More than $700 in cash was turned over to Capt. Frank C. Winter (center), camp athletic officer, for recreation equipment by R. M. Robson (left), general superintendent of Four Builders, Col. George C. Ferch, camp executive officer, looks on. The money represented voluntary donations by employees of the Four Builders organization to make things easier for soldiers who will occupy barracks built by these mechanics and laborers.

Finance Bowling Pair Cut-Figures M.I. Duo

The Camp Adair finance department's bowling duo of Col. Wood and Lt. Langhauser eked out a three-pin victory over Major Riordan and Lt. Godfrey of the M. I. section at the Corvallis alleys Monday night. The totals for the three game match were Finance 833 and M. I. 824.

But, according to an enthusiastic gallery, the score doesn't tell half the story. Soon after the opening pin, pardon, we mean opening frame, the contest developed into a duel between Col. Wood and his "nothing ball" and Major Riordan and his sweeping curve. The regrettable fact that both bowlers were in the "rut" most of the time, did not detract from the excitement in the least. A return engagement is a foregone conclusion. That they will play to a full house is just as foregone.

(Editorial note:) Our regular bowling reporter being AWOL Monday night, the above play by play account was furnished by an officer expectantly awaiting his voucher from the finance department.

'Detail at Seven' is Set Back for Fight

A ringside description of the Ray Robertson—"Cowboy" Ruben Shank welterweight fight at Madison Square garden will be broadcast by Mutual and KWIL Friday night at 7 o'clock. Robertson and Shank are the top contenders in their class and the winner of the bout will undoubtedly get a go at the championship belt late in the fall.

To avoid conflict with the broadcast of the fight, "Detail at Seven," the Camp Adair radio show usually heard at 7 on Friday evening has been rescheduled for release at 8:45 immediately preceding the Newspaper of the Air. KWIL is 1240 on your dial.

Camp Adair Boxers Wanted for Program

The athletic officer wants to schedule a series of boxing bouts in the camp.

If you have boxed, want to box, or even think you can box, get in touch with the athletic officer's office in building T-7-502. Ask for Corporal Jim Shackleton, the Mike Jacobs of Camp Adair.

Dallas Presbyterian Church Gives Picnic

Turkey Dinner Served To 40 Adair Soldiers

A caravan of automobiles — instead of G.I. trucks — left Camp Adair last Sunday morning and headed toward Dallas, the occasion being a picnic arranged and given for the enlisted men by the families of the Dallas Presbyterian church and their pastor, the Rev. Wagener. Nearly 40 enlisted men were among the guests who numbered nearly 200 persons. The Dallas city park was the setting for the affair.

The ladies of the church prepared a delicious turkey dinner, with all the trimmings, and all signs of bashfulness vanished as the turkey, cranberry sauce, dressing, salads, cakes and pies (to mention only a part of the menu) made the rounds of the tables. Before dinner the tables literally groaned with food; after, the soldiers figuratively groaned with food.

Swimming in the fresh-water pool, sun bathing and conversation were after-dinner diversions. Eastern soldiers exhibited their aquatic prowess . . . but found that the westerners can swim, too.

Corporal Plays Golf In Eugene Tournament

Just before going to press this morning an excited yardbird rushed into the office with the deathless information that one Corporal Tinkham of Camp Adair was competing in a golf tournament at Eugene.

Time is too short to check further. We can only wish Corporal Tinkham the best of luck and again remind our readers that we're always anxious to hear about soldier activities, in sports or anything else. Just get in touch with the camp Public Relations office.
