"I used to know Mr. Smithers, who was with your firm. I understand that is a tried and trusted employee."

The banker looked at his questioner coldly. "He was trusted, yes; and he will be tried, if we're fortunate enough to catch him."

A wife while engaged in going thru her husband's pockets found a small visiting card on which was neatly written, "Alice Gray, Chelsea 4421." She confronted her husband with it and he said hurriedly:

"Why Alice Gray is the fastest little three-year-old on the tracks—a race horse on whom I've made a couple of bets. I made the bets thru the Chelsea betting office and 4421 stands for her odds in the next race, of course."

"I'm sorry, John, I'm mean to suspect you."

The next day she met him at the door with a steely gleam in her eye.

"What's the trouble now," asked her husband.

"Oh, nothing, only your race-horse called up this afternoon and left her number."

"Did any of you children ever see an elephant's skin?"

"Oh yes, teacher," said Willie brightly.

"How nice, where is it?"

"On the elephant," said Willie.

Old Uncle Henry was asked to contribute to the church.

"Ah, can't do it suh, I owe too much money. I'se gotta be just before I is generous."

"Yes, I know, but you owe God a larger debt than you do anyone else."

"That am so, but he ain't a-pushin' me like my other creditors."

"Well son, what did you learn in Sunday school today?"

"I learned about a cross-eyed bear, named 'Gladly'."

"Why I never heard of such a thing."

"Well it is a song and it goes: 'Gladly the cross I'd bear.'"

During the Civil War, one of the gun-boat contractors was impressing upon Mr. Lincoln the great superiority of his boats because they would run in such shallow water.

"Oh, yes," replied the president, "I've no doubt they'll run anywhere the ground's a little moist!"

An Italian was being examined for naturalization as a United States citizen.

"Who is president of the United States?"

The foreigner answered correctly.

"And who is vice-president?"

Again he answered correctly.

"Could you be president?"

"No, I could not."

"And why?"

"Mister, you 'scuse me, pleas. I vera busy—worka da mine all day now."

"You look depressed, my friend. What are you thinking of?"

"My future."

"What makes it seem so hopeless?"

"My past."

had to answer numerous questions about himself, his past, and habits. Finally the examiner asked:

"You don't dissipate, do you? Not living fast, or doing anything in excess?"

The little man hesitated and then replied timidly.

"Well sometimes, I chew a piece of gum."

Old Lady: "Shame on you, child, for smoking in this restaurant; I would just as soon get drunk as be caught smoking."

Bright-young thing: "Well, who wouldn't."
