The same force will afterwards move down to Rocky Rapids, six miles below Salem, and remove 25 yards of rock there. Several causes tend to make navigation on the Upper Willamette much better than usual the present year. The wing dams constructed last fall have proved permanent, and have greatly helped the river to improve its own channel, so that Union Bar, fifteen miles below Salem, and Lone Tree Bar, eght miles below here, that used to be the "sticking points" below Sa-lem, are now easily passed. It is bedams in the river will tend to confine the river to a permanent channel, and so cause it to improve gradually year after year by its own action. Such is the experience with work already done. Another fact favorable to navigation is the construction of light draft steam-boats that agree better with the low stage of water common to summer and fall than those commonly in use. We allude to the City of Salem, Bonanza and Ohio. Mr. Paquet says he can see no reason why the river cannot be no reason why the river cannot be made navigable at low water as far up his place during his absence. as the main stream, six miles below Eugene, and believes the expenditure f $100,000 in judicious improvements, with some repairs affected yearly thereafter at a trifling expense, would accomplish this most desirable result.

to make good time for safe quarters, (as he is not noted for his bravery) but just at this moment the window came lown with a rush, and the mysterious personage was caught in its tender embrace, with his feet on one side and head on the other. Our reporter, now as brave as a lion, rushed hurriedly to the scene, with two pistols and a big butcher knife, and demanded the cause of such conduct. But picture his surprise when he saw the placid counte-nance of one of our city's gay beaux, who had been locked out by his landlady, and was trying to g t into his room through the window. Our reporter raised the window for the young man, and allowed him to escape from the critical position. Let this be a warning to that young man to not stay out so late when visiting his dulcina or else make arrangements with the landlady to leave the door unlocked.

THE Albany Democrat, of the 14th. had the following concerning our Church: "A reception was given last evening at the residence of L. Flinn, Esq., in honor of Mr. Wheeler Church and lady. An individual with his coat and hat turned wrong side out attracted considerable attention last Monday evening, on Main street. Many were the conjectures as to whether it was Sitting Bull or one of the daring safe burglars in disguise. On close examination we found it to be a Clackamas county granger, who had got too much "langle-foot" a oard. When last seen he was calmly meditating on a dry goods box upon the evil influences of intemperance, and we hope he may profit thereby, and not make such a speciacle of himself on our streets again .

ANOTHER ACCIDENT .-- While engaged in repairing the factory flume, last Sunday, Mr. Louis Jaggars received a severe cut in the thigh. He was standing along side of Mr. Chase, who was chipping a heavy timber, when by some means the broad axe slipped from his hand and struck Jaggars in the thigh, inflicting a severe wound. His right hand was also badly cut. The doctor fixed the young man up, and he is now able to get around on crutches.

CAPT. Z. C. NORTON'S residence, at Norton's post office, in this county, caught fire last week, by sparks from the chimney dropping on the dry roof.
