

War Dims Great White Way

The Great White Way of New York's Times Square virtually surrendered to the night as army dim-out orders threw the switches of famed electric signs.

Committee to Handle Recreation at Camp

Association Is Formed To Administer Duties

The executive committee of the Camp Adair recreational organization met Monday morning in the coordinator's office, at which time they discussed final plans of the ticket selling for the dance being held for the engineers and employees from Camp Adair the latter part of this month at Corvallis. Ticket sales have been very satisfactory to date, they report, and the appearance at this time is that it will no doubt be one of the successful social ventures of this group.

The money derived from the dance will be used to defray expenses and equipping softball teams representing Camp Adair, and any residue therefrom will be maintained in an account now being established that will be used according to the wisdom of the executive committee for future endeavors. At the end of the construction period, equipment and facilities so purchased by the association will be turned over to the soldiers serving at Camp Adair and become the property of the army.

Anyone wishing to attend the dance will have to secure their tickets before going to the Memorial building, on the Oregon State college campus, as there will not be a sale of tickets to the public at the dance hall itself. Sale of tickets is being conducted from various points — principally by James Guy and committee—in the personnel division of the engineers,

Administration building, Camp Adair.

H. C. Johnson, coordinator in the Administration building, was elected president of the newly organized association and James Guy was elected treasurer. Virginia Winston was elected recording secretary.

If you are working on the construction at Camp Adair or if you are connected with the engineering division and don't attend this dance, you are quite sure to miss one of the high-lights of the season.

Here's to the 30 men from Newberg who have hired their own bus!

Let your conscience prick you if you're riding to camp alone.

Don't be one to get caught driving carelessly on the highway.

Paper Cement Sacks Available for Sand

Given Away for Part In Defense Program

Paper cement sacks can be had at Camp Adair free, according to H. C. (Sven) Johnson, coordinator. They make ideal containers for sand to be used in bomb defense, Mr. Johnson says, when filled with sand and kept in the home attic.

Anyone interested can get the necessary information from the coordinator's office, Mr. Johnson suggests that defense committees of nearby communities could get the sacks at the camp in large numbers for distribution to homes in their respective areas.
