FRIDAY, JANUARY 2, 1920
TOWN and VICINITY

Write it first.
Yesterday was "sugar day."

The condition of our streets is suggestive of the necessity of extensive improvements. Main street should be paved.

The road of the railway station at Canby is missing. The parties who were on a "beat" in that neighborhood this week had better return it.

There was a quarrel in the home of Peter Francisco, living across the river on Christmas day. The young Miss is doing well and her happy parents feel proud of her.

Everyone speaks highly of the dancing party given on Christmas eve by Mrs. Kruse. There were about thirty-four couples, and the attendance was not far from that.

Geo. H. Dunn, now occupying the position as teacher of the Plattsburg school has been granted a leave of absence. Mr. Dunn is one of Clackamas county's most popular teachers, and he will be missed by his pupils.

J. E. Williams with his family from near Vale, has moved to town for the winter. He comes to give his younger children the benefit of our excellent schools, and the other one opportunity to work in the fields.

The river captains are not backward about a new regulation in the fishing circles of using nets, asking the government to place limits along the river where they will do the most good between Portland and Salem.

While going home last Tuesday night Andrew Oliver, living near the park, was hit by two vehicles, and succeeded to relieve him of his valuables, which consisted chiefly of about $50 in change. They succeeded in escaping.

The East Portland cannot have constructed with Mr. E. C. Coe, for electric lights for six months, at $123 per month. Twenty-five gas lights now under contract, will be retained and Mr. Coe advanced $5 cents on the old price.

Mr. John Tveak, has under construction, a comfortable dwelling house, 10 by 24 feet, one and a half stories high upon the lots he lately bought of Mr. S. G. Schumacher near the corner of J. Q. Adams and Sixteenth streets.

The Extension acknowledges a call on Wednesday from E. E. Coe, the enterprising manager of the Clackamas store. He says the mill has shut down for want of logs, 2,000,000 feet of which are waiting in the river for high water. As soon as the water rises the mill will again commence operation.

Nothing startling previous reports to the contrary, we find upon inquiry among our physicians that there is something less than a half dozen cases of diptheria in the city. All the cases are convincing however, and there is not the least fear of its spreading untreated.

Fish Commissioner Thompson says that all the salmon eggs placed in the Clackamas hatchery will be hatched in two or three weeks if the present weather continues. Should it rain could the hatchery will have to be closed by states till the spring try are old enough to turn out.

Professor E. Adams and wife of Forest Grove, and Professor E. E. Coe, of Astoria, have just been honored by the state board of education with diplomas. As the state board could render no higher honors, they have chosen this opportunity to acknowledge the ability of the services rendered by those teachers.

A. R. Doolittle returned last week from a brief visit to Panama, Cal. and upon his arrival dropped into the Enterprise with some specimens of oranges he secured while away. One of the oranges measured 1 1/2 inches in circumference. Evidently California is trying to keep abreast with Oregon in the fruit industry.

Work upon the building of the Forest Grove cannery will begin at once. Mr. Arthur Benson, lately the city superintendent of the Oregon City cannery has been secured for the next year. This means business. The cannery will be ready to receive the first fruit and vegetables next year and will give employment to quite a number—Forest Grove Democrat.

Several weeks ago, says a Eugene paper, a gentleman was canvassing this city for a ladies' journal, reported to be published in the East. He collected the subscription price and receipt for the same, but the journal has failed to make its appearance. This is an old game, and the people should learn to make their purchases of local dealers, who are known to be honest.

The number of soldiers in town of late, has caused the authorities to increase the police force. Mr. D. E. Sheppard is now doing night duty in conjunction with the other police. He is in the position permanently, as he makes a faithful officer, while the need of the addition to the force, is apparently urgent.

Deputy J. W. Morris, while it stated that he had secured a marriage license. He says he has not been fortunate enough up to date to have any one for one in the future expects to keep abreast with the rising rates. He doesn't take any stock in the old yarn about "the early bird" etc.

Deputy Sheriff W. D. Brown, of San Jose, Cal., arrived the latter part of last week and took back with him, J. W. Haskins, alias Rodney, spoken of in last week's issue, as being wanted in San Jose, for the crime of rape. He admitted his guilt, and the reward of $100 was left paid to Marshal Burns and Deputy Morris, at this place, for his capture.

A special meeting of the board of trade was held Wednesday evening for the purpose of discussing the feasibility of forming a stock company and raising means to build a cannery and packing mill in the Oregon City, who has had fifteen years' experience in the canning business, has been in the city looking over the grounds, and the enterprise materializes—Corvallis Gazette.

About the most complete supply of butter, eggs and country produce in town at present is at Frytag's grocery store and it is indeed complete. Every article in that line now comes by train, and together with the variety of groceries makes his establishment a very desirable one to deal with.

Henry Hiles was arrested last week for his failure to respond, which subpoenaed him to appear before the bar of the court. He was brought to town, but after he had been beyond a doubt that it was no fault of his own that he did not appear, he was discharged.

The Oregon City Sash & Door factory are having a steam fitter, put in for the purpose of steaming saws, and it is as it comes from the several saws, in the furnace, the steam is being done by C. C. Robbins and will be a great improvement in the factory.

CHRISTMAS GATHERINGS

How the Day Was Observed in Oregon City and Surroundings

At about the hour of 8 o'clock, Christmas night, a score of the intimate friends and relatives of Mr. Miller's family gathered at their residence for the purpose of participating in Christmas festivities and witness the distribution of presents. A fine musical entertainment was the first on the evening's program.

After an hour had been spent in the exchange of gifts, the party retired to an adjoining room where a tree, laden with a good supply of gifts, waited for the guests. The tree was decorated with very costly and valuable ornaments, and the most notable of these was an elegant 44-inch tree, presented by Mrs. Miller's father.
