SALEM, WEDNESDAY JUNE 21, 1871.

SATURDAY.

The Watkinds Case.

Yesterday morning W. H. Watkinds, when brought before J. J. Murphy, Esq., waived examination, and was bound over to appear at the next term of Circuit Court, bail being fixed at the trifling sum of five hundred dollars. The proceedings before the Justice being merely upon the report of the officer who arrested Watkinds, and the small amount of bail fixed was very unsatisfactory to the community. In the afternoon proceedings were commenced in the County Court before his Honor, Judge C. N. Terry, and warrants issued upon two separate charges. First, "an assault with a deadly weapon with an intent to kill." Second, "an attempt to use a cowhide, having a pistol on his person for the purpose of intimidation." The warrants were placed in the hands of Sheriff J. N. Matheny; who made the arrest and brought him before Judge Terry, who admitted him to bail in the sum of $1,000 to appear this morning at the Court House at 9½ o'clock. We learn that Hon. Rufus Mallory, Hon. Ben. Hayden and Messrs. Knight & Lord are assisting the prosecution; while, for the defense, all the other lawyers in the city seem to be engaged and we are also informed that eminent counsel from abroad has been sent for.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

JOHN BAKER'S BRICK-YARD, NEAR SALEM, June 19th, 1871.

MR. EDITOR: Here I am again back at my old trade. I knowd that John Baker was crowded with bisness jus now, and wanting to turn my late education in the State school to some account, I made a bargain to work for John. I brot all my clothes over last night—for I've got several new suit on hand already—and find that John makes a fust rate boss. By a privat arrangement with me he has put up a red corn-cob, with a lightning bug on the end of it, on each corner of his yard, and he says that is enough to keep Watkinds away, so I'm perfectly safe.

SHULTZ COMES TO SALEM.

This morning hearing as how there was to be a trial in town, I changed my rig a little, put on a serious look and went to Salem to see what sort of a defense Watkinds could make for such poor shooting as he did the other day. I wasn't a bit surprised when he owned up and give bail, but to save my gizzard I don't see how eny man could get elected to an office who would let such poor shooting off at such a low figure. I consider that a man that can't shoot any better than that, and will insist on shooting in public, oug'nt to be let run out at any price.

SHULTZ MAKES A DISCOVERY.

Having the lightning bugs in mind and not being afeard, I had my hair curled and face polished at a barbers so as to make my disguise complete, and stepped in to make Bill a fashionable call, introducing myself as a warm admirer of his'n from Soap creek, telling him—an allfired lie—that he was the only man in Oregon that I allowed to be a better Democrat than the undersigned. He bit at that thar bait tremenjus, became confidential like and told me all about his fight with Sam Clarke, how he laid in wait for him all the afternoon, jumped on him from behind and give him h—ll, until the ornery black Republican cuss stuck his knife into him; and then he pulled out his watch, and that red hot visage of his turned a sort of murky white as he explained that the cuttin of his watch was all that saved his wind, and he thought for mor'n two hours that he was a gone coon, till he accidentally found that it was his watch that was split and not him.

A FEW PARTICULARS.

I asked him how his revolver come to shoot so wild, and he said he didn't know why it was, unless his nerves were unsettled by being drove into the street by that pocket knife. He always did have a powerful horror of cold steel, even in small quantities. I axed him how he come to put up the job, and he explained that he was in cahoots with a chap, whose name I disremember, what keeps a pawnbroker's shop, with big plate glass windows, who had a spite agin you, but couldn't make up his mind to attend to the business himself, being too much of a gentleman like, and no hankering after the job. So Bill said he undertook such small jobs for him. While we was a talking the pawnbroker chap came in and Bill says to him, "If it hadn't been for you I wouldn't have into h—l of a fuss," and he remarked afterward, melancholy like, "I was a d—d fool to allow any man to influence me to do such a thing." The pawnbroker man didn't say nary word.

CLOSING REMARKS.

Now, you noospaper fellars think you know it all, but you see a man who has been in the noospapers as much as I have can go into your little town and pick up items you never heard of. SHULTZ.

City and County Items.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—On Thursday night the 15th inst., four children of Mr. Wm. Lemason, with their uncle, undertook to cross a slough from an island to the main land, four miles below Wheatland, when the boat filled with water and capsized. The uncle whose name we did not learn, succeeded in saving one of the children, the other three, a boy aged about 10 years and two girls aged respectively 5 and 8 years, were drowned. Dr. H. V. V. Johnson of McMinville, states that they were on their way at the time to visit their grandfather, Mr. Enoch Cooper, who lives near the scene of the disaster. The body of one of the children was found yesterday, and the friends and neighbors of the bereaved family were in search of the other two when the boat left Wheatland.

JUNE SEVENTEENTH.—This day ever memorable in the annals of American history, as the anniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill, where our fathers of the "heroic age" met the flower of the British army, for the first time in the great war, and fought for our National Independence. Nearly a century has passed away, yet the grass grows green over the graves of the chivalric Warren and his brave com-patriots, who on that day sealed with their heart's blood their devotion to the sacred cause of liberty, and to obtain those blessings which we, their descendants now enjoy. Paris, June 14.—A Republican manifesto appeared to-day signed by 81 Deputies of the Left. It accuses the Monarchist Deputies of not keeping the agreement made in Bordeaux, stipulating that partisan politics should be avoided, and charges the legitimist members from the Provinces with intriguing for the restoration of the Monarchy and intervention in favor of the Pope.

Paris, June 14.—In the Assembly to-day Trochu continued his defense of the administration of military affairs in Paris. He gave a minute account of the sorties during the siege, and the reasons therefor; attributed their defeat to the fact that the Germans used artillery only. He believed the French would have beaten the German infantry, if they could have engaged them. His main plan had been a grand sortie toward Rouen, but after the victory of Orleans, public opinion demanded a junction of the garrison of Paris with the Aarmy of the Loire, which was sheer madness. One of the great obstacles in the conduct of the defense was the disorderly element of Paris, which was instigated by Bismarck to rebel, and was furnished arms by the enemy. He stigmatized the commencement of the bombardment by the Germans without formal notice as an unparalleled violation of the rules of civilized warfare.

Versailles, June 15.—Republican Left's manifesto is generally approved. The Radical manifesto creates a bad impression because it excuses the Commune. Journals ridicule it.

Later accounts announce that two women, named Mary Melgrath and Mrs. Lilburu, left St. Johns as passengers aboard the ill-fated schooner. All but one of those who are missing or drowned leave wives and families behind, who were dependent on them for means to live through the long and profitless winters of New Foundland. The name of the schooner was Little Belle.

A dispatch from Ottawa says recent advices from New Foundland give the particulars of the reception of the Treaty of Washington in one of the Provinces most interested in the question of the fisheries. The people of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick expected that New Foundland would be wholly with them in opposition to the Treaty, but on the contrary the sentiment of that Colony, and of the fishermen, appears to be entirely in favor of ratification.

General News.

Idaho Territory.

From the Boise City Democrat of June 10th we glean this:

Many farmers down the valley, who have heretofore depended on the rise in the river to irrigate their farms, have been disappointed thus far this season. A few more warm days will bring the river up sufficiently for that purpose.

On the ranch of James Stout, about a mile above town, three hundred and fifty-six gophers were trapped this season, without any apparent diminution in their numbers. Other farmers go for gophers at the same lick.

The price of real estate is advancing a little in Boise City. Two years hence property will be more than doubled in value, which state of things will be brought about by the railroad. Idaho will prove no exception to the rule, in the case of a railroad passing down some of her valleys, and better times will surely follow such an event.

The company from the Camp Three Forks, who are to be stationed at Fort Boise, arrived at their quarters here yesterday evening. They are under command of Lieut. Hammond, who takes command of this post. The destination of the present officers at Fort Boise is not yet known.

Portland.

From the Portland dailies of the 16th, we cull as follows:

The Bulletin states that arrangements are being made in East Portland for a real good, old fashioned fourth of July celebration.

Thirty-five new cars are in process of construction at the shops of the Oregon & California Railroad Company, near East Portland.

The river at Portland day before yesterday, was within four feet and four inches of the high water mark of 1862.

The Oregonian says a colony is being formed to establish a settlement near Shoalwater Bay.

Freighting up the river is for the present suspended, on account of the high water at the Dalles.

The Herald states that large quantities of salmon are being shipped direct from Westport and Portland.

SUNDAY.

Purpose.

Sunday morning reader, will you please look at the above word? And will you just repeat it, three times, with a long breath between, so its full idea may settle down deep into your understanding, before you read this Sunday morning before breakfast kitchen sermon? Well, now, you have thought it over and "studied on it," let me ask: Do you understand its practical meaning? Look out of the back door and see that little bird, flying away with a bit of stick or wood in its beak. As an intelligent, thinking man, standing in dominion at the head of creation, I ask again: What are your thoughts? Why, evidently, if our own inner man is awake enough to stand up to the windows of the mind and think at all, we conclude that the little songster has a purpose—even in that little act; and that ultimate purpose is, that she may raise her young, the necessary means of which is, that she must build her nest. And this rule prevails through sentient nature everywhere,—except, perhaps, with man. As you have entered upon the task of using up the lovely sunshine and privileges of this hallowed day, what is your purpose? Is it only to absorb, and give nothing back in return? If so, you should have been a stone, or a sponge. Animate, or vegetable nature even, knows no such law and fills no such destiny. Again I ask, what is you purpose for this day—for life—forever—for thus far can, and should it reach. The tools, or means to bring about that purpose can only be used to-day—not to-morrow. Remember this: Every responsible or accountable act you perform is the result of a purpose, or intent to do that act. If you take that which belongs to another, no one will call you a thief, because you did not intend to a steal. If you accidentally kill your neighbor, no one will adjudge you gulty of murder, because you did not purpose or intend to kill.

So, if you wish to climb to a commanding eminence of worth or usefulness, you must purpose so to do; for the currents of life don't drift men up hill. They are all the other way, and the great difficulty with too many is, like drift-wood upon the great sea of life, they are drifting, ever drifting, without a fixed and steady purpose, in all they do. Young man, stop and take your bearing this morning; see where you are, and what is your purpose for manhood and the future! Is it to make a record of infamy and a character for hell? Then go to some religious meeting to-day, cut up harness and saddles, and make yourself odious by playing the low-lived border ruffian and greaser generally, or hang around some whisky-shop, instead. But thank God there are but few such in Oregon. To the praise of the young men of my acquaintance be it said. Their aim is high, their purpose noble. May it be excelsior, excelsior, till from the high battlements of Heaven to which they have climbed, they may sweep through the great ocean of God's infinite wisdom and glory with telescopic vision, and rejoice that, today they purposed in their heart to walk in that upward direction.

CHAPTER OF ITEMS.

The bridge across Abequa near its mouth is being built, and the travel will soon be resumed on that line.

The County Court acted on the petition for a road from Silverton to Brooks' Station, on the O. & C. R. R., at the late term, and viewers and surveyors were appointed to review and survey the route, and report at next term of court. It is an important road. It will cross Big Pudding River at high banks on both sides, and a narrow place for the bottom, and the travel on that route could not be affected by high water.

The camp meeting for Silverton Circuit will come off at the Newton camp ground next week, beginning on the 22nd inst. The roads leading to that point are in fine and smooth condition, and the grounds will be prepared on the 20th inst. Those wishing to visit the meeting who will go from Salem will find a pleasant trip and agreeable scenery on the route.

Fall wheat is very fine in this country. Especially meadows, and early-sown spring wheat, and oats are excellent. Early gardens are poor, but there will be enough of such vegetables raised for home demand.

There will be a fine supply of apples, pears and some of the soft fruits. Pastures are very fine, and stock in fine condition. Large numbers of stock cattle and sheep are bought up in this county, and now passing over the Cascades, to the almost boundless grazing plains in Eastern Oregon. Samuel and Virgil Newton started last week with a drove of 150 head of stock cattle from Mill Creek, bound for Crooked River.

The high prices paid for grain and wool, and those paid for cattle and sheep, with the prospect of a fine incoming crop, cheer up our farmers and render times lively in the country.

The cause of temperance is looking up in Oregon. Politicians are already beginning to discuss prospects and measures, and squaring around for good planks for platforms. The escapes from the Penitentiary, and the strange doings thereabouts cause the pople to wonder. If the keeper there can shoot no better at convicts than at Sam. Clarke, then his boys in chains may look up with pretty good hopes of escape.

The dry season and the delightful weather are upon us, and all nature smiles. The earth is coated with a carpet of green, and the view from this city towards the Coast range and the Cascade range is enchanting. Emigrants are coming in and they are generally of the right sort. Lands are so low in this country in proportion to their real and prospective value that strangers can, with moderate sums, become well situated. Taking a general view of all our surroundings, it is not hard to discern that our county, and in fact all Oregon, are on the high road to wealth and general prosperity.

SALEM MADE WAGONS.—We feel a great deal of pride in the fact that Salem made wagons are become established in reputation and eagerly sought for by buyers. The Bowie wagons are sold as fast as made and engaged in advance as far as the makers dare promise them. The encouragement is so great that we expect to see extensive machinery added soon to increase and cheapen the manufacture.

The wagon being made by J. H. Bridges & Co., with Duval's patent iron wheel, is finally completed, and commands great admiration. Several are engaged in addition to those sold in advance. Mr. Bridges informs us that he has been recommended to put up a light spring wagon to send to the Mechanics' Fair at San Francisco, to show the nature of the invention. By so doing we believe he will create a great deal of interest in what seems to be a new discovery in mechanics, and we believe a very valuable one.

The admission is fifty cents, and those who choose can buy an apron. Aprons of all sizes, shapes and qualities will be for sale; aprons for the kitchen and parlor, aprons for the dining room and the laundry, aprons for little folks and big folks; calico, cotton, linnen and silk aprons; Red Man, Odd Fellows and Masonic aprons: aprons plain and aprons with filigree work; paper, buckskin and leather aprons. Aprons, we suppose will be for sale, to threshers, reapers and fanning mills. In fact, everything in the shape of an apron, from a dimity pinafore to the leather apron of a stalwart blacksmith.

MORE GOOD CHEESE.—We have received from Cox & Earhart a generous slice of the first cheese brought into Market by Henry Ankeny, whose extensive preparations for cheese manufacture we referred to the other day. It is of very superior quality, and indicates that Mr. Ankeny intends and is able to make the best article possible as well as to manufacture extensively. He has the energy to do business as well as the business tact and necessary means. We view with satisfaction every new act of production that tends towards making Oregon self-sustaining, and points towards a future when our products shall abound for export to better markets.

BAPTIST CHURCH.—At the annual meeting of the Baptist Church Society held last Thursday evening, the 15th instant, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year. Trustees, Deacon J. C. Berry, J. E. Strong and W. S. Moores. Church Clerk and Chorister, J. E. Strong; Treasurer, W. S. Moores. The election for Superintendent of Sabbath School takes place to-day during the session of the School.

HAULING.—Commissioner F. G. Schwatka, has four teams at work hauling bat brick from the Penitentiary, which are to be used for the foundation of the new bridge to be built across the railroad gravel pit on the sleepy hollow road. The work on the bridge proper will be commenced the first of the coming week.

INDEBTED.—We are under obligations to Mr. E. W. Ryan, of Portland, for the reports as published of the Good Templars Grand Lodge proceedings, and also of the State Temperance Convention.

ADJOURNED.—The Grand Lodge Convention adjourned Friday evening, the 16th instant, to meet the 2d Tuesday in June, 1872, in this city. The State Temperance Convention adjourned to meet at the same place February 22, 1872.

SUNDAY LETTER.—The attention of our readers are called to the admirable Sunday morning letter, written by Elder S. C. Adams, to be found in another column, entitled "Purpose."

STERRETT'S OPERA TROUPE.—This Company will open on Wednesday evening at the Opera House, and give an entertainment every evening during the week. For full particulars see our next issue.

DIED.—Last Thursday Mrs. Antoinette Allbright in child-bed. She leaves an affectionate husband and little babe to mourn her loss.

W. H. WATKINDS' CASE.—Mr. Watkinds was brought before Judge C. N. Terry yesterday upon two separate charges. He waived examination and was held to bail in the sum of $5,000 to appear at the Circuit Court for trial.

AT THE RIVER.—The blooming Fannie Patton came down on time with a good trip, and after taking on a lot of wool for the Oregon City mills, left for the Falls city. She will be up to-morrow at 3 P. M.

NEW WOOD YARD.—C. W. Pettyjohn has established a new wood yard below Salem Mills, and has on hand ash, maple, fir, alder and pitch wood. See his advertisement.

NEW NORTHWEST.—We don't care anything about it—of course not—but we simply (for information) ask Mrs. D. if it was an exemplification of "Womans Rights" that the Northwest did appropriate several of our articles last week without giving due credit; yes or no?

The steamer Albany passed up day before yesterday with a big trip of freight for Eugene. So large that she refused up river freight both at Wheatland and at this place.

The warehouse at the foot of Center street was sold yesterday to A Croft for $305.

The Register, of Albany, asks what has become of the Summerfield vial.

Same paper states that the fruit crop owing to the ravages of the caterpillars, will be greatly reduced throughout the State.

From the Oregon City Enterprise of June 16th, we copy this:

The diamond drills were put in operation yesterday.

Last Sunday, the Indians who hang around town got into a gambling quarrel, which resulted in the killing of one of their number, by Molalla Henry. The murderer has not been arrested.

A man, whose name we could not learn, while drunk, fell off the steps leading up the bluff at the upper end of town, and got pretty severely cut up. He will probably keep away from there hereafter when drunk.

Archbishop F. N. Blanchet paid our city a visit last Saturday, for the first time since his return from Rome. On Sunday he administered the Sacrament of Confirmation to a class of ten persons at the Church of the Sacred Heart, the ceremonies being witnessed by a large congregation, and were very interesting. The choir of the Catholic Church of Portland was present and rendered good service by their excellent singing. Two of the parties confirmed were converts to the Catholic faith.

The subjoined items are from the Advocate:

Camp meeting will commence at the Clear Creek camp ground on Thursday, the 6th of July.

A camp meeting of the M. E. Church will be held on Salmon creek, five miles north of Vancouver, commencing June 15th, and continuing over the Sabbath. All are invited to attend.

The fourth Sabbath in June is the day appointed by the General Conference of the M. E. Church, and recommended to all our preachers, as a day for Temperance sermons in all our churches. Let it be observed.

A note from Rev. John Spencer informs us of the safe arrival of himself and party, (consisting of Mrs. Spencer, Mrs. Earl, of Salem, Mrs. W. F. West, of Jefferson, and Miss Emily York, of Portland,) safe, but wearied, at Chicago, Ill.

The following items are from the Sentinel:

Rev. P. T. Gibney, pastor, will say Mass and preach at St. Mary's Church, Corvallis, Oregon, on the first Sunday of each month.

Next Wednesday, the twenty-first of June, in the year of our Lord eighteen hundred and seventy-one, our great, noble and illustrious Pontiff, Pius IX., will celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of his coronation as sovereign head of the Church militant, a feast which no other of the two hundred and fifty-seven Pontiffs, who succeeded St. Peter in the See of Rome, had the joy to attain.

From the Portland papers of the 17th inst. we cull the following:

The Bulletin states that the P. T. Co.'s steamer, to take the place of the Alert, was launched on Friday the 16th inst.

A large shipment of wool has been made from Walla to San Francisco via Portland.

The Herald says that Mr. D. Walton has been authorized to extend an invitation to the Irish Exiles, now in San Francisco, to visit Portland.

State Temperance Convention.

The committee on resolutions presented the following, which was adopted:

Resolved, 1st. That it seems to us the best policy for the friends of Temperance to unite in getting a State law enacted giving to precincts, incorporated towns, and cities, the sole right by ballot to allow or refuse license for the sale of intoxicating liquors within their limits; and that where licenses are thus granted by ballot those persons who may be licensed be held responsible for the effects of what they sell according to the Ohio law.

Resolved, 2d. That in harmony with the above we appoint a committee of three in each county, who, calling to their aid such help as they may need, shall thoroughly canvass the State for the names of citizens and voters in separate lists, petitioning the legislature to that effect.

Resolved, 3d. That a committee of five be appointed as a central State committee to counsel with leading politicians and statesmen of the State, arranging for temperance voters to act with either existing political party that will incorporate the first of these resolutions into its platform, or in case neither party will do this to organize a separate Temperance party that will.

Resolved, 4th. That the use of alcohol either as a beverage or a medicine or for sacramental purposes is most pernicious to the human family. That as a medicine it has no use, but is an abuse always, and that the only true and practical platform for earnest Temperance men and women is, total abstinence from all spirituous or malt liquors for any or all purposes which require it to be taken into the human system; and we further deliberately resolve that so long as we admit the theory of the doctors, that alcohol is useful in the human system, that it supports vitally, and is therefore necessary for the preservation of human life, we can never succeed, to any great extent, in convincing people that it is a poisonous substance, only when it is taken without the authority of a regular physician, as they are not likely to believe that a physician has the magical power to change the physical properties of alcohol and divest it of its poisonous qualities merely by a prescription. We ought to recognize the fact that a house divided against itself cannot stand, and that doctors' theory and practice will always succeed in making as many tipplers as we do teetotalers, thus neutralizing our efforts.

In accordance with the provisions of the third resolution, the following committee was appointed:

Jacob Consor, Maj. Magone, C. Beal, E. W. Ryan and J. B. McClane.

The teacher of an infant class in a Portland Sunday school is ninety years old. His son is superintendent of the school, and his grandson secretary.
