Judge Taylor has shown much wisdom, as well as excellent executive and judicial ability in his discharge of the work of the term just closed. He is the right man in the right place.

The republican party represents the upright progressive spirit of the times. Since its organization nearly four decades ago it has upheld those principles of liberty and justice which have worked out good for the entire people, and to-day the party is pledged to the support of those principles which will best advance the good of the whole people, irrespective of class.

GOVERNOR PENNOYER was advertised to speak in Molalla yesterday, it being the occasion of his opening the campaign for free trade and Pennoyer. The democracy of that section are claiming that they will have would be Congressman Miller out there to speak before election. This looks very much as though the democratic party was becoming greatly alarmed. Such strenuous efforts in the party's strong hold would hardly be made if they were not badly scared.

The appropriation bill as it now stands makes very liberal appropriation for public improvements in Oregon. It has always been the policy of the republican party, for the general government to make liberal appropriations to assist the new states in developing their resources, while the democratic idea has been opposed to public improvements, and for years fought bitterly in congress to prevent appropriations of this class. The democratic idea carried out would leave Oregon's forests a wilderness, her harbors sand bars or mud flats and her rivers unnavigable except as the people within the state found means to develop the resources within themselves.

The issue of this campaign should be clearly understood. It is protection versus free trade; home industries and factories rather than heavy importations from foreign countries. The republican party favors a policy which has and will continue to build up factories and mills, which will give employment to hundreds and thousands of operators right here at the Falls of the Willamette, while the democratic platform carried out would tend to close those already established and prevent more from building. The prospects are too good for this city's becoming a great manufacturing city for voters to hesitate in their choice of parties. The republican policy has proven successful, consequently that party is entitled to confidence.

This battle in Oregon is another skirmish preceding the next presidential campaign. The issues are the same as two years ago, and it devolves upon the republican speakers to show why Oregon City and Clackamas county are interested in the success of the republican party at the polls.

Broad as this vast country itself the republican party has no occasion to be ashamed of its record. If any member of the party of Lincoln and Sumner, of Garfield and Blaine, and thousands of other eminent men of the past 30 years are tempted to listen to the pleas of democratic orators for a change of policy let them examine the record fully, and they will have no occasion to wish to change.

The indebtedness clause which disgraces Oregon's statutes has got to go. Under its wings those so disposed can escape all taxation which piles the burden upon the honest. If those who have heretofore prevented the repeal of the part of the law should persist in ignoring the demands of the people, citizens without regard to party or occupation should for one year fix themselves to pay no taxes. One year would fix the business, so that there would be no more kicking about exemption of indebtedness.

We want to urge upon republicans all over the county the importance of earnest steadfast work from now till the day of election. Members of the party in every precinct should organize an aggressive campaign for the purpose of securing as large a vote and as great a majority as possible. It is to the best interest of the county and state to have a republican government, and nothing will secure this except republican votes. With every republican in Clackamas county fully alive to the importance of the campaign there will be no stay at home voters, and the majority for the ticket will be greater than two years ago.

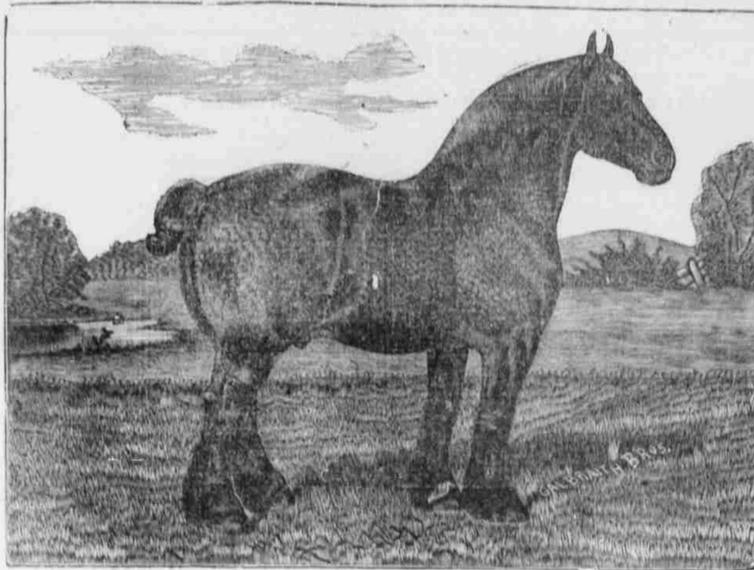

GOVERNOR PENNOYER's party declares emphatically in favor of free trade. Let us illustrate: Since the third of February the woolen mill has not been in operation and its 250 employees have to a great extent been thrown out of employment; the effect is noticeable—first, to the operatives themselves who are out of employment; second, to the merchants who have depended upon the trade of the families of these employees for their support; third, to laborers engaged in other occupations and who have heretofore found work in the employ of the factory operatives. This enforced idleness has produced a stringency in trade circles here in spite of the fact that the building mills have employed lots of hands. Carry the comparison one step further and the analogy is complete. Let us send abroad for such fabrics as are made and worn here, thus giving employment to foreigners and depleting our resources to pay them and we have the free trade theory applied to perfection. Oregon City is too much of a manufacturing city, and Clackamas county too much interested in the growth of her manufacturing industries for the city and county to support Pennoyer at the polls and at the same time vote for their own interests and best good.

The Oregon democrats take a peculiar delight in repudiating their party platform and holding it up to the public contempt. Governor Pennoyer set the evil example when he refused to enforce the eight hour rule in his saw mill. Chairman Goldsmith, of the democratic central committee follows it when it declares that "there is nothing of the free trade (in the platform) except in the charges of the republicans. This is an astounding statement, in view of the plain declaration of the platform in favor of tariff for revenue only. If this isn't free trade we don't know the thing when we see it. It is literally and exactly the revenue policy of Great Britain. Either Mr. Goldsmith has not read the democratic platform, he does not comprehend it, or he has determined to ignore it. All this goes to confirm the impression that has somehow gone abroad in the state that there is nothing in the democratic campaign this year but Pennoyerism. Governor Pennoyer isn't a free trader, and the resolution he wrote on the subject and which the democratic convention rejected, dodged the question very neatly—a good deal more neatly than Chairman Goldsmith dodges the pain reading of the free trade resolution the convention did adopt. Mr. Goldsmith's performance is clumsy.—Oregonian.

Charman & Son have just received a lot of elegant wall paper and patterns, while they are selling at greatly reduced prices. For neat styles of late designs call and see them.

For Particulars Call on or Address,

LAZELLE & McCORD, Oregon City.

The City Election.

The city election on Monday passed off quietly, there being practically no opposition to the ticket nominated at the republican primary on Saturday. Following is the vote:

For mayor, Thos. F. Ryan 184; A. J. Cason 22.

For councilmen, C. H. Casfield 207, Chas. Athey 188, C. J. Parker 169, W. H. Cooke 208, E. S. Warren 193, J. R. Trembath 164, J. W. O'Connell 159, E. E. Kelly 24, W. W. Myers 25, Fred Myers 22, W. W. Marks 43.

For assessor and collector, S. R. Green 210.

For treasurer F. H. Charman 186; C. D. Latourette 22.

For city attorney, A. S. Bremer 176; S. H. Mast 28.

For marshal, C. E. Barnes 194; John Kelly 19.

The democratic ticket headed by A. J. Cason is repudiated by the democracy, the leaders of which disclaim any part in preparing it as no caucus was held. Several of the party leaders claim that it was prepared by Dr. H. W. Ross and the editor of the Courier. The vote which it received indicated plainly that it was not satisfactory to the democracy.

It is due Mr. S. H. Mast to say that his name appeared thereon as a candidate for district attorney without his knowledge or sanction. He says that he would not be a candidate under any circumstances.

Electric Railways.

While we are considering the question locally of building an electric motor line, the following general statement in regard to electric railways, taken from the Oregonian, will be especially interesting:

The first commercial electric railway that was opened for traffic was that operated by Siemens and Halske at the Berlin exposition of 1873. To-day electric railways may be divided into three classes, viz:

1. The "overhead system," as it is called, in which the current is led from the generating machine at the station in the case through a wire placed above the road.

2. The "underground system," or that in which the supply conductors are placed below the ground.

3. The "storage battery system" in which the current is furnished by storage batteries carried on the car, which have been previously charged with the required current.

There are in operation in this country, and in course of construction at the present time, no less than 179 electric railways, operating over 1884 miles, with 1299 miles of track; and the number is rapidly increasing. In Boston 200 cars are now in operation, and that number will soon be increased to nearly 1,000. Among the cities which have already electric railways, besides Portland, Seattle and Tacoma, are Cleveland, O.; Harrisburg, Pa.; Kansas City, Mo.; Hartford, Conn.; New York City; Omaha, Neb.; Pittsburg, Pa.; Salt Lake City, Utah; San Jose, Cal.; Saratoga, Pa.; St. Louis, Mo.; Wilmington, Del., and a long list of others.

St. Louis is now equipping seven lines of street car railways and ninety-two miles of track with electric power, at an expense of $3,500,000, and by the close of the present year there will not be a horse railroad in operation in that city. All cars will be moved either by electric force or by cables, and the latter motors are rapidly giving way to electricity. The electric motor for street cars "has come to stay." It requires no device for the suppression of dirt, dust or smoke, in the streets—incidents inseparable from steam locomotion, and it is safe to say further that horse railways will be as obsolete in ten years as stage coaches are to-day.

DIED.

HARDSEY.—At her residence in this city, of consumption, May 6th, 1890, Cynthia A. Hardsey, aged 31 years and 8 months.

Deceased was born in Indiana in 1858, and moved to Unatilla county, Oregon, with her parents, when she was nine years of age. In 1874 she married T. I. Hardsey. They continued to reside in Eastern Oregon till five years ago when they moved to Neely. A year and a half ago they became residents of Oregon City. For a long time Mrs. Hardsey had been sick and it had been evident for some time that she could not recover. She leaves a husband and five children to mourn her departure, the oldest child being but thirteen, and the youngest not yet three. The funeral occurred from the house on Tuesday.

LAZELLE.—At the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Barclay of Oregon City, May 5, 1890, Mary J. Lazelle, aged 25 years, 10 months, and 22 days.

Deceased was born in Sugar Grove, Warren county, Penn., June 13, 1864. Was married Feb. 23d, 1881 to Marshall Lazelle, and removed the same year to Michigan where she made her home for nearly eight years. During the autumn of 1888 she, with her husband and family removed to Iowa, where two years later she was left a widow by the death of her husband Marshall Lazelle, a volunteer in the Union cause of the civil war. She continued residing in Iowa till September of 1874, when she removed to Oregon where she has since continued to reside. For the two past years she has been an invalid, suffering from Asthma, which finally brought on a stroke of paralysis from the effects of which she never recovered. She was the mother of three children: a son, George Lazelle, and a daughter, Ella Barclay, of this city; and a daughter, Edith Clouse, of Portland.

She died at 12 o'clock Sabbath night last and was laid to rest Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock.

MARRIED.

SHERMAN—DAVIS.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. J. Frank Sherman and Miss Ruth A. Davis all of Willont, Oregon, Rev. Isaiah M. Boyles officiating.

I will travel all over the state, not so much to make a canvass as to see the people and talk with them. I will make a personal canvass. I will make no speeches as I am not a speech-maker. My education was neglected in this respect, as I had something else to do when a boy, and I long since learned that speech-making has a very little to do with the affairs of state. I intend to start on my trip not later than May 1. I have not decided upon the details of my trip, but think I will go first to Eastern Oregon.—D. P. THOMPSON, in the Oregonian.
