Oh, why don't more men put an enemy nto their brains to steal away their months?-[Puck.

A Burlington teacher told one of her boys that the next time he wrote a comition there must be some point to it. The subject of his next disquisition was "Needles."-[Burlington Free Press.

"The climate of New Jersey is salubri-ons, is it not?" he asked. "Salubrious!" repeated the enthusiastic citizen of that state, "why, stranger, we have mosquitos in January."--[The Epoch.

A Long Island man ate seventy-five clams at one sitting and won one hun-dred dollars by the feat. After defraying his funeral expenses there was twenty dollars left. Twenty dollars a day, clear profit, is pretty good wages.-[Drake's Travelers' Magazine.

Buffalo Bill's share of the profits of the "American Exposition" in London amounted to seventy thousand pounds sterling, and a position in English society. He would probably be willing to ex-change the latter item for a plug of to-bacco.--[Minneapolis Tribune.

SURPRISE PARTY.

On the evening of last, Friday, about fifty or sixty of the parishioners and friends of Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Dick, of the Evangelical church, assembled at John Knight's, and marched in a body to the pastor's residence, surprising them completely. The exercises of the even-ing were of a social nature and were very pleasant. Every body had brought a lunch basket with him, and their contents made the lunch one of the most agreeable features of the evening. The surprise was intended as an expression of the church members' pleasure over the safe return of their pastor from his recent trip east.

WHIST CLUB.

On Monday evening Mrs. J. M. Rosenberg entertained the Salem Whist club, in honor of her father, Mr. J. G. Wright, who is a member. The evening was spent in the interesting game of drive whist, and was enlivened with excellent singing. An elegant luncheon was served and heartily appreciated. The first prize for the most excellent player was awarded to Mrs. S. F. Chadwick, the second to Mrs. J. H. Strickler, third to Mrs. E. Breyman, and fourth, or booby. to W. W. Skinner. All the members of the club were present, with the exception of Mrs. J. G. Wright, absent at Prine-ville. They were Mr. J. G. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. E. Breyman, Mr. and Mrs. Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. Chadwick, Mr. and Mrs. Skinner, Mr. and Mrs. Coldwick, Mr. and Mrs. Skinner, Mr. and Mrs. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Mur-phy, Mr. and Mrs. Lemon, and guests Mr. and Mrs. Strickler.

ROW TO BUY AND WHAT TO BUY.

WHAT EXPERIENCE TRACKED IS BEST.

There is something to consider in the daily expenses for the household necessities, which in the aggregate of the year amount to a good deal. The ethics of buying and selling seem to be for the vendor to get all he can, and for the purchaser to see that he don't get too much. But what is too much? It is almost the purchaser to see that he don't get too much. But what is too much? It is almost a profound question, and presents the strange paradox that the dearest in many things is often the cheapest. Certainly this is so in food where health is involved, and in reme-dies which restore health after it has been impaired. It is certainly so in clothing; for a cheap suit that will hardly last one season is dearer than the one which will last two sea-sons, the difference in price being reasonable. So in shoes, and the like. Recurring to the items of food and health, undoubtedly the most important, it is fored that villainous adulteration is what renders it cheaper, in much that is sold, and men are known who have spent thousands to be curved of disease, have suffered years of agony, and have triffed away their substance on worthless remedies. That which is testified to by thousands as be-ing an absolute cure, and permanently effica-cious, is cheap at any price in comparison with such as have no virtue, and which pro long suffering. A case in point is the follow-ing: "New Bloomfield, Pa., April 26, 1886. The Charles A. Vogeler Co., Baltimore, Md. Gentlemen:—For more than thirty years I had been afflicted with rheumatism so severe I had to use morphine to secure rest at night. Spent hundreds of dollars with physicians and for remedies without benefit. Five years ago I tried St. Jacobs Oil, and it effected an entire and permanent cure. I have not been troubled with it since. Cold or damp weather entire and permanent cure. I have not been troubled with it since. Cold or damp weather does not affect me at all. I desire to give it my unqualified indorsement. J. E. Bonsall, clerk dorsement. J. E. Bonsall, clerk of the several courts of Perry county, Pa." The point here is not so much what Mr. Bonsall paid for the great remedy for pain, for the price is a mere bagatelle, but that he was cured permanently after thirty years' suffering. Of course the poor must court cost the poor must count cost in everything; but they should reckon on the sound basis that that which is bed is worthless, and that which is the best and will cure, and stay cured, is cheap at any

WHAT AM I TO DO?

The symptoms of billiousness are un-happily but too well known. They differ in different individuals to some extent. A billious man is seldom a breakfast eat-er. Too frequently, alas, he has an ex-cellent appetite for liquids but none for solids of a morning. His tongue will hardly bear inspection at any time; if it is not white and furred, it is rough at all events.

To correct all this if not effect a cure try GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER; it costs but a trifle and thousands attest its efficacy.

WASTE OF TISSUE WITHOUT REPAIR. Vigor begins to decline when dyspepsia in vades the stomach. The disease, prolonged through neglect, entails grievous loss of flesh and serious waste of the muscular tissue. To invigorate thoroughly and speedily, a sound stomachic is required. There is none compar-able to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, since if in-stitutes, and, if continued, perpetnates a repair of the tissues, which have declined in bulk, vigor, and elasticity in coussequence of non-assimilation of the food. No time should be lost in beginning the reparative process, nor should there be any delay in removing those ailments of frequent occurrence, which dom tribute to and foster an enfeebled condition of the stomach and nerves, viz : constipation and liver complaint, disorders which the Bitters, and is a prime suriliary in the recovery of the stomach and nerves, tiz : constipation and liver complaint, disorders which the Bitters, and prevents malarial and kidney troubles, and is a prime suriliary in the recovery of strength for convalescents from wasting dis-ease. rades the stomach. PILES CAN BE CURED.

WESTFIELD, N. Y., May 18, 1885. For thirty-two years I have suffered from piles, both internal and external, with all their attendant agonies, and like many another suf-fered from hemorrholds. All those thirty-two years I had to eramp myself to pay doctors and druggists for stuff that was doing me little or no good. Finally I was urged by one who had had the same complaint, but had been cured by Brandreth's Pills to try his cure. I did so, and began to improve, and for the past two years I have had no inconvenience from that terrible allment.

CARE OF POULTRY HOUSES.

In consideration of the acknowledged value of hen manure, as the winter approaches, especially in' all cases where fowls have had their freedom during the summer, provision should be made for the careful saving of all the manure that is dropped by the fowls. If dry sand or loam can be secured for spreading over the floor under the perches, there should be a quantity secured in barrels or boxes convenient for use. There should also be barrels or boxes handy for receiving the accummulations as they are gathered up. If sand or earth are not at hand, sawdust affords an excellent substitute, and, on some accounts, is preferable to anything else, because of being less cold to the feet in freezing weather. The floor under the perches should be spread with the sawdust or earth so as to catch the droppings, with which they will become mixed, and when the mixture is pretty well charged with the manure it should be swept up and put away for future use. Boxes for sand and ashes for sand baths should be provided, as heas will be enabled to ward off vermin. A little sul-phur mixed with the sand and ashes will assist in the work. If poultry is expected to pay it must be attended to .- [From the Germantown Telegram.

A FASHIONABLE FREAK.

A yellow wedding is one of the latest freaks. The bridesmaids are in yellow, the decorations yellow, the laces yellow, the flowers yellow; everything, in short, but the bride, who is, of course, all white, wears that jaundiced hue. The effect is somewhat trying, and more suggestive of a rousing billous attack than the gentle, amorous scene a fashionable marriage ceremony seeks to be. However, any-thing for a change.-[Boston Herald.

A GENUINE SURPRISE.

On Friday night the friends of Sam Adolph and wife "ran in" on them at their elegant residence on State street, Traveler, after Sam and his family had all retired. and gave them a veritable surprise. The party all pushed their way into the house before Sam knew what was happening, and his ejaculations, "Mammy," (mean-ing Mrs. Adolph.) "Mammy, vats de matter; vats up mid der beebles, tell me dot?" created a big laugh. However he soon took in the situation and 'the visitors, and the evening was spent very pleasantly in dancing, and the discussion of a bountiful luncheon that the party had brought with them, and of the choicest selections from Mr. Adolph's well stocked wine cellar. There were present Wm. Anderson, wife and daughter, Henry Haas, wife and two daughters, Mr. Amidon and wife, Geo. Shreiver and wife, Wm. Chambers and wife, R. Ford and wife, and M. Gwinn and Ed. Wade.

PRAISE YOUR WIFE.

Praise your wife, man; for pity's sake give her a little encouragement; it won't hurt her. She doesn't expect it; it will make her eyes open wider than they have for the last ten years; but it will do her good for all that, and you, too. There are many women to-day thirsting for a word of praise and encouragement. You know that if you can take from a drawer a clean shirt whenever you want it some body's fingers have toiled. Why don't you come out with it heartily. "Why how pleasant you make things look, wife," or "I am obliged to you for taking so much pains." If you gave a hundred and sixteenth part of the compliments you almost choked them with before they were married; if you would stop the badinage about whom you are going to have when No. 1 is dead (such things wives may laugh at, but they sink deep sometimes), fewer women would lumbus Telegram.

REWARDED FOR HIS TROUBLE.

As the audience was leaving the theater an over-dressed would-be dude threw away the cigar he had just lighted, and raising his hat to a charming-looking, but unprotected American lady, he said : "Can I call a cab?"

A faint look of astonishment on the lady's face was followed by a smile and a faintly murmured: "Merci."

When the cab was secured the gentle-man, handing the lady in, asked in an insinuating tone of voice: "Where shall we drive to ?"

The lady gave an address, and while The lady gave an address, and while the male party communicated the same to the driver she stepped inside, closed the door, and telling the coachman to drive on, presented the insingating stran-ger with a two-sous piece. The horrified look on the man's face as he gazed steadily at the coin was a study for an artist.—[Paris Gaulois.

DIAMONDS FOR A SINGER.

Between Miss Lizzie Annandale, the talented contraito of Emma Abbott's Opera company, and the telegraph operators of this country there exists a tie of friendship that for earnestness, honesty, and constancy is not only true and effective, but beautiful. In all the larger cities and towns they pay her marked attention, and repeatedly show their appreciation of what she did for them in a critical time with many acts of kindness, but no where does she receive such gifts as the telegraph boys of Omaha bestow upon her. It will be remembered that one year ago the Western Union force sent the handsomest floral offering to Miss Annandale that was ever handed across the footlights to any artist, but last night they eclipsed in their outburst all the presentations that have ever been made to that charming lady. At the close of her solo number "Hand to Hand and Heart to Heart," in the second act, she not only received a magnificent basket of flowers, but an elegant diamond studded pin. The gift is a star and crescent set with stones of the first water. This token, the fair recipient says, she will prize as the most valuable piece of property in her possession. It almost took her breath away. Following is her reply to the boys, and they were nearly all there.

To the Omaha Telegraphers : My very dear friends, collectively and individually :- Words fail to express the feelings of gratitude and pride I feel in being the recipient of your lovely gifts of flowers and diamonds.
