

Telephone Co. Opening New Camp Call Center

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company's new Service Men's Telephone Center on Theatre Av. (Central Area) opposite the Theatre, will be ready to handle call Saturday, with formal opening ceremonies scheduled for next Monday, according to Calvin P. "Cal" Horn, Camp Telephone Manager for the Company.

Corvallis USO Club Nearing Completion

New Recreation Center Among Finest

The soon-to-be-completed USO club in Corvallis will provide recreation for men in uniform as a means of helping them adjust themselves to their new conditions of life with enthusiasm and high morale, say the United Service Organization leaders. Renovation and redecoration schemes are now in progress and the club will soon be operating at full swing.

who wish it. All calls will be placed with attendants, who will have information concerning rates and other-telephone matters. The waiting room at the Center will have tables, chairs, magazines, a large globe map, the current weekly newsmag, as well as telephone directories of practically all of the large cities in the United States.

troia and juke box. Members of the Corvallis Garden Club and other local women have been supplying flowers for decoration. Also, informal dances have been conducted here on Wednesday and Saturday nights. As more and more service men become acquainted with the building, more activities and entertainment will be introduced.

When the building is completed, it will be one of the finest USO centers in the vicinity of Camp Adair. The basement will continue to be the day lounge, and on this floor will also be showers and rest rooms for the men, powder rooms, snack bar and two hobby rooms. On the main floor will be a large ball room and auditorium, library and writing room. Wives of the service men will be interested to learn that the second floor will contain an attractive clubroom, kitchenette, sewing room and game room for their use.

A number of women and girls have already volunteered their services as hostesses and dance partners, and their organization bears the name "Victory Volunteers."

Military Police Beat

By Cpl. Raoul Mound

The following wordage has been suggested by the Provost Marshal, Captain Julius Hale.

It is requested that everyone, be it soldier or civilian, that drives a car on this Post, comply with the speed and traffic regulations that are being enforced. Of course we realize that it is difficult to keep your car traveling at 20 miles per hour, but as the Camp Commander suggested in last week's column, "Perhaps some of us will chafe a bit when we are in a hurry, and have to hold down to the limit. But we may be very thankful, when a year or so from now, we still have some rubber on our wheels and can go places, even though we have to start earlier in order to get there."

The words "START EARLIER" certainly answer any excuse you might have!

The parking lot is almost filled to capacity with impounded cars and the Provost Marshal will impound any and every car that is not registered on the Post. He is going to be very strict with anyone that receives a ticket to report to the Provost Marshal Office within certain hours and fails to do so.

Two months have elapsed since cars were required to be registered on the post and anyone buying a car will not bring it on the Post unless they have had it registered or are able to go directly to the Provost Marshal's office to have it registered.

Captain Hale is a very busy man and two-thirds of his day has been taken up explaining about the registration of cars.

Numerous bulletins have been published and there will be no more explaining! Cars will be impounded and the usual time is 30 days. However in rare cases there will be an indefinite period with no time limit.

This Little Calf Leads a Charmed Life, From Rags to Riches When Soldiers Came

A nine-week-old calf crops the grass in front of a field artillery battalion of the 104th Division. He is the mascot of the outfit which has a steer's head for its insignia. And keeping the headquarters' grass down to GI length is a duty which he gratefully performs.

For the calf which is stunted because of lack of food and water, probably wouldn't be here to b-a-a, if it were not for the tender care of his soldier attendants. Some time ago several privates of the outfit found the calf near one of the vacant farmhouses on the camp. It was starved—barely able to stand on its spindly legs. As Pvt. Michael Nickolite, leader of the group, puts it: "We hated to see anything go without water." So for a week Pvt. Nickolite and fellow herders carried water and food to the calf who waited for them near the farmhouse—more than a mile's walk from their company.

By this time the curiosity of their commander, Colonel U. P. Sannet, was aroused. "Where the hell are you going all the time," he inquired politely. The privates told him anxiously, from then on kept him informed of all progress until he yielded and gave them permission to haul the calf back as outfit mascot.

The calf's pen was up in an hour and he was as promptly named "Forward Ho"—the motto of the

Col. McCoy Speaker At Salem Chamber Urges Understanding Of Martial Problems

Cooperation and tolerance were urged by Col. Gordon H. McCoy, camp commander, in an address before the Salem Chamber of Commerce Monday. Col McCoy pointed the two qualities as the ones which must characterize the American war effort and the national attitude in order to insure victory.

batallion. The pen is now a spacious corral with an enclosed area to which Forward retires during bad weather. Clean sawdust forms a floor—a salt lick is standard equipment. Condensed milk and greens form a large part of Forward's diet—and he shows the first proud signs of an alderman.

The colonel is a bit worried about this. "We'll have to work that off when Forward goes back to duty. This is a fighting outfit and he's got to be broken to the lead. We want him to be able to do columns left and right—double time. Maybe even "to-the-rear march," he said hopefully.

Forward seemed to enjoy having his pelt scratched. Now he's got a complete grooming outfit. He was observed shivering. A blanket, with batallion insignia and motto, is being made. He moped one day, and a veterinary was sent for on the double. The vet's bored verdict—"a little drowsy, that's all." Soldiers breathed easier.

The other day—for the first time—Forward kicked up his heels in sheer joy of life. The colonel saw it happen from his window. "My men have actually loved him to death—I mean life," he pronounced. "You might add that the Timber Wolf Division knows how to take care of a sick calf—just as well as it knows how to 'stalk and kill'."
