GOOD RESOLUTIONS.

Among the good resolutions sure to be made at the beginning of this year, I should like to suggest one in regard to bible study in connection with the Sabbath school plan. The International course is planned to devote the Sabbaths evening. The crowd did not depart till of seven years to systematic lessons, beginning last Sunday in Genesis, going on with selections through the entire bible. Because of this union in study, there is a very large result of research and investigation within the reach of all desiring it. Every lesson is analyzed, and the severest tests scholarship has taught men, is applied to determine authorship and interpetration.
Of course the little time given in our schools to actual study is sufficient only for such as carry on at nome the lines of thought suggested. There is in all the lesson papers hints and incentives toward further study, and yet, in the rush and heedlessness of youth, too few, I fear, use them. Fortunately, the seed of thought, as surely as of grain, may be sown and take root also, in short spaces of time, and those who give the hour devoted to Sabbath-school lessons through the successive Sabbaths, will not fail to find mental and moral stimulus.

There are in Salem so many schools using these uniform lessons it would seem sure that any one could find a place and class to suit. Our Sunday-school teachers are almost invariably those who have learned to love the precepts of the Bible, and they gladly welcome such as are like-minded

Let me close with the sincere hope that all those interested in moral questions will accept a hearty invitation to begin at the beginning, and study the Mosaic account of creation (Genesis, 1st and 2d chapters), and if connecting yourself with one of our Sabbath schools will help you, as I believe it will, make this as one of your good resolutions for 1887. The spelling contest betweeh our school and the Lick-skillet (Macleay) school commences Friday evening at 7 o'clock, at the church in this hamlet. If they beat us spelling, a foot race challenge will glare them in their facial organs.

The sociable given at Mrs. M. McKin* ney's, Wednesday night, was one of the grandest we ever attended. About twenty couples were present. Music, both vocal and instrumental, a bounteous repast at 11:30 p. m., were the pastime of the morning and nothing marred the pleasure of the party-excepting the boys have stumps deeply impressed on their minds.

SILVERTON ITEMS.

Weather warm and pleasant. More ike May than January.

A. F. Blackerby, our popular dentist, is doing a good business in his line. Rooms over the post office.

Our merchants are complaining of dull times since the holidays have passed. There is atways a calm after a storm. Mr. Kaser passed through town to-day, with some cows, for the Portland market. Good milk cows seem to be in demand all over the country. Our school commenced again on last Monday, after a vacation of a few days, with a full attendance. G. W. Yoder is principal and Miss Amy Cavanaugh is assistant. Allen Wilson, who has been running the Oregon Milling company's mill at this place for the last year, has gone to eastern Oregon on business connected with the milling interest in that locality. Messrs. Ames & Tarpley traded their two steam saw mills, situated on Pudding river, near Silverton, to M. Johnson & Sons for their brick building on Main street now occupied by the Adams Bros. with a dry goods store.

Geo. Riches, of the Waldo Hills, was in town on Monday, and showed us a piece of quartz that he said he picked up on his farm, that was rich with gold. It is not known where it came from but it is probably some specimen that has been brought from some of the quartz mines on the Santiam.

SILVER WEDDING.

MACLEAY, Jan. 3. EDITOR STATESMAN: - What can be truthfully called a "good social time" was enjoyed by a large number of the Waldo Hills "first families" on the evening of Jan. 1st, at the residence of Henry Warren, Esq., one of the commissioners | Bell. of Marion county. The occasion was the twenty-fifth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Warren, and the event was celebrated by their neighbors in a spirit of joyous friendship appropriate to the ceremony which it commemorated.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren were married on Jan. 1st, 1862, and though it was a stormy time in this country, they seem to have contracted an alliance that ever afterward remained peaceful and pros

The entire season of their married life has been passed in the house where they now reside; indeed, it is believed the marriage ceremony was performed there

One of the pleasant features of the 'silver wedding' was the re-enactment of the marriage ceremony by Hon. Warren Cranston. The blushing couple were 'arranged" on the front piazza of their commodious dwelling and the guests, numbering near one hundred persons, assembled in the adjoining yard, and in the bright light of the friendly moon, Mrs. and Mr. Warren promised again to do the things they ought to do, and to leave undone the things they ought not

The whole affair was a complete surprise to Mr. Warren, the preliminary requirements having been attended to by his estimable wife and Mrs. Blair Forward, with a degree of secrecy entirely uncharacteristic of their sex. Several valuable presents were made by thoughtful friends, and the recipients expressed their gratitude in words and actions that left no doubt of their utmost sincer-

Among those present were many representatives of the well known pioneer families of the Waldo Hills, Cranston, Pooler, Scriber, Hunt, Geer, Riches, Forward, Griffith, Davenport, Egan, Colby, etc., etc.

We all join in the wish that Mr. and Mrs. Warren may have no worse misfortune than to live to celebrate their 'golden wedding' in 1912. TALLMAN ITEMS.

AN ADVANTAGE OF BEING POOR

Suicides of young men are increasing in this country. It is singular that self slaughter of our male youth is not amongst those who have to toil for a living, but is resorted to by the pets of fortune, the sons of the rich. Young men born to face a frowning world, whose favors they mus conquer by hard work, because they cannot buy them, do not kill themselves. They are too busy to became morbid. The have so much to do besides cutting their own throats that their own throats are not cut. Even in the imminent prospect of marriage they don't weaken. To them it is a state of helpful recompense for past hardships, and the taking of a helpmate who shall make the future bright by sharing it. The pampered and purposeless, who exhaust the experiences of a lifetime before they reach their majority, are ready to die untimely, and when death refuses to crown their debauchery, they put their own hands to it .- (Davenport (Ia.) TO AVOID EXCITEMENT.

The Washington correspondent of a southern paper sends the following:

"Col. Cowles, a North Carolina congressman, who served under General Hampton during the late unpleasantness, has a bald head, revealing a singular wound. It is a long seam, as if ripped up by a pointed weapon, but was really inflicted by a musket-ball which plowed the cranium. The colonel's brain was partially exposed at first, but the bone thinly healed over it. I am told that the least unusual excitement would be apt to kill him, and it is one of the gallery jokes that he came to congress to avoid any dangerous commotion."

HOW TO SELL A FARM.

A young man near Estelline was recently negotiating to sell his farm when his father, an old settler in the territory, came to him and said:

"William, trying to sell this land of ourn ?"

"Yes, father."

"Easten spec'later?" 'I believe so."

"What are you telling him?" "Good land, big crops, well watered, and all that kind of thing.

"That's very good, William, as far as goes. Why not have indications of silver on the further corner?"

"It might be a good thing." "What's the matter of having seen specks of gold in the creek?"

"Perhaps it would be best." "Is pose it never occurred to you that there were signs of oil all over this hull place?" "Don't believe it did."

"Didn't you tell him 'bout strikin' coal when you dug yer well?" "No. "Not a word concerning the water power down on the stream, or the splenid buildin' stun in that knoll." "N-o-o, father." "Probably you forgot to mention you was sellin' to get money to support a poor, old, crippled mother?"

"I believe I did?" "William, I'm afraid all the teachin' yer poor old father has given you hasn't mounted to much. New you just crawl under the house and lay low, and when that eastern man shows up this afternoon you just keep your ears open and find bout the good p'ints round proout

We tried several medicines, none of which seemed to do her any good, but she continued to get worse, and finally raised large amounts of blood from her lungs. We called in a family physician, but he failed to do her any good. At this time a friend who had been cured by DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. LUNGS, advised me to give it a trial. We got a bottle, and she began to improve, and by the use of three bottles was entirely cured."
