

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

The legislature has adjourned, most of the members gone home, and Salem will again quiet down to steady every day work.

The veto club of President Cleveland has been again brought into play on a bill passed to relieve the sufferers from drought in Texas.

H. G. GUILD has sold a half interest in the Silverton Appeal to L. J. Adams of Silverton, and the new publishing firm intend making several improvements in the paper.

This is the last day of this session of the legislature. No doubt there will be some hasty work done to-day and to-night, and may be some good material furnished for the work of the veto club.

It was a very small thing for the president of the United States to do to veto a bill providing for furnishing to the people of a few drought-stricken counties of Texas seeds with which to sow their next crops.

JOHN L. SULLIVAN is again on his muscle and is "spilling for a fight." He should run up against a trip-hammer or a Kansas cyclone, then the American people would have a rest. They are very tired now.

NEARLY $19,000,000 will be required to pay the pensions for the quarter ending March 4th. This is nearly half as much as the annual interest on the public debt, and one-third as much as the entire ordinary yearly expenses of the government before the war.

THE New York World having the proud satisfaction of paying half the bill for the Bartholdi statue pedestal, is going to try it again. It is now soliciting a fund for the endowment of a national musical conservatory in New York.

VICE-PRESIDENT KING, who was elected with Pierce in 1852, was qualified as vice-president in Cuba, where he was sojourning in search of health. He died before assuming the office. It is the only instance of the kind in our history.

QUEEN VICTORIA is said to be very fond of chestnuts, which is to say, we suppose, that she likes her job. Royalty is getting to be a good deal of a chestnut nowadays. Solomon showed his usual equilibrium of judgment by remarking to the effect that everything is a chestnut. But people have managed to put up with the royal chestnut for a good many generations; but it is growing stale.

A LITTLE typographical error is a serious thing in a German newspaper. The Hofer Tagblatt undertook, not long since, to print an item of news to the effect that a certain junker, a Von Holstein, had been decorated, and the compositor in grabbing for a period to close up the thing with, got hold of an exclamation point instead. The issue of the paper was seized and confiscated, and the editor is under arrest for libel.

THE next G. A. K. national encampment will be held in St. Louis, and already leading men of that city are making arrangements for the great event. It is expected that the attendance will be very large, as thousands of ex-soldiers in the central northern states can reach St. Louis who could not go to Portland two years ago nor to San Francisco last year because of the distance and expenses attached.

ONE of the ladies present at a recent White House reception is described as wearing diamonds that "looked the size of birds' eggs." Now, as there are a good many kinds of birds, the description is a trifle vague. No doubt, however, if diamonds as large as ostrich eggs could be found some woman would undertake to wear them at a White House reception such as is given in this "reform" age. The Jeffersonian simplicity of our fathers has left Washington and gone to Mexico on a drunk.

AFTER all, the farmers of the west are not in such terrible straits as some of the democratic and mugwump howlers of the press would have them believe. Considering the prices of cattle and hogs and farm products generally that farmers have to sell, and the prices of groceries that they have to buy, they are better off to-day than they have been in years before. This, as a rule, because most farmers in the west are republicans and temperate and industrious and intelligent. The temperate farmer seldom comes to want.—[Ex.]

SOME delegates went to Salem to attend the State Temperance Alliance yesterday, with a full determination to force, if possible, a third-party movement on the people. Brothers and sisters, remember there are many mighty good temperance people, who would like to see the manufacture and sale of spirituous liquors prohibited, who do not agree with you in your mode. You aim at too much. But if you have lots of ambitious people in your ranks who wish to become candidates and be snowed under, all we have to say is "Let 'em go!" The better way would be to gradually hedge with high license until you have your phalanx solid, and then make a bold charge. Prohibition now means defeat.—[New Northwest, Portland.]

TWO recent journeys show that people are beginning to travel with rapidity in the most backward part of the world. The explorers Capus and Bonvalot reached Teberan from Paris in fifteen days. Lord Rosebery has just traveled up the Bolan Pass Railroad to Quetta and beyond, almost to the Khojak Pass in Afghanistan, and back to Sibi, comfortably making a journey in three days that two or three years ago required twenty-five days' hard marching. The journey from Paris to Merv can now be made by way of the Transcaspian Railroad in sixteen days. In other words New York is now within three weeks and a half of central Asia, which is better time than our passengers and mails used to make to San Francisco thirty years ago.

A SOUTHERN paper brings information that Col. Mosby is going to write up the real history of the battle of Gettysburg, and that in doing it he will knock out a good many theories heretofore advanced concerning that great trial of arms. It is not going to be sensational, but merely an exposition that shall cause numerous people to change their minds concerning the historic fight and circumstances leading up to it and surrounding it. In this connection the Salt Lake Tribune finds one conviction that Mosby will hardly disturb, which is, that most of the glory of Gettysburg is due to the men, many of them nameless now, and forgotten, except in the grand aggregate, who under the storm of death on that famous field, held resolute the thought that their country was dear enough to die for if need be. No archives that Col. Mosby can unearth at this late date can change that solemn fact or take away the glory which comes to the common soldier when he offers his life for his country.

It will probably be a great advertisement for the new national bank of New York to have for its president the ex-secretary of the treasury of the United States, to accept which office Mr. Manning has resigned. It was thought to be a good move by the Pittsburg Times to take upon its reportorial staff the son of James G. Blaine and the Times did get considerable notoriety from it, and, likewise, two or three threatened libel suits growing out of the young man's inexperienced pencilings. Young Jim has since been trying to get a reportorial position in New York, but the mention of his name to the editor seems to be quite sufficient—to have the applicant "fired." Advertising is all-important in business, but it should be done judiciously.

At a dinner party in Washington the other day Henri Watterson, the fiery editor of the Louisville Courier Journal, was called upon to reply to the toast "The administration." He arose, announced that he was a democrat born and a democrat bred, that he always had and always would defend democratic administrations, right or wrong, and thought it the duty of every true democrat to do the same. If one could not say anything in favor of the president out of respect to the party that elected him, one should say nothing at all. Then Mr. Watterson, in the most comical way, began a pantomime exhibition, showing some very graceful gestures and keeping his lips in motion, but without uttering a sound. After keeping this up for about five minutes, while the guests roared with laughter, Mr. Watterson concluded with the words: "Such, gentlemen, is my opinion of the president of the United States."

TRUE DEMOCRACY.

The democrats have now had a president for nearly two years, and at this late date, read how the New York Sun, the leading democratic paper of the country, talks. The discomfiture of the brethren of the democratic fold is really amusing to observe:

Senator Saulsbury of Delaware has furnished the Mugwumps with another opprobrious term. He said that the administration should be made democratic, and yet Mr. Cleveland need not be a "public butcher decapitating every hostile official."

Every removal of a republican after this, unless for a cause, will be a "public butchery," according to the mugwumps. That phrase will smell sweet to their worn-out palates. It paints the spoils system redder than any reformer's imagination ever fancied. They will probably get Puck to draw a cartoon representing the Hon. Adlai E. Stevenson or the Hon. David Bennett Hill dressed in a butcher's frock, in the bloody shambles, piling up the slaughtered carcasses of all the Republicans within reach of the sacrificial knife, with the motto "I am a Democrat" painted overhead.

Yet such a picture would be essentially true. A democrat believes in having his party in office and turning other parties out, whether you call it place hunting, or spoils hunting, or public butchery, and as for the feeble device for showing republicans aside without scaring the mugwumps, the doctrine of offensive partisanship, a democrat laughs at it. Democracy is not content, nor ever will be with raising its hands and self-satisfied figure head, lean or fat, in the White House. It is content to see the administration democratic from top to bottom.

Moreover nothing is more certain than that Mr. Cleveland must either kill or be killed. It is best, then, to have the agony over as soon as may be, and to cut off the republican heads to the liveliest music. Strip up the axe and swing the blow, and short the pang to undergo."

DON'T KNOW BEANS.

There is an old by-word about an ignorant man not knowing beans. It is all of possible contempt to say of any man or woman that they "don't know beans," and we propose to ask the people of Oregon right here and now if they are sure they "know beans." Every steamer from California brings us tons of beans, and California beans go the rounds of the whole coast and far into the interior to make the rations of the hard working miner. Our farmers eat beans, for pork and beans are not to be despised, yet they come to town and buy the California article. Not one farmer in ten throughout Oregon and Washington grows the beans required for his own family. We complain of hard times and scarcity of money and send away hundreds of thousands of dollars east and elsewhere, to purchase pork and beans. We do not half raise the pork necessary to supply all the needs of our own region and we "don't know beans" of the Oregon growth by sight. We occasionally hear of a man who raises beans and it is a matter of pride that the bean grown in Oregon is No. 1, superior to any imported. There is a lack of good sense in Oregon management. If our state could be classed as a person and criticized strictly, as we would speak of a neighbor, it would be pronounced shiftless and fault finding and a poor manager. As a consequence of this we are not as prosperous as we should be. Fruit was not abundant as usual the past year, but apples rotted by the thousands of bushels, and now good dried apples bring 8 to 12 1/2 cents per pound. We do not save and economize well and carry on business in a prudent way. There is too much money sent away for things we should produce. It is time we "know beans."—[Willamette Farmer.]

A WALL STREET POLICY.

Never in the history of the United States has the national administration allied itself so closely with the interests of the money sharks of New York city, and it is surprising that the country should complacently submit to the course that the executive has directed in relation to the financial policy of the national treasury. Last November when Secretary Manning announced that he would pay the January interest on the national debt about two months before it was due "in order to relieve the stringency of the money market," no one raised the voice of remonstrance against that outrage on public rights, although the advance payment was made for the advantage and benefit of Wall street speculators and millionaire bondholders. Now, that congress demands the disposal of part of the hundreds of millions of idle money in the U. S. Treasury, Secretary Manning, President Cleveland's most trusted lieutenant, proposes to apply $500,000,000 of the money to take up that amount of greenbacks, instead of using it to purchase and redeem interest bearing bonds. The United States pays no interest on greenbacks; and the democratic administration says they ought to be redeemed; but it required the strongest efforts of congress to induce the president to call in even a portion of the interest bearing debt. As a consequence the United States is paying millions of dollars interest every year on outstanding bonds, while $500,000,000 lie idle in the treasury vaults. If the democratic administration would do anything for the people, it would apply that idle money to the reduction of the bonded debt, and thereby save a million dollars of interest money every year.

REPUBLICAN PREROGATIVES.

The Oregonian sees the wisdom of an apology for its treatment of Judge Boise; but it still affects to disapprove of the conduct of a judge of a local court privately expressing his views on matters of public concern. However, the truth remains that this is a free country, and no matter what official position a man may occupy, he has just as much right to express his personal opinions, so long as he does not attempt to use his office to enforce his arguments or make it the vehicle for transmission of his opinions to the public, as a journalist has to force his arguments upon the readers of his paper. And we may add that Judge Boise is still quite as highly esteemed by the good people of the Willamette valley as the Oregonian is by the corporation which make Portland their head-center.

THIS PASSES FOR WIT:

Postmaster-General Vilas has a waltz named after him.—Philadelphia Daily News. It is entitled "Letter Go Slow," suggested by the postmaster general's policy, and people say it is the Vilas-waltz they have ever heard.—Norristown Times.

It was understood out here that the name of that waltz was "The Vilas-Sinner May Return," and that its purpose was to waltz him back into private life. The fact is, that is just what should be done. The people want their mail much more than they want Postmaster-General Vilas, and it seems they cannot be permitted to enjoy both these luxuries at the same time.

A GOOD TICKET.

Should James G. Blaine be nominated for president in 1888, and Ex-Governor Alger, of Michigan, be nominated for vice president, it would be a ticket that the democrats could not beat, even if they put up their very best available men. With Cleveland at the head of the democratic ticket, and these men as the republican standard bearers, the republicans would be simply invincible.

THE FACE.

The care of the complexion has become an accomplishment that no lady of refined tastes can afford to ignore, and in leading society circles it claims as much thought as do the fashions. It is an acknowledged fact that the variations of our climate are very severe on the complexion, noticeable by a roughness and dryness of the skin, and to counteract this effect it becomes necessary to call in the aid of art. In the selection of this agent too much care can not be exercised. It is well known to chemists that many of the so-called "Elooms," "Balms," "Creams," etc., contain lead and other poisonous substances, the long-continued use of which is dangerous. The new toilet preparation, WISDOM'S ROBERTINE, is guaranteed under a forfeiture of $1,000 to be absolutely free from poisonous substances. If you have not yet tried it, do so at once, and be one of the hundreds who pronounce it the most delightful toilet article ever produced. Wisdom's Robertine is sold at fifty cents per bottle, by Dan J. Fry, druggist, 225 Commercial street, Salem, Oregon.

PHYSICIANS HAVE FOUND OUT.

That a contaminating and foreign element in the blood, developed by indigestion, is the cause of rheumatism. This settles upon the sensitive subcutaneous covering of the muscles and ligaments of the joints, causing constant and shifting pain, and aggregating as a calcareous, chalky deposit which produces stiffness and distortion of the joints. No fact which experience has demonstrated in regard to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has stronger evidence to support than this, namely, that this medicine of comprehensive use checks the formidable and atrocious disease, nor is it less positively established that it is preferable to the poisons often used to arrest it, since the medicine contains only salutary ingredients. It is also a signal remedy for malarial fevers, constipation, dyspepsia, kidney and bladder ailments, debility and other disorders. See that you get the genuine.

DARBY'S PROPHYLACTIC FLUID.

Gives prompt and permanent relief in burns, scalds, chilblains, venous stings or bites, cuts and wounds of every description. It is invaluable in scarlet fever, diphtheria, small-pox, cholera, yellow, typhus, typhoid and other fevers. For sick rooms, to prevent the spread of contagion, it is the best disinfectant known. Hon. Alex. H. Stephens, of Georgia.—Darby's Prophylactic Fluid is an article of little cost, but of great value. Its domestic use as medicinal uses are numerous while its specialties are most wonderful. No head of a family should be without it.

Acker's Blood Elixir is the only Blood Remedy guaranteed. It is a positive cure for Ulcers, Eruptions or Syphilitic Poisoning. It purifies the whole system, and banishes all Rheumatic and Neuralgic pains. We guarantee it. Sold by Geo. E. Good, druggist.

Babies that are fretful, peevish, cross, or troubled with Windy Colic, Teething Pains, or Stomach Disorders, can be relieved at once by using Acker's Baby Soother. It contains no Opium or Morphine, hence is safe. Price 25 cents. Sold by Geo. E. Good, druggist.

JUSTICE CORRECTED.

Somebody has thought of William Postmaster-General's Statements.

To OUR READERS.—In common with many publishers and editors, we have been accustomed to look upon certain statements which we have seen in our columns as merely adroit advertising.

Consequently we feel justified in taking the liberty of printing a few points from a private letter recently received from one of our largest patrons, as a sort of confession of faith to our readers. We quote:

"We have convinced ourselves that by telling what we know to be true, we have produced at last a permanent conviction in the public mind. Seven years ago we stated that the national disease of this country was, and that it was rapidly increasing. Three years ago we stated that a marked check had been given it.

"The statistics of one of the largest life insurance companies of this country shows that in 1883 and 1884, the mortality from kidney disorders did not increase over the previous years: other companies stated the same thing. It is not presumptuous for us to claim credit for checking these ravages.

"Seven years ago we stated that the condition of the kidneys was the key to the condition of health; within the past five years all careful life insurance companies have conceded the truth of this statement, for, whereas, ten years ago, chemical analysis to determine the condition of the kidneys was not required, to-day millions of dollars in risks are refused, because chemical examination discovers unsuspected diseases of the kidneys.

"When the recent death of an honored ex-official of the United States was announced, his physician said that although he was suffering from Bright's Disease, that was not the cause of death. He was not frank enough to admit that the apoplexy which overtook him in his bed, was the fatal effect of the kidney poison in the blood, which had eaten away the substance of the arteries and brain; nor was Logan's physician honest enough to state that his fatal rheumatism was caused by kidney acid in the blood.

"If the doctors would state in official reports the original cause of death, the people of this country would be alarmed, yea, nearly panic stricken, at the fearful mortality from kidney disorders."

The writers of the above letter give these facts to the public simply to justify the claims that they have made, that "if the kidneys and liver are kept in a healthy condition by the use of Warner's safe cure, which hundreds of thousands have proved to be a specific, when all other remedies failed, and that has received the endorsement of the highest medical talent in Europe, Australasia and America, many a life would be prolonged and the happiness of the people preserved. It is successful with so many different diseases because it, and it alone, can remove the uric acid from the blood through the kidneys."

Our readers are familiar with the preparation named.

Commendation thereof has often appeared in our columns.

We believe it to be one of the best, if not the best, ever manufactured. We know the proprietors are men of character and influence.

We are certain they have awakened a widespread interest in the public mind concerning the importance of the kidneys. We believe with them that they are the key to health, and that for their restoration from disease and maintenance in health there is nothing equal to this great remedy.

The proprietors say they "do not glory in this universal prevalence of disease, but having started out with the purpose of spreading the merits of Warner's safe cure before the world, because it cured our senior proprietor, who was given up by doctors as incurable, we feel it our duty to state the facts and leave the public to its own inferences. We point to our claims, and to their public and universal verification with pride, and if the public does not believe what we say, we tell them to ask their friends and neighbors what they think about our preparation."

As stated above, we most cordially commend the perusal of this correspondence by our readers, believing that in so doing we are fulfilling a simple public obligation.

The Best!
