Dr. Frank R. Rinearson, of this city, was received into the membership of the Oregon State Medical Society, at its fifth annual meeting held at Portland on the 18th and 19th of June.

The steamer A. A. McCully passed down the river Tuesday, raised from her "sink" in the Willamette above Independence. She was raised from the river bed on Sunday and her injuries can be easily repair-ed. Summer navigation hardly pays for the dangers incident to low water, unless round freight rates could be realized.

"He was as dry as a fish," he said, with a months, a man of very polite address, and very particular to form no acquaint-ance except from the best of the society of our city, was arrested on Thursday evening on the complaint, of O P. Jay cox, charged with the larceny of $2.50 from the drawer in the store of Sheppard & Jaycox, of this city. The case was tried before Mr. T. C. Alexander, Justice of the Peace, of this city, and although the offence could have been tried as a felony, yet the charge was for simple larceny, and the defendant's counsel advised the trial on that charge instead of the more serious one of "larceny from a store." The facts brought out on the trial were that the prosecutor had missed money for several weeks, and had suspected McCauley, and New Songs.—Two fine new songs have just been received, viz: "Why Don't He several pieces of coin and placed them in the till, and had officer Miller to watch the drawer through a hole in the shelving made for that purpose. Miller saw the accused go to the drawer, pul! it out and put his hand in. On arresting him a few hours afterwards, two of the marked coins were found in his possession. After trial by jury, and the verdict of guilty rendered, the defendant was sentenced to thirty days' imprisonment in the county jail. Mr. M. had taught school in this county, and was at the time out of em-ployment. He has evidently been well raised, and being, as we suppose, "broke,"

Harper's Magazine for July.

Harper's Magazine for July finds a novel field for the portrayal of character and of Virginia-the old aristocratle "tidewater" region, rich in historie associations, and excedingly picturesque in its memorial relies of old time. The opening article of the number devoted to this subject, and entitled "Some Landmarks of Old Virginia," is contributed by Allen C. Redwood, who uses his pencil as effectively as his pen.

Of especially humorous and pathetic interest is Mr. Rideings's paper about "Hospital Life in New York," with sixteen bright illustrations by Reinhart, Abby, and Rogers effectively representing the part of the property o bey, and Rogers, effectively representing every phase of hospital life, from the coming of the ambulance to the period of

In his charming story, "Owlet," John Esten Cooke also takes us to Virginia, and the interest of his romance is heightened by Mr. Pyle's beautiful illustrations. The engravings illustrating the paper on Van Dyck—another of the series of "Old Flemish Mastees," are in every way wor-thy of the subject.

Among the characteristic domestic sketches presented in this number, "Dad-dy Will," by Charles D. Deshler, stands out in bold, strong lines—fa familiar, but striking picture of the trusted and faithful servant so well remembered in many Southern homes. Especially impressive is the scene between Daddy Will and little Kate, which the artist has selected as a subject for illustration. There are two illustrated papers on for-eign subjects. A. H. Guernsey contrib-utes one on the peculiar features of Jug-gernaut in Orissa, The other, entitled "A First Week in England," introduces us to the quaint old houses and rows of Chester, to Ludlow Castle, where Milton wrote his "Comus," and to the fine old cathedral at Hereford.

Dr. Abel Stevens contributes a timely article, entitled, "Timely Anecdotes of Voltaire among the Swiss," full of fresh materials furnished by Gabriel, an ancien pasteur of Geneva-materials wholly ig-nored by Voltaire's recent biographer, Mr. Morley.
