REMARKS.

Munger was excused by the speaker from serving on the committee on printing.

There have been no bills on their third reading yet, although it will be seen that both houses made good progress to-day in the matter of second reading.

The president of the senate named Senators Hare and Chandler as the two extra members of the senate committee on public lands. The other three members of that committee are Cartwright, Barin and Stanley.

The house standing committees nearly all met to-night, and organized, and are now getting ready for active work. The clerks have nearly all been "selected" and the average legislator, and committeeman heaves a long-drawn sigh of relief.

The order of business to-morrow is still the second reading of bills, and it is likely that routine business will occupy the entire day. Some fun may be expected next week, however, when some of the members get up to "air their pet measures."

None of the special committees have submitted a report as yet, and the Columbia river improvement committee is the only one having done any work so far.

The committees to investigate the books of the state treasurer, the secretary of state and clerk of the board of school land commissioners, and to visit the asylum, penitentiary and mute school will probably all do some work before the end of the week.

The following joint committees have been named since last report: To visit the school for deaf mutes, Wilson, Little and Crockett on the part of the house, and Hare and Hamilton of the senate; to investigate that part of the governor's inaugural as relates to Chinese labor, house, Munger, McLean and Taylor, senate, Bird and Veatch; to visit and report on the condition and workings of the state normal school at Monmouth, house, Wilson, Blundell and Daly, senate, Watts and Stanley.

The house has several good speakers, as has the senate. In the house, Messrs. Benjamin of Douglas, Daly of Polk, Bilyeu of Lane, McLean of Klamath and Lake, Harrington of Multnomah, and others have already held the attention of the house. In the senate, "Harry" Miller of Josephine is still in the lead, and Joe Simon of Multnomah, Siglin of Coos, Weatherford of Linn and Lee of Polk are considered the best and clearest speakers, although Chamberlin of Marion knows how to state his ideas to the perfect understanding of his hearers. There are really many good speakers that have been in these halls for two or three terms.

SALEM, JAN. 19.

This was another quiet day in both branches of the legislature, routine business being the order. Both houses are away ahead of the printer, and early adjournments occurred in both bodies. However a great deal of work was gotten away with, as will be readily observed by a perusal of the extended report. The standing committees have begun to work hard, and some reports may be looked for by the first or middle of next week.

SENATE.

MORNING SESSION.

Senate called to order by the president. Prayer by Rev. Mr. Wire, of Salem.

Journal of yesterday was read and approved.

S. R. 8, Wager--That printing committee be instructed to inquire into the amount and cost of state printing done outside the state, and declaring that all state printing shall be done in the state by the state printer; adopted.
