'War Without Hate' Advice of Chaplain

Blackout of Religion Means no Real Peace

The idea that the importance of individual worshippers may increase as their number decreases was developed by Chaplain (Major) Loren T. Jenks, of the Timber Wolf Division, as guest preacher in the official Post Chapel, last Sunday.

Speaking to a congregation consisting of fewer than 30 soldiers the chaplain urged them all not only to be true to their faith but also to let other men see that they have it and stand by it.

Chaplain Jenks warned them that as hate and bitterness grow, inevitably, during the war, the world will need all the religion possible. Otherwise there can be no real peace later, he said. If there is a blackout of religion and religious feeling then there will be a blackout of all that makes life worth living.

"We can fight a war without hate," he said, reminding the soldiers that yielding to hate meant yielding to the very state of mind that enabled the aggressor nations to start the war. Every man's religion, he said, is like the light of a candle at night. If other lights go out, his still shines and as long as it shines the others may be rekindled. The dimming of other lights enlarges the responsibility of the few which shine.

CHAPLAIN'S COLUMN

Catholic chaplains of the 96th Infantry Division will sponsor a mission to be conducted in five chapels here beginning Monday and running through Friday. The mission will be conducted by priests of the Archdiocese of Portland.

Christian Science
"God the Preserver of Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Dec. 13.

The Golden Text, "In God is my salvation and my glory; the rock of my strength, and my refuge, is in God" (Ps. 62:7).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "In thee, O Lord, do I put my trust; let me never be ashamed; deliver me in thy righteousness. Thou art my hiding place; thou shalt preserve me from trouble; thou shalt compass me about with songs of deliverance" (Ps. 31:1, 32:7).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Clad in the panoply of Love, human hatred cannot reach you . . . Human hate has no legitimate mandate and no kingdom. Love is enthroned" (pp. 571, 454).

After an absence of several weeks, during which time he was taking an additional course of study at Chaplains school, Chaplain Lloyd V. Harmon is expected back within the next few days. The Post Chaplain will resume his post and will assume responsibility for special Christmas and New Year services. Efforts are being made to obtain special music talent to augment the soldier personnel for these programs.

The Glory of Democracy

THE sacrifices that are needed in order to win the war are apparent to us all.

The Treasury's appeals to buy War Bonds, the Government's pleas to conserve gas and rubber, the economies required to avoid inflation, the necessity of rationing many essential commodities—all these have become vital in the minds of our people.

Necessity has awakened us, not only to the size of the task before us, but to the fact that our future as a nation is at stake; and in characteristic fashion we-all are responding.

Our hearts speak, our purses are open wide; and regardless of creed, or color, or political convictions, our honest differences of opinion are being dissipated before the issue that confronts us.

This is the glory of democracy: that a man may think as he will, speak as he will, vote as he will, and worship God in his own way; yet in the hour of peril to the State, that which is for the greatest good of all is not only his most compelling thought but the strongest prompting of his heart.

In that hour his thought is no longer of himself but of his country; and it is as though his soul were crying out those memorable words of Plato: "Man was not born for himself alone but for his country."
