

Camp Corporal Sings His Way to New Wife

Gal Couldn't Take It When Told of Wedding

Love's old sweet song, as sung by Corporal Lyle B. Heitz at a military wedding here, carried all the way to San Francisco.

Just as he hit the last note of "O Promise Me," at the wedding of Second Lieut. George F. Bishop of the 96th division and Miss Gloria Wallace, of Chickasha, Okla., he was called to the telephone.

It was Miss Rosemary Renegar calling to say that she would fly to Vancouver and if the corporal would meet her there they could be married right away. His letter about the other wedding had made up her mind.

The lieutenant's wedding was the first in the Field Artillery chapel here, and it took place at 2 p.m., with Chaplain Howard H. Patrick officiating. The corporal's wedding took place at 2 a.m., (the following morning), before a justice of the peace.

The lieutenant's bride wore a white chiffon gown fashioned with a high neck and trimmed with lace, and a finger-tip length veil of tulle, and she carried a white Bible and orchids. She was given in marriage by Major John P. Daley, commanding officer of the lieutenant's battalion.

The bride of the corporal, who would be enjoying a music scholarship at Columbia university, New York city, except for this war, was in a military suit of cadet blue, with gold shoulder straps and a matching cap of blue trimmed with gold. She carried a bridal bouquet of red and white roses.

Jewish Soldier Has Testament for Gift

While Pvt. Samuel Duboff was strolling in Salem he was approached by an old man, who held out a little book and begged him to accept it as a souvenir and token of regard. The old man, Gomer Olson, 87, explained that he was in the habit of making such gifts to soldiers and would consider it a favor if Duboff would take the book.

It was a New Testament, in a binding of boards — real wooden boards — that the old gentleman fashioned himself. On the fly-leaf he had written, "A souvenir to one of our defenders." Pvt. Duboff, a Jew, will cherish the gift as a sign of the patriotic feeling in this section. Pvt. Duboff was a general insurance broker in New York and is now engaged in the camp war bond campaign.

Corvallis Lions Plan Party for Camp Lions

Inviting all members of Lions clubs who are now stationed at Camp Adair, the Corvallis Lions club is giving a stag party Friday night. Dinner will be served at 7 o'clock at the Hotel Corvallis. A program has been arranged by Matt Mathes, Corvallis florist.

Officers Start Club In Battalion of 96th

Officers of a Field Artillery battalion in the 96th division have formed a club for social purposes and "to mutually discover each others' strengths and weaknesses so that we may increase the former and guard the latter."

The officers of the officers' club include Lt. Col. Robert L. Lewis, president; Major Robert Jamieson, entertainment committee chairman; Capt. Peter J. Van Loben Sels, treasurer; Lt. Raymond M. Murphy, secretary.

Lions who wish to attend should call Capt. F. J. Smith at the camp quartermaster's office who will let the committee know the number to expect.
