise, in suits and proceedings against the United States.
By Denton, to have a commission appointed to ascertain on what terms a naturally beneficial treaty of commerce with Mexico can be arranged.

By Denton, to have a commission appointed to ascertain on what terms a naturally beneficial treaty of commerce with Mexico can be arranged.
The debate on the amnesty bill then came up. Messrs. Garfield and Hill the principal participants, carrying it on until adjournment.

By Bennett, of Idaho, offered a resolution instructing the Judiciary Committee to inquire into the expediency of incorporating into the Constitution, by amendment, a provision giving citizens of organized Territories the right to vote for President and Vice President. Adopted.
Cochran offered a resolution for the appointment of a special committee to investigate the alleged fraudulent letting of contracts for the transportation of Indian supplies and goods. Referred.

After a very bitter debate on the amnesty bill, in which Blaine, Hill and Catfield took part, the House adjourned.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Bills were introduced as follows:
By White, to reduce the salaries of public officers exceeding $1,500 20 per cent. He moved the previous question on its passage.

Kasson suggested that though the motive of the bill was excellent, it seemed to violate the Constitution, as it involved the Supreme Court judges and the President. The previous question was not seconded, and the bill was referred.
On motion of Randall, the House went into committee of the whole, Saylor of Ohio in the chair, on the pension appropriation bill, which appropriates the following sums: Pension for army, $1,250,000; pensions for widows, &c., $14,100,000; pensions for survivors of 1812, $500,000; fees of pension agents, commissions, &c., $500,000; and for the year ending June 30, 1875, $1,133,000.

Alkins who had charge of the bill, made a statement as to the items in it, compared with those of preceding years, and showed that the average rate of pension has increased from 850 in 1871 to $103 21 in 1875. After discussion in regard to pension agents the committee rose and reported the bill, and it was passed.

Lord, from the Judiciary committee, reported a bill providing that the Alabama claims commissioners, as soon after the 22d inst. as practicable, shall report to Secretary of State, the several judgments which before, or on that day, shall have been rendered by the courts of the Alabama claims commissioners, and that the Secretary of State shall transmit the report to the Secretary of the Treasury, who shall, without unnecessary delay proceed to pay the judgments specified therein, with interest thereon at the rate of 4 per cent. from the date of the loss. After some little discussion the bill passed.

As a specimen of the debate on the Amnesty bill we give the following:
Blaine—The effect of this speech of the gentleman from Georgia seems to have been very good. Down there, for one of his organs say, "We assert, without fear of contradiction, that Hill, in his bitter denunciation of scallwags and carpetbaggers, deterred thousands of them from entering the ranks of the rebel party. They dare not do so, for fear of social ostracism, and to-day the white people of Georgia are almost unanimously Democratic as a result of the effect of Hill's bill."
Cox—Good for Hill!

Blaine—In a certain event he is for war.
Cox (breaking in)—Oh, Blaine, dry up!
Blaine (not noticing) continued—The gentleman from Georgia, by not withholding his speech from publication and by revising it and fixing it up for circulation among Northern Democrats possibly ease his speeches in Georgia.
Hill—My speech is already in the hands of the printer.
Blaine—I have quoted these Georgia speeches from Democratic papers. There is no excuse that the report is a perversion of his speeches in Republican papers. The gentleman deliberately states that in a certain contingency he is for war.

Hill—No, sir.
Blaine—I undertake here to say that all the hot wrath of the Thirty-sixth Congress, which precipitated the rebellion in this country, there is not one speech to be found which breathes a more determined resistance to the rebellion than the speech of the gentleman from Georgia. I will not lay such charges at their door. I know, very well, for I have read it in this chargeable report, that there was a deep movement among the Southern people about these atrocities; that there was profound sensibility on the subject; and I know that the great leading officers protested against it; many substantial citizens did so; that an honorable general from North Carolina, now representing his State in the Senate, protested against it; but I have searched the records, and I have found that the gentleman from Georgia protested against it. It was known to the Confederate Congress at the doors of the Confederate Senate during the sessions of its Capitol. The venerable gentleman now in my eye (alluding to Henry S. Foote, who was seated on a chair in the area on the Democratic side) brought it himself to the attention of the Confederate Congress.

To show how entirely these matters were known here, I will read the resolutions offered here in January, 1864. [Here Blaine quoted the resolutions, the language of which showed the sufferings of the Union prisoners were generally known on both sides of the line, and he added, the author of them was S. J. Randall, of Pennsylvania; he also referred to a resolution by Washburne, of Illinois, approving of the humane efforts of the administration to secure the exchange of prisoners, and he said amongst those who voted against it was S. S. Cox, then of Ohio.
Cox—interrupting—The Hon. "Hyena" from Maine—
Blaine—I am not interrupted.
Cox—I am correcting myself—I say the Hon. gentleman from Maine interrupted me five times the other day, and I let him come in.
Blaine—Yes; but the gentleman from Pennsylvania has notified me I cannot have my time extended.
Cox—Well; follow away. You are a "hyena."

Sugar from Grapes.
If report is true a citizen of Los Angeles county, Cal., has made a most important discovery, and one that all having vineyards of the old mission grapes will appreciate. It will also overcome effectually the objections entertained by many against the grape on account of their being used for making wine, as it will open up a much more profitable market. The report is that it has lately been discovered by a citizen of Los Angeles county that twenty to twenty-two per cent. of No. 1 sugar can be obtained from the mission grape. He has applied for a patent on his method, and as soon as he can get it in the right shape then he will make known the process by which he makes a first-class brown and white sugar from the much celebrated mission grape. If this report should be verified the revenues of this section will be largely increased, as most of our now uncultivated side hills are specially adapted to their cultivation. Such grapes are now worth but ten to thirteen dollars per acre. An exchange makes this comparison: "To make them into sugar—say twenty per cent. of sugar from a ton—that is, 400 pounds of sugar. Cost of making, 2 cents a pound, which leaves $320 per ton, estimating the sugar at 10 cents, which is from 3 to 4 cents cheaper than sugar can now be bought in this market."—San Jose Argus.

USURY LAWS.—The Philadelphia Ledger has made a compilation of the laws relative to the rate of interest in the several States and Territories. Thirty-three States and Territories have usury laws, the regular rate of interest varying from six to twelve per cent. In the following States and Territories all usury laws have been abolished and any rate may be collected that may be agreed upon; California, Florida, Maine, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Texas, Utah, Washington, Wyoming. New York has a stringent anti-usury law. According to the law in that State seven per cent. is the maximum rate, and usury is made a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of $1,000 or six months imprisonment, or both, and forfeits the principal even in the hands of third parties.

Newspaper gossip. It is said that Carl Schurz, David A. Wells and Col Grosvenor are getting possession of the finances, a weekly money and business paper for New York, and making a good thing of it—changing its name to the Public, and devoting it specially to currency, tariff and other administrative reforms. An excellent idea, and very able men to carry it out.

It has been discovered that the same kind of coloring matter which poisons the striped stockings is also used to color bad whisky. In both cases it goes to the legs and ruins the understanding.
"Have you any nice fresh farmer's eggs?" inquired a precise old lady at a grocery store. "No, ma'am," replied the practical clerk, "but we have some very good hen's eggs." She took three to try.

As long as a woman can attend an auction and buy three links of rust-eaten stove-pipe for 60 cents, she will not worry about suffrage.
A Pittsburg man has all the doors in his his house opening outward, so as to be prepared for either a family row or a fire.
