SECOND GUESSING

with
Cpl. E. A. Brown

"The Brooklyn ball club will lose the pennant because the players are quitters" — quotes from Larry MacPhail.

We'd better hurry up and say it before he makes good his threat to accept an army commission which would automatically make us guilty of disrespect to a superior officer — so here goes.

Larry MacPhail, pop-off president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, is a sore head, a bum loser, and a bigger bum than any one of "dem Brooklyn bums" he controls. We say this with full realization that many Brooklyn fans — and there are a lot of them in camp — will agree with MacPhail that the Dodgers dogged it when the going got tough, but that's beside the point.

It's the privilege and prerogative of the baseball fan to howl bloody murder when his team hits the skids. And if it wasn't he'd do it anyway, but it's pretty poor sportsmanship on the part of the boss to do it. This is particularly so in MacPhail's case because when his team was ten games out in front he was taking all the bows for being the genius behind the great work.

Of course he's disappointed, but so are the players. They have a lot more at stake, financially speaking, than the noisy red head from Flatbush. It's our bet that they haven't given up the fight even if their boss has.

It is with mingled feelings that this corner breaks down a and includes horseshoes as a sporting activity, but pressure has been brought to bear by spectators of the shoe pitching that goes on around Headquarters company.

These spectators (they're the same fellows we used to see in civil life standing around watching the steam shovels) assert that a czar of horseshoe hurling should be appointed. The first duties of this Judge Landis of the shoes, should be, they say, reducing the score of a game from the traditional 21 to maybe five or six. In the case of such rank tyros as Cpl. "Watch-this-one" McCormick, and Sgt. "Iverson's Swamp" Iverson the score should be lowered to one or two at the most. This, say the kibitzers, might result in a complete game during the noon siesta period.

Pvt. Wilfred de Toncourt, who owes this paper a debt of gratitude for recovering his store teeth for him after he thoughtlessly left them in a post chapel, finds time to worry about the forthcoming Conn-Louis prizefight. Says Cap: "They should either make Pvt. Billy Conn a sergeant or break Sgt. Joe Louis to a private before the bout. What would happen if Sgt. Louis should order Pvt. Conn to stand at attention?"

Probably just what will happen anyway, Cap, if you're really asking.

Injuries Take Star From All-Star Team

Hard luck has returned Lt. George (Doc) Carter to Camp Adair from the Army All-star football squad, now playing on the east coast.

Lt. Carter, one-time star end for Mississippi State, suffered a badly bruised right thigh that incapacitated him for further gridiron activities. He was one of seven soldier grid stars released by Head Coach Colonel Bob Neyland last week.

Tent Area Men Have Press Representation

By Pfc. J. M. Lewis, Tent Area

The native returns... Pvt. Allen E. McMann, who left Portland when he was 15, recently went back there to see what the old place was like. To his surprise, the house where he had lived was still standing, but the memory he will cherish concerns a German lady across the street.

Although her vision is poor and her voice cracked, and her native land is at war with the United States, she recognized him and also wished him luck. Pvt. McMann went through high school at Oakland, Calif., and majored in physical education. He had basic training at Camp Walters, Tex.

Pvt. G. D. Earley, former track star at Lincoln University, was studying to be a pharmacist when Uncle Sam called. He likes to sing, plays the harmonica, and thinks army life is swell.

The reason Pvt. Denver Hobson sings day and night is that he hears, regularly and frequently, from Hobson's choice — his wife. When the war is over he wants to go back to that wife and their child, now 18 months old.

Catholic Mass is held every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, in the chapel building T-6-626. Walk in cadence and it takes 15 minutes.

Tent City's theme song: "In the beauty of the lilies Christ was born across the sea, With a glory in His bosom that transfigured you and me; As He died to make men holy let us die to make them free, His truth is marching on."

Maj. Ayers Guest at Albany Rotary Lunch

Major Rudolph J. Ayres accompanied H. C. Johnson, coordinator, to the Albany Rotary club luncheon Friday of last week, where the major delivered a very interesting and informative talk.

The major is a Rotarian, holding membership in the LaGrande, Ore., Rotary club.

Beebe Kayos Tiger At Elks Club Shindig

The Elks club got together in Corvallis last Thursday and had themselves a whale of a time. That's what the applause they gave the Camp Adair entertainers indicated anyway. Pvt. Barney Tiger and Pvt. Earl Beebe started things rolling with a brief but exciting prizefight. Barney bowled to Earl after a cross-hook in two minutes of the first round.

Pfc. Andy Dahl plunked a tuneful banjo. Pvt. James Mantinhand doubled in Debussy and "An Old Sow." Pvt. Jack Gates did a pantomime of a young lady preparing her toilet—very funny. Cpl. Lawrence Perez whistled "Indian Love Call" with trills—very pretty. Pfc. John Walsh added culture with Verdi's Aria from La Traviata—boomed out "Old Man River." Guess who finished the show? You're right, Pvt. Nick Sansonia was there—his accordion too.

Sun Tans Out of Bounds According to Order Which Lists 'Styles' at Camp

Well we all know that cotton sun-tan clothing went out, effective September 15, but for your information here are the complete uniform regulations as prescribed in the same memorandum.

Work clothing is official wear for all enlisted men, other than office personnel, except on guard or during ceremonies and formal military formations, Sundays and holidays or when on pass or furlough. Fatigue uniforms will not be worn after retreat in exchanges, service clubs or theaters (this last is a point to remember). The O.D. uniform, the blouse optional, will be worn at all other times. The O.D. blouse is to be worn by all when off duty outside the limits of the post. The shirt or the field jacket may be worn as the outer garment when traveling to or from an established residence beyond the limits of the reservation. Khaki ties will be worn at all times with the service uniform.

A word about headgear. The field hat (fatigue) will be worn, with the brim turned down all around, whenever in work clothes. It is permissible, however, to wear

Military Police Beat

By Cpl. Raoul Mound

The Oregon State Coach line, that runs between Camp Adair and Salem, is causing a lot of bewilderment! I don't know why, nor do I know the reason, but I certainly would like to know how the management of the bus line came to the amazing conclusion that a one-way ticket should cost seventy-four cents ($74) while a round trip ticket should cost seventy cents ($70). In other words if you travel twice the distance, you pay four cents ($04) less than if you only go one way! I would be grateful, and appreciate any information on this problem.

Last Saturday, without warning or invitation, eight medical officers of the Service Command appeared at the Provost Marshal's office with the not so surprising request that they accompany Lt. Julius Hale on his daily tour of inspection of the Military Police barracks. They made quite a thorough inspection, and the men of the M.P. detachment want to thank the officers for coming! The reason we are all so grateful and thankful that officers from other units come for inspection is that when one C.O. has his inspection alone he literally takes the place apart and sweats to the man that hasn't his bed, clothes and equipment clean and in perfect order!

Will Mrs. N. A. Paolucci, wife of Corporal Paolucci of the M.P., and mother of a brand new seven (7) pound baby girl, please inform her very proud husband what she intends doing about naming the baby. The reason all the boys are so anxious to have the baby's name is that Nick won't hand out cigars until he himself knows the new arrival's name!

So please, Mother Paolucci, don't keep us waiting too long.

Ill Sergeant's Wife Cheers Up Patients

Patients in Ward 403, Station hospital, will not soon forget the regular visits during the past two weeks of the pretty 20-year-old wife of Sgt. Alfred Ledbetter, 96th division. Aldena Ruth, whose home is in San Fernando, Calif., not only cheered up her husband but had nearby bed patients smiling broadly for the first time in days or weeks.

Naturally the proud young husband beamed throughout the visits, for his bride of six months was surely one of the prettiest visitors yet seen in the hospital area.

THEY'LL DO TROJAN MASTER-MINDING

Fire Hits Corvallis Army Tailor's Plant

Fire Tuesday morning, which started in the house next door, caused smoke and water damage at the Army Cash Tailors, 1520 Jefferson, Corvallis.

Firemen were able to protect much of the stock and succeeded in removing a large part of the customers' clothing.

Attractive Blondes Sell Bonds; And How!

Mrs. Loretta Dellzell, attractive blonde, and Miss Ethel Gardner, the same, are both employed at Post Engineers. During a few spare minutes the other day they really brought home the bacon. And how!

On their appointment as representatives for the War Bond officer of Camp Adair they were given 45 bond purchase application blanks, enough to care for their section. These ladies took their work seriously because before you could say, "save a little every pay day and you will have lots of bonds some day" they returned with all applications signed, sealed and OK for mailing.

Hats off to both Mrs. Dellzell and Miss Gardner and a pat on the back for the civilian employees at Post Engineers for their splendid co-operation.

Why not step up and say you want to sign-up on an application for pay roll deductions for War Bond purchase? Remember the Dellzell-Gardner team can't call on everyone at Camp Adair.

This War Wo'nt Last Forever!

Our Uncle Sam has made it possible for you to put away a part of your monthly income — if you want to — through allotment. You make out the forms and then forget it. When the War's over, you'll have a nice little nest egg to begin again your civilian life.

If it takes some sacrifice in spending and even if it cramps your style somewhat in your playing, get the idea solidly in your bean that you will be glad you did it — when you get back. Anything that's worth while, requires some sacrifice.

Uncle Sam has made the method easy. The decision is YOURS.

"KEEP UP THE HOMES WE'RE FIGHTING FOR"

— and Have a Nest Egg for That Home — When the War's Over!

Fragers are doing everything in their power to help homemakers "Keep Up the Homes We're Fighting For." We are providing wide selections in all household needs — when these things are off the markets. That's our job and we're working just as hard at it as you are working at yours. And we practice what we preach in this ad, too. We're proud to be your partners.
