

THE ENTERPRISE,
PUBLISHED
EVERY THURSDAY
OREGON CITY, OR.
THURSDAY, MAY 22, 1890.

Which of Dickens' works does W. W. Myers most resemble? Why, "Great Expectations," of course.

Had the railroad accident of last Thursday at the Clackamas bridge happened to a passenger train it would have been most serious in its results.

In stumping the state Governor Penoyer is neglecting the business of his sawmill. He has never allowed his office as governor of Oregon to interfere with his sawmill business—Statesman.

H. H. JOHNSON has been an efficient clerk because he has attended strictly to business. For this reason no one has sought to say against his re-election, and he will be retained in place by a good round majority.

If Oregon City alone elected the county surveyor, J. D. Matthews, the democratic candidate, would knock out his republican antagonist, Sidney Smyth—Courier, May 16th.

The above sounds well from the editor of the Courier, who does not himself intend to vote for Mr. Matthews.

The Albany Herald pointedly remarks: "It seems that the principal argument that Mr. Hermann's opponent can bring against our efficient member of congress is that he sticks to his place in the house and does not come home to make the canvass."

DR. SULLIVAN, the republican nominee for coroner, is a practical physician and a pleasant gentleman, two qualities which should commend him, the first to the corpse upon which he will sit, and the second to the friends for whose satisfaction he will act.

It is evident that a great deal of lying has been indulged in relative to the last assessment. Let those who are inclined to believe that Assessor Noble has erred take pains to investigate the charges, as we have in numerous cases, and they will find most of them either political unbecom or personal spite.

The editor was out of the office last Wednesday, and the type-setters neglected to credit to the Oregonian and Statesman two items which appeared on the editorial page. It happens to be all right, as they were both good enough to be our own. No apology need be sent by those journals to this office.

We have determined not to say anything good of Sheriff Samson this time, lest his majority should be too great to be counted. The Courier seems to have decided to say nothing bad about him for the same reason. Samson isn't to blame for this. It's only his way and he can't help it if the people persist in giving him their suffrages.

Not one word of fault has been found with S. B. Califf's administration of the treasurer's office. He is always at his post, does his business promptly and well, and does all that he can to serve the citizens of this county. Where is the republican who would wish to trade off a tried and proven good republican officer for an untried democrat?

REPUBLICAN voters who may be inclined to stay at home this year on election day under the impression that the ticket will be elected, should not be certain that the result will be all right. There is but one safe way, and that is to vote and work too for the success of the republican ticket. Get out, and do both, even if it requires a sacrifice.

JOHN MELDRUM's own brother could not persuade him to do wrong in opposition to his judgment, for beneath a plain exterior Honest John carries a large amount of good horse sense, a firm conviction of right and wrong, and the honest stamina to carry out his convictions. It is a safe bet that will be no favoritism or questionable transactions while he is county judge.

Two years ago the Courier was supporting P. S. Noyer for sheriff with all the zeal of a new convert. Not two months ago the Courier advertised him as a dead beat who had not paid his subscription to the Courier for a considerable time, and covering the very period when that paper was extolling his virtues to the skies. Two weeks ago that gentleman passed through town, and the Courier vane took another fluke, and it wrote him up as the "Honorable," etc., etc. Query: What persuader did Mr. Noyer use to draw forth the Courier's eul for a recheving.

W. T. WHITLOCK is able, efficient, painstaking, careful and accommodating. He is ever ready to assist any one in need of aid, and never charges a cent, though to render the aid frequently causes him considerable trouble and at times involves an actual expense. Besides this he is thoroughly familiar with the office in all its details, and can do the work as it should be done. This is the right sort of a man to elect.

THE republican nominees have most of them served one term acceptably to the citizens of this county irrespective of party, and their renomination is but a just recognition of their faithful and efficient service. They should now be re-elected not only as a mark of confidence, but because having become acquainted with the duties of the offices they are better able to carry on the work and keep the several records correctly.

A VALIANT wheel horse in the union party was not long since perched on a box discoursing upon that plank of their platform which says: "That the saloon system is both a cause and effect of poverty, and is the chief instrument by which monopolies corrupt our politics and perpetuate themselves, and that we stand committed to the abolition of the liquor traffic as a moral and economic evil and a barrier to all social and political reform."

Presently his zeal in the great reform cause led him to denounce them as "hell holes of iniquity into which not a decent man would go." A few moments later another union chair bottom laborer exclaimed, "Well, let's go and get a glass of beer," and off the twain marched to the "hell holes of iniquity." Reformers should preach and practice the same doctrine if they would inspire respect.

THE ENTERPRISE, a few weeks ago, published the election law regulating the supply of ballot paper, the same to be furnished by the secretary of state to county clerks, who in turn supply the respective chairmen of the organized political parties without cost to them. The would-be honorable W. W. Myers sees in this an attempt to bamboozle the voters, and defraud the voters. Now, see here, William,—you really ought not to kick as the paper costs you nothing; but if that is the trouble, and you want more at the same price, or if you have figured out such an immense vote for the union party that ten times as many tickets as were voted by your party two years ago will not hold the vote this year, why call on the state for a few sheets more, or call around and we will give you a sheet or two at the same price. It will be good for scratch paper after election. Don't be ill humored in small matters like this; it really isn't good for the digestion, you know. Besides it don't feel good.

THE question of the financial statement made two years ago is being raised by some interested parties who think they see a little cheap political capital in blustering about that matter. The truth is, those who attempt to use it most know least about it. The trouble is, to a great extent, a result of the defective system of book keeping that had been handed down from outgoing to incoming officials for a generation or more. By this system there existed at that time no provision by which the officials or any body else could determine with long research and careful investigation the amount of accrued interest outstanding against the county. Owing to the heavy indebtedness incurred by the county this item was much greater than was assumed by those making the estimate. This, together with the uncollectable delinquent tax which was that year much larger than usual, accounts for the principal part of the debt at that time. A careful analysis of the condition of affairs at that time will, in our opinion, show that there was in the spring of 1888 a period when the county's indebtedness was merely nominal, and that amount caused as above indicated; but between that period and the time of H. H. Johnson's financial exhibit of county affairs, the appropriations had been made for roads, bridges, court, and most other large expenses of the year, so that the statement showed an indebtedness greater in proportion than it otherwise should or than it would have shown for a longer period. Further than this, the bridge warrants which had not yet been issued, were accounted an indebtedness in that statement and helped to swell the total to undue proportions. But the vote had already been taken to build the fine free bridge now spanning the river here, and of which we are all so justly proud; hence the statement could neither affect the county finances nor the bridge. So let the procession move on, for, as far as we can judge, no crime has been committed.

OVER 25,000 acres more of land is listed on J. W. Noble's assessment of last year than has ever been secured by any previous assessor in this county. This at the lowest rate obtained means quite a gain to the tax-payers of this county.

MR. J. D. MATTHEWS, the democratic nominee for surveyor, is, so far as we know, a very fair sort of a fellow, and it was not our intention to criticize him adversely in this campaign, though he is notoriously unfit and unqualified to fill the important office of county surveyor. But the Courier, in supporting him, makes a covert thrust at his opponent and employer, Sidney Smyth, which was as uncalculated for as it is untruthful. The Courier would convey the impression that Mr. Smyth will run nearly 100 votes behind his ticket in this precinct. The truth is he will get democratic votes here because they know that Mr. Matthews is not qualified to fill the office. Less than fifteen months ago J. D. Matthews was laboring at anything which turned up, with no regular occupation, and no knowledge of surveying. To-day, without instruments, or knowledge enough to turn the intermediary angles of a compass, he aspires to be county surveyor; to locate and accurately describe roads; to locate boundaries; to fix disputed lines, and make county records which must stand for hundreds of years. The editor of the Courier may think a majority of the city are fools, but their heads will be so level on election day that they will vote for the thoroughly competent, experienced, and skilled engineer, Sidney Smyth, in preference to a man of a few months' experience as chain carrier, and who was put on the democratic ticket only because no one else could be found to accept the nomination.

A CAPABLE INSTRUCTOR: Following is a copy of a notice posted in Molalla, giving notice of a political meeting. The "honorable" J. E. Hammond, whoever he may be, should learn at least the rudimentary branches before setting himself up as an instructor to an intelligent community as we know Molalla to be. Not a parent in that precinct but would spank his ten years old boy if he could not spell better than the "honorable" reformer does in the following: May 10 1890 Notice to all Citizens The Honorable J. E. Hammond Will Speak to the people of Molalla and the Surrounding Country on Saturday May 17 My Speech will be on Tariff reform and revenue Only and also the Robbing Tariff and the depression of this Nation On Saturday May 17 at Molalla at Two O'clock

PENYOER ON PROHIBITION. Just before the vote on the prohibition amendment two years ago, Mr. Sylvester Penoyer said the following words publicly, as his sentiments: "I am opposed both to prohibition and high license. Prohibition is wrong in principle and to a certain extent in operative. High license is just as indefensible in principle as prohibition and creates a monopoly. * * * The power solution of this liquor question is to remove all taxes and license from the man who sells whiskey by the gallon or by the quart. Remove all tax and license and pure whiskey here in Oregon at the present low prices of grain, could be bought for two bits a gallon."

THE so-called leaders of the prohibition party in this county are now urging Mr. Penoyer's election for Governor. Why? Do they get pay for it? Penoyer is a very rotten demagogue, but this rottener.

MARRIED. GREEN-ADAMS.—At the residence of ex-Sheriff Knight at Canby, Mr. Joseph Green and Miss Winnie Adams, on the 15th inst., by Rev. J. C. Brad.

A goodly number of friends were present from this city. After the ceremony, the party repaired to the dining room, where a bountiful repast was awaiting them. To those who have once had the pleasure of seating themselves at Mrs. Knight's table, it is unnecessary to add that when rising from the table they all thought they had eaten of the bread of life, and should never hunger more. Mr. and Mrs. Green will begin housekeeping at once in this city. They are well known here and many friends wish them long and happy lives.

GASSER-WILSON.—At Oregon City, May 20, 1890, Frank Gasser and Melie Wilson, by T. W. Fouts, J. P. Both of Wilsonville, Oregon.

RALL-KENT.—At the office of T. W. Fouts, J. P., in this city, May 17, 1890, J. L. Hall and Lizzie Kent, both of Elliott Prairie, Clackamas county, Or.

A Woman's Discovery. Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this county. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle had been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz. Thus writes W. C. Hamrick & Co., of Shelby, N. C.—Get a free trial bottle at G. A. Hardings Drug Store.

INTERESTING LETTER.
About a Matter that Concerns Governor Penoyer.

WHAT THE LATE DEMOCRATIC OCCUPANTS OF THE LAND OFFICE AT THE DALLES HAD TO SAY ABOUT THE "STATE LAND RING."

The following letter is copied from the Oregonian of Tuesday: THE DALLES, Or., Nov. 26, 1889.—Hon. Commissioner of General Land Office, Washington, D. C.—SIR: We are just in receipt of your telegram of to-day, and in accordance with it, as a construction of your former telegram and letters upon the subject of indemnity school selections, we herewith transmit lists 5 to 9, inclusive, of selections made by the state of Oregon for losses the state claims to have sustained by reason of sections 16 and 36 falling within the Warm Springs Indian reservation. We are directed to accompany the same by our joint opinion. If, in complying with your direction in this matter, we shall be led into a fuller discussion of the question or questions involved than would at first glance appear to be necessary, we trust that you will bear in mind that we occupy a position that gives us a knowledge that cannot be obtained readily by your office. We feel that no apology is needed on our part for endeavoring to place all matters bearing on this question before you to the end that you fully understand just what an approval of the lists means. It has been urged upon this office that when it was decided that the state was entitled to indemnity nothing was left for this office but to accept the lists, and for the honorable commissioner under a rule of his office to approve them regardless of the size or location of tracts selected. This has been urged by the clerk of the board of school land commissioners for the state and by the attorney for the board. With telegrams and letters which reminded us of bees about the lunghole of a cider barrel; and so persistent has it all been that it became necessary in our judgment to inform the state that we would have to give a portion of our time to the transaction of other business of the office. An explanation of the conduct of the accredited agents of the state is found in the fact that THROUGH ANOTHER MEMBER OF THE GAND THESE LANDS ARE ALREADY SOLD AT $3.50 PER ACRE, WHILE BY LEGISLATIVE ENACTMENT THE PRICE WHICH THE STATE RECEIVES IS $1.25 PER ACRE. It is a fact easily substantiated by an affidavit that while the state board assures applicants for this land that all that the state is entitled to has been selected (but not listed), the business man of the "outfit" offers a citizen of this district any amount of land, either in forty acre tracts or whole sections, either on even sections in railroad limits, or on any lands outside. It has been urged by these disinterested persons (God save the mark!) that as a citizen of Oregon the register of this office should assist the state in this matter! That if the office would pass the lists favorably no further trouble would be experienced, and, inferentially we suppose, the laborer, worthy of his hire, would get his pay. We do not claim that the existence of this state of facts has a bearing on the question of contiguity, which we take it, is the main question involved, and which your office must pass upon; but it certainly has a bearing, and should be properly considered in connection with the arguments of the ring's Washington attorneys. We are every-day business men, in no way interested, immediately or remotely, in the outcome of this matter, further than to assist yourself in the premises, and thus discharge our duty as officers of your department, and as citizens of this state. We have had the "sand" to do in this matter what appeared to be our duty, as we were capable of understanding it, regardless of pressure brought to bear upon us. Now as to the gist of the matter as we suppose it will appear before you. The state is entitled under Governor Stone's decision to indemnity. Can she select it regardless of contiguity, regardless of the size of tracts? If the selections must be made "as near as may be" to the lands lost, then no; but if there is a rule of practice of your office construing the statute to mean ANYWHERE in the district, is it a rule that should continue in force? If such is the rule it certainly was not established in such a case as is now presented. Ordinarily school indemnity comes from losses sustained here and there in small amounts, throughout the district, and in that case such a construction of the statute is doubtless proper. You are now confronted by no such state of facts. The loss the state has sustained in the Warm Springs reservation amounts, approximately to 30,000 acres, if, as the state urges, an unsurveyed loss is as good as one that is surveyed. As to the immense amount, possibly a quarter of a million acres, of land passed over by the state, before selecting the bargained-away-in-advance lands, and also as to the relative amounts of VACANT and ENTERED lands you can consult the maps of your office, which show just how the whole case stands. For a section on the mountains of the Warm Springs reserve they are willing to take SIXTEEN forty acre tracts laid upon the springs and watering-places of a purely pastoral country. We transmit two affidavits made by citizens of this state and entry-men under the United States land laws, and we can find any reasonable number of men throughout the district who will corroborate the statements made by affidavits. We feel that the disposal of the government lands to actual settlers and the development of this portion of the state, will be retarded if in the matter of selections both contiguity and the size of tracts selected are disregarded. It is probably not necessary for us to add that in our joint and several opinions the selections as made are against the interest of the general government and of this state and are against sound public policy. We are conscious that we have "argued the question" and can only plead our knowledge of the "true inwardness" of the matter as justification. Respectfully,

F. A. McDONALD, Register.
T. W. SLUSHER, Receiver.

I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of a letter of the register and receiver in this office, bearing date November 26, 1889, as it appears of record in this office, addressed to the commissioner of the general land office at Washington, D. C.

S. W. LEWIS, Register.

An Iowa Teacher. The Ottumwa Iowa Democrat says: Misses Katie and Madge Keim, two of Ottumwa's esteemed young ladies, left on the C. & Q. at 3 o'clock Tuesday morning for Oregon City, Oregon, in which state they expect to reside in the future. Miss Katie has secured a position in the public school, of Viola, a town about 12 miles from Oregon City, and will enter upon her duties immediately upon her arrival. Miss Keim is one of Wapello county's brightest young ladies, and possesses those qualifications which must necessarily bring success as a teacher. She is a close student and a tireless worker, and we have no doubt she will be eminently successful in her western home. She was at the time of her departure secretary of the Wapello county teachers' association, and had been teaching in the Eden school during the past two years, where she had given universal satisfaction, and which position she resigned to accept the one offered her in Oregon.

Will Get Left. The canvass now in progress reminds us strikingly of a campaign in Kansas a few years ago. Being like Oregon a republican state, the democrats succeeded in electing George Glick for governor by about eight thousand majority. It made them feel good. They swaggered and blowed and carried on at a terrible rate for four long years, and at the end of that time, full of confidence in their ability to carry the day, they renominated him for a second term. He was a great old demagogue, and the democrats and blatherheads worshiped him just as they do Penoyer in Oregon. The republicans nominated John Martin, a quiet and business-like gentleman, who couldn't have made a political speech at the time had he tried, but he knew considerable about business. The first week of two in the campaign that followed the democrats kicked up such a dust that the republican nominee was pretty near lost sight of, but the cloud began to fade, and it faded so rapidly that when the polls closed on election night their enthusiasm was weighed down by a snowbank of thirty thousand majority. Thompson's majority may not be quite that, but the indications now are that he is going to keep right up with his ticket. Penoyer stock is falling already.—Yamhill Reporter.

WHAT IS SCROFULA

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly bumps or swellings; which causes painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which damages alters in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or the many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors," which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can IT BE CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. Some of these cures are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. My daughter Mary was afflicted with scrofulous sore neck from the time she was 22 months old till she became six years of age. Lumps formed in her neck, and one of them after growing to the size of a pigeon's egg, became a running sore for over three years. We gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla, when the lump and all indications of scrofula entirely disappeared, and now she seems to be a healthy child. J. S. CARLIER, Naughton, N. J. N. B. Be sure to get only Hood's Sarsaparilla.
