REMARKS.

Monger was excused by the speaker from serving on the committee on printmas. ing.

There have been no bills on their third reading yet, although it will be seen that both houses made good progress to-day in the matter of second reading.

The president of the senate named Senators Hare and Chandler as the two extra members of the senate committee on public lands. The other three mem bers of that committee are Cartwright, Barin and Stanley.

The house standing committees nearly all met to-night, and organized, and are now getting ready for active work. The clerks have nearly all been "selacted" and the average legislator, and committeeman heaves a long-drawn sigh of relief.

The order of business to-morrow i still the second reading of bills, and it is likely that routine business will occupy the entire day. Some fun may be ex-pected next week, however, when some of the members get up to "air their pet measures."

None of the special committees have submitted a report as yet, and the Columbia river improvement committee is the The committees to investigate the books moved to suspend the rules and put the bill on its final passage. ler occupies his spare time in making up the assessment roll of the city. There is not much doing now in police circles, so most of his time will be taken up for some weeks to come in assessing the property of residents of Salem. It is not probable that the aggregate amount of the value of the city's property will be us great as it was last year, as the stand-ard of assessment will not be so high.
