THE RACE IN DETAIL.

New York, Sept. 30 .- Great rain and fog this morning had the effect of almost entirely driving away the crowds from the excursion steamers that were to accompany the yachts Thistle and Volunteer in the second race of the series for the American cup. There was no spot ately to the train. Secretaries Whitney on dry land from which the course of the and Endicott preceded the presidential yachts could be watched, as they were to party by a few minutes. Dr. Bryant and go twenty miles staight out to see and return. The associated press tug followed the racers and had on board a plentiful supply of carrier pigeons. Unlike the day of the first race, few boats were in sight, and the prospect of interferences from that source was reduced to the minimum.

When the vachts crossing the starting line the Thistle was seen to windward. Both racers were heading east and northeast, sailing on a course laid for Rockaway, and the Volunteer was outpointing the Scotchman. They were 500 yards apart. The Volunteer, after the start, beat to windward in great style, and through the drifting fog could be seen gaining on the Scotch cutter. Ten minutes after the start she was well to windward, and was pulling away from the Thistle east to northeast, the wind blowing twenty-four miles an hour.

At 1:15 the Volunteer turned the stake boat. She appeared to take the swell with better grace than the Thistle, the latter continuously burying her bows.

EX-SENATOR NORWOOD.

He Gives in Some Testimony to the Pacific Railroad Commission.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 .- Ex-Senator Norwood, of Georgia, appeared before the Pacific Railroad commission this morning, to explain vouchers for considerable amounts in the possession of the Central Pacific road, which showed him to have received these amounts for services. The senator said he never did any thing for Judge Race, of Minnesota, Chosen on the the Central Pacific road, but was engaged as counsel for the Southern Pacific in 1878. He had left the senate and entered upon his law practice in Savannah, and received word that his services were wanted in Washington. He went there, and met Huntington. with whom he made a contract as counsel for the Southern Pacific railroad, to advance its interests in the South against Tom Scott's Texas Pacific railroad. Witness produced the contract drawn by Huntington, which provided for the payment to Norrood for his services of $10,666 yearly, always made his bills against the Southern Pacific, and drew receipts in favor of the Central Pacific. Norwood said he knew of no act of wrong on the part of Southern Pacific or its officers, uns it was placing these charges on the oks of the Central Pacific.

At this point Attorney Cohen said he was glad Norwood had made this critism, for he had no doubt that when the rges were made there was a contract by which the Central Pacific was receivthe earnings of the Southern Pacific and paying its expenses.

Presbyterians Incoused Because of the Honor Shown Cardinal Gibbons.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 29.—The presence Cardinal Gibbons at the constitutional

John A. Kasson, now at his home in The Eagle Bird Now Has lows, as president of the commission replied to the article. In an interview License to Screech.

he said the commission avoided any semblance of partisanship, either religious or political, in its arrangements, and that Cardinal Gibbons was invited as the She Comes in Ten Minutes Ahead of Journal, which will be issued to-morrow, will devote two pages to answering Kasson's reasons why Cardinal Gibbons was invited to offer the closing prayer at the centennial exercise. Political Trip to Various Points.

Washington, Sept. 30.—The vestibule train with President Cleveland and party on board left the Baltimore and Potomac station at 10 o'clock this morning.

About fifty persons gathered in front of the White House this morning to witness President and Mrs. Cleveland's departure. The weather, which had been rainy and disagreeable for three days, had cleared off beautifully just in time to verify the proverbial good luck of the president. At 9:45 the carriage drove up at the north front and the president, Mrs. Cleveland, Mrs. Folsom and Lena, Mrs. Cleveland's maid, entered and were driven to the railroad station. The president wore his usual black suit, while Mrs. Cleveland was dressed in brown silk. At the station the special train had been run back nearly to the entrance of the building. An ordinary car had been attached for the accommodation of railway and train men which was to be detached at Baltimore. At that city the cars, which at the start were headed by the palace car, were to be reversed so as to bring the observation compartment in

The train looked handsome in its new paint and bronze ornaments. Through the plate glass windows could be seen baskets of jacquemenot roses and other cut flowers. From the waiting rooms a cruious crowd eyed the train and every member of the party as they arrived. Marshal Wilson was early at the depot. He was followed by Secretary Fairchild. Col. and Mrs. Lamont with their two children arrived next and went immedithe marshal had already arrived and taken their places in the car. At 9:50 the president made his appearance at the station. He was escorted by Marshal Wilson. Mrs. Cleveland and her mother came next and the maid followed them. Quite a crowd of newspa-per and railroad officials and other privleged persons had been admitted to the platform. Most of them raised their hats and the salutes were returned by the party. Secretary and Miss Bayard hurried up at this moment and boarded the train with the presiedent and Mrs. Cleveland. Engine 46, in charge of Engineer Frank Carver, had just backed down and coupled on to the train, which was under the direction of Conductor C. A. Haverstick. The members of the cabinet, Mrs. Folsom and Miss Bayard said farewell, and at 10 a. m. the train moved off on its long journey.

BALTIMORE REACHED AND PASSED.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 30.-The presidential train reached Baltimore an hour and ten minutes after leaving Washington. The announcement that the party would arrive attracted about 1000 persons, fully Sne-half of whom were ladies. As soon as the train stopped the president and Mrs. Cleveland were seen about the center of the car. He sat near a window and to the request to go to the platform shook his head. A 1:15 sharp the signal for the departure was given and the train pulled out. There was no demonstration by the people assembled at the station.

The Northern and Union Pacific Join Issues and Divide Territory.

New York, Oct .- The terms of agree ment between the Northern Pacific and Union Pacific railroads are officially given as follows: The Northern Pacific joins the Union Pacific in the guarantee of the dividends and charges on Oregon Naviga-tion securities, the Union Pacific paying three per cent. of the gnaranteed dividend of six per cent. on Oregon Navigation stocks.

The division of territory was substantially agreed upon at the conferences which have been held in this city between President Adams and General Manager Potter, of the Union Pacific, and President Harris and Vice President Oakes, of the Northern Pacific. The dividing line will be Snake river at its mouth where it enters the Columbia. The Chinese Murderer Swung off After Sacrament was Administered by a Priest.

San Francisco, Sept. 30.-Le Sare Bo passed a restless night and arose from bed early this morning. He lay on his cot two hours during the night and wept incessantly, and when his tears ceased to flow he endeavored to cast off bitter reflections by indulging in prayer. He gave up all hope of respite last night. He dressed this morning in a nervous manner and when breakfast was brought to his cell he firmly declined to receive any food. The clothier arrived at 8 o'clock and took his measure for a suit of

At 10 o'clock it was found necessary to change the drop, but the noise did not have the least effect on Bo, and for an hour he sat motionless in his cell regarding his prayer-book. He then grew uneasy, as Father Galliano had not been with him since last night, and a message was sent to St. Ignatius church asking the father to call at the jail as early as possible. The only consolation the murderer seemed to find was in his religious works, and he prayed long and fervently. He then commenced giving his history to the death watch, and broke down completely when he spoke of his father and mother. He expressed a wish to live till he could again hear from his father who was living in China, and the recollection of the manner in which he neglected his parents when he was free served to depress him. The jailer turned his thoughts aside from home by advising him to pray to God for strength to carry himself bravely while on the scaffold. Father Galliano arrived at the jail soon after 11 o'clock and administered consolation to the condemned prisoner. As the fire bell struck 12, the prisoner was taken from his cell to the scaffold. He walked with a firm step and showed no sign of weakness. He spoke a few words from the scaffold and protested his innocence to the last. The priest offered a short prayer, and administered the sacrament, after which the trap was sprung, precisely at 12:05. His neck was broken by the fall and not a limb quivered.

SO AWFULLY GREEN. Romance of a Bunko Man and a "Sucker in Portland. PORTLAND, Or., Sept 29.-John Ker, who was arrested on a complaint of Hugh McCullough, charged with swindling him out of $32, bad an examination in the police court this afternoon. McCullough testified positively to Ker's identity, although the latter wore different clothes and had shaved his chin, on which he value of the estate is estimated at $100,ad at first worn a cropped beard.

Ker had ingratiated himself into Mc-Cullough's confidence by representing himself as a brother of Mr. Donald Macleay who wanted a man to work in his "The brother" hired McCullough, but asked a deposit of $30 as a proof of good faith that he would come to work. McCullough had but $32, and a few moments after handing over the $30 the swindler said he had need of a dollar or two in change, and borrowed the last cent the poor dupe had. He then went into a brick block to which there are two entrances, and McCullough never saw him again until he met him on the street the other night and handed him over to the police. Ker swore he never saw McCullough, never heard of Donald Macleay, had not shaved his beard, and never owned a suit of blue clothes such as McCullough said he had on when they first met. In this last statement he was unfortunate; for Mrs. Higgins, his landlady, swore positively that he did have a complete suit of blue clothes when he first came to her house. This settled "Mr. Macleay," and he was held to answer before the grand jury in the sum of $150 bonds, which he was unable to furnish.

Recovery of a Missing Package Containing $75,000 in Currency.

PORTLAND, Gr., Sept. 29.—A gentleman who travels considerably between this city and Helena, M. T., this morning related to a Telegram reporter how remarkably a missing $75,000 package of currency was recovered recently. For some time past the Bank of California, of San Francisco, had been shipping currency per mail to one or more banking houses of Helena. About two weeks ago the bank at the Bay forwarded a package of $75,000, but it failed to reach its destination. The postal authorities made haste to investigate the matter. and found that the package had been correctly checked till it fell into the hands of a new man on the Helena and Portland railroad. That man, in whose integrity every one had faith, was driven almost to distraction by the loss of so much money, and the matter assumed a very serious aspect, till a few days later a telegram was received from the New York city postoffice that the $75,000 currency package had been found in a "tie sack," one used for the transportation of newspapers. The money package had been broken open but there was not a dollar of it missing. The honesty of the New York postoffice clerk just saved the N. & P. mail agent's reputation and peace of mind. The mystery is as to how the currency package got into that paper bag.

ALBANY NEWS.

Johnny King, the Missing Boy, Probably Gone to Eugene City.

ALBANY, Or., Sept. 30,-From P. Cochran, of Tangent, who was in the city today, and has just returned from a trip to Kitson Springs in Lane county, are learned the following particulars of the finding of a man who had lost his way and was nearly famished. Albert R. Humphrey, residing near Monroe, with others, was out prospecting on the Mid-dle fork of the Willamette river, near Big Prairie. Humphrey had gone up into the mountains to look for pasturage for his horses, and in returning to camp lost his way. He was out four days and three nights, and was found by F. Warner, who happened to be out looking for stock. When found, he was lying with his boots off and in a speechless condition. He was taken to his home at Monroe, and will recover.

It is learned that Johnnie King bought ticket here for Eugene City. Before his disappearance, he offered to sell his horse, saddle, and bridle to a liveryman here for $15. Parties left for Eugene today to look for him.

A NOVEL CASE.

An Important Decision Rendered by Circuit Judge Shattuck.

PORTLAND, Or., Oct. 1.-On the 21st instant a very important suit, entitled W. N. Northrop et al. against P. A. Marquam, was on trial before Judge Shattuck, at which time the Telegram published the following synopsis of it:

In June, 1870, Henry Northrop died in this city, leaving by a will executed on June 11, 1870, all of his estate to his wife and children then born. The will provided that the real estate should be converted into money and placed at interest for the proper education and main-tenance of the children till the youngest should reach legal maturity.

The property was sold to Mr. P. A. Marquam, the defendant in the present suit. Now comes the rare phase of the matter. About eight months after Northrop's death a child was born to his widow. The posthumous offspring, however, died at the age of three years.

The statutes of Oregon provide that where a legitimate child is born after the demise of a testator that child is entitled to the same interest in the estate of the deceased as his or her other children, or on the other hand, as if the deceased had died intestate. The property having been purchased by Mr. Marquam before the birth of the posthumous child, plaintiff's claim that the latter's interest in the esstate could not have been disposed of to Mr. Marquam, and the plaintiff's pray for the restitution of their dead sister's interest, which is said to be one-fourth of the whole. Senator Mitchell, representing defendant, argues that the plaintiff's are entitled only to the deceased child's interest in the money derived from the sale of the estate, while Judge Kelly, for plaintiffs, asserts that they can compel the defendant to disgorge. The total

This morning Judge Shattuck rendered a voluminous and able decision in the matter, and the subject attracted a considerable number of the members of the Portland bar. He closely reviewed the circumstances attending the purchase made by defendant, his subsequent improvement of the land; he dwelt at length upon the law points bearing upon both sides of the question at issue, and finally decided in favor of the defendant. The decision seemed to strike the lawyers present as a clear and just one. Good authority states that there had been only two similar cases brought into the courts of the United States.

ALBANY NEWS.

The investigation Goes to Show that the Cry of Fraud has been Exaggerated.

ALBANY, Or., Oct. 1.-The commis sioners appointed to investigate into the validity of the land grant of the Willamette Valley & Cascade Mountain Wagon Road Co., consisting of G. C. Wharton, of Virginia, and J. B. McNamee, of Washington, D. C., met in this city this afternoon, to hear evidence. Hon. Geo. H. Williams and R. W. Mitchell, of Portland, appeared on behalf of the road company. Ex-Governor Grover, of Portland, was the first witness examined. He testified that while governor of the state he passed over 100 miles of the road, and found it a good mountain road, and that he received it on the part of the state. Fifteen other witnesses thus far state. Fifteen other witnesses thus far have also been examined, each of whom testified that the road was actually constructed according to the provisions of the act under which the grant was made. All of these witnesses are representative men af Linn county, who have been accelerated the containing two hundred and forty-two and eleven one-hundredth acres of land, more or less in Marion County, Orecon. men of Linn county, who have been acquainted with the histery of the road from its beginning, and can be relied on. It is evident that the cry of fraud has been exaggerated, and there is good reason to believe that this is one land grant that ought not to be forfeited as unearned. The investigation of the commission will continue Monday.
