

THE ENTERPRISE.

PUBLISHED BY CHAS. HARRISON, Proprietor.

OREGON CITY, JANUARY 2, 1891.

HARRISON'S PROCLAMATION.

On the 24th of this month President Harrison issued the following proclamation: Whereas, satisfactory proof has been presented to me that provisions have been made for adequate grounds and buildings for the World's Columbian Exposition...

These are probably few people living outside of Chicago who realize with what excitement this proclamation was received by its citizens. It marks an epoch in the exposition. No digging or building could be attempted until it was beyond doubt that Chicago was to hold a world's fair.

A MALICIOUS FAIRSHOOR.

An anonymous writer in the Chicago Herald, signing himself "Pacific Coast," and whose spurious quotations are republished by a correspondent in the Oregonian, makes the following rank misrepresentations of the manner in which business is transacted in the government land offices at Oregon City and Vancouver, Washington.

The officials sitting at a court of justice at Vancouver, Washington, and Oregon City in this state have decided that the public have no right to see the maps, plats, etc., that such projects can only be granted upon the payment of a fee of 20 cents for each section map looked at.

EFFECTS OF THE NEW TARIFF LAW.

The primary effect of the new tariff law, contrary to the expectations and previous teachings of partial and inconsistent free traders, are already discernible.

The contempt with which the Union Pacific Company treat the just demands of their discharged employees, in the matter of immediate settlement for work done on the State, Oregonian, has been extended to other laborers.

Another industry has in the "new impetus" given by the tariff to flax raising and manufacturing. We have always been an away off flaxer. Now Minnesota capital and Glasgow skill are building large flax factories in Minnesota.

In reference to what the Enterprise had to say in a recent number in regard to the building of a railroad, or a macadamized road through Clackamas county to bring the great farming districts of the east and south parts of the country tributary to Oregon City.

As an effort is being made to have congress increase the pension of Mrs. Elizabeth Custer, wife of General Custer, from $50 to $100 per month.

Irrigation. A move is being made in some of the Eastern Oregon regions whereby a petition is being presented to the next legislature to divide that region into convenient districts and that these be bonded for the purpose of raising money to construct irrigation ditches and that a fixed rate of toll be charged those using water.

Correspondence.

Reach Brook. On the 14th instant, Bert, the little son of Charles Hubbard went to sleep in his chair while sitting before the fire, and fell back into the hot embers, burning the little limbs quite seriously about his hands and face.

Thomas Currier, of Mount Home is quite low with pneumonia. Last week his family went to his mother, Mrs. C. B. Ramsby. But we understand that he is slowly convalescing.

J. H. Wright's helping our worthy lady out of the mire to break about twelve acres of new land.

S. A. D. Parker, who several years ago was in partnership with L. J. Clark at Clark's post office, and who has since resided at Parkersville near Geneva, was our business last week.

Will the correspondents of the Enterprise tell us in their next communication where the districts they represent are located? We will make the first look.

Meadow Brook is on Milk Creek, about one mile from the Molalla river, fifteen miles south-east from Oregon City. But now, when we have to drive along about 900 miles, we would be safe in saying twenty-five miles from the county seat.

Plattburg. Holidays, and not much doing except in the social line.

The dance at Ford's, Christmas evening, was greatly enjoyed by those participating, as was also the dance at Knapp's which was quite well attended.

A Christmas dinner was given to a few friends at Lewis Platt's.

The Christmas tree at Conrad Seider's was a great delight to the little folks.

A number of the Plattburg folks attended the Christmas dance at Canby, where others preferred a boat ride by moonlight.

We missed the train and were not at the Canby school exhibition, but it is reported as having been first class. Prof. Gray understands conducting an entertainment.

A school was delivered Christmas at the Baptist church, after which presents were distributed to the little folks.

A Christmas tree was neatly arrayed at the German Reformed church, and a fine musical and literary program was given by the children.

Joe Platt and son, of Oswego, made the burg a visit Christmas. Willie made the burg a visit Christmas.

Miss Alice is reported as being at home from the Corvallis school during the holidays.

Beaver Creek. It seems strange to have Christmas come during such fine summer weather.

School district No. 60 has a new flag purchased by the school children.

Chaplain C. G. HATMAN, U. S. A.

President Harrison Appoints the Pastor of the Baptist Church of Oregon City Chaplain in the United States Army.

A SKETCH OF CHAPLAIN HATMAN'S LIFE. The associated Press dispatches of December 18th, 1890, contained this announcement:

Washington, Dec. 17. The President has appointed C. G. Hatman, of Oregon, post chaplain in the army.

A like dispatch from Washington, Dec. 23, notified him of his confirmation by the senate on that day.

A representative of THE ENTERPRISE waited upon the reverend gentleman and obtained the following facts concerning his life:

Charles G. Hatman was born in Louisiana county, Missouri, May 10th, 1837, and is therefore in the thirty-fourth year of his age.

The blood of soldiers courses in his veins, his father being a soldier in the great-grandfather's regiment of the 1st Iowa Infantry during the war of 1861-62.

His education was completed at the University of Missouri, where he spent a year in post graduate studies. He was ordained and placed in charge of a congregation.

After his teaching, however, shortly after he was ordained, and was licensed for the ministry before he had attained his majority. Through a large, unrequited love affair, he was driven to the sea.

Charles Hatman came to this coast when a boy with his parents, who will reside in San Francisco, in 1871. He was graduated from California College in 1875, and spent the next year at the University of California, where he spent a year in post graduate studies.

He has been teaching, however, shortly after he was ordained, and was licensed for the ministry before he had attained his majority. Through a large, unrequited love affair, he was driven to the sea.
