

OFFICIAL U. S. TREASURY WAR BOND QUOTAS FOR JULY

The above map of Oregon shows the War Bond quotas, by counties, for the month of July, 1942. Total War Bond quota for the state is $8,865,000. With the National quota total placed at a billion dollars, the nation goes into high gear in its support of the War financing and to give our fighting forces adequate implements of war which will bring ultimate Victory. American Soldiers, Sailors, Marines and Airmen are on every front. They are giving 100 percent for their country. What are we doing here on the home front? Are we lending at least ten percent of income to help them? It's very little. But to fight this war successfully our country needs a billion dollars in War Bonds every month from us—the People. Let's Go, America. U. S. Treasury Department

Power Company Holds Election of Officers

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Mountain States Power company held June 25, at the offices of the company in Albany, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Z. E. Merrill, president; W. L. Fitzpatrick, vice president and secretary; A. W. Trimble, vice president and treasurer; John Ford, asstant secretary; J. J. Madden, assistant secretary; B. E. Lee, assistant treasurer; P. A. Lehmkuhl, assistant treasurer. The following directors were present for the meeting: E. R. Bryson, Eugene; Ben F. Dorris, Springfield; N. E. Irvine, Lebanon; W. D. Johnston, Casper, Wyoming; Z. E. Merrill, Albany; Fred C. Kellogg, Madison, Wisconsin; E. W. Williamson, Albany. Due to illness, B. E. Lee, vice president and treasurer of the company since April, 1940, tendered his resignation to the above office subject to the pleasure of the board of directors. In accepting Mr. Lee's resignation, the board elected A. W. Trimble, assistant treasurer, to the office of vice president and treasurer, and also retained Mr. Lee as assistant treasurer.

WATCHING THE BLIND SORT RIVETS FOR BOMBERS

HOW the blind are helping to win the war was the stirring subject as told to Frazier Hunt, noted war correspondent and CBS news analyst, by Carmin Campanella, a young man who was born blind. Campanella is pictured above sorting rivets for bombers as Frazier Hunt looks on at the Lighthouse, New York Association for the Blind. These rivets were formerly sweptings in airplane factories, but now due to the shortage of aluminum they are collected and shipped to the Blind Headquarters for sorting. "There are about 200,000 rivets used in the manufacture of a single bomber," said Campanella, "and there are about fifty sizes and types. These swept-up rivets which have been dropped by workmen, come to us in barrels and we separate them into their various types and sizes. It is because blind people have such sensitive fingers that they are able to do this work better than a man who can see. "Women at the blind headquarters are doing their share in knitting for the soldiers," said Campanella. "Many of them are taking courses in first aid. Blind men are also working in aircraft plants where they operate bearing and slotting machines," continued Campanella, "there are blind men filling Navy contracts as cable stripping and cable covering operators and there are also dictaphone secretaries working in a sound-detecting manufacturing company and in a company making machine-gun parts."

Managing for Victory Is College Offering

An adult education class with discussions centering in ways in which homemakers can patriotically manage their households, is to be opened soon for the women of Corvallis and surrounding towns. The first meeting will be held on Tuesday, July 7, and the classes will continue each Tuesday and Thursday afternoon until July 23. The time is from 2 to 3:30 o'clock and the place is room 122 of the home economics building on the Oregon State college campus. Mrs. Mildred Wrigley Wood of Phoenix, Ariz., nationally known in adult education, will lead the group.

Reserve a place for yourself in this class by calling College 620, Campus 122, between the hours of 8 to 12 or 1 to 4 o'clock. Come and be a "Victory Planner!"

First Church of Christ, Scientist Van Buren and Sixteenth Streets Services are held every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, and Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. The Wednesday evening meeting includes testimonies of healing in Christian Science. Sunday School convenes at 9:30. The reading room is located at 232 South Second St., and is open week days from 10 to 5.
