

Gen. Dunkel Outlines Civilian War Duties

Division Commander Talks to Eugene Club

An intimate glimpse into the life of a soldier at Camp Adair was given to members of the Kiwanis club of Eugene Monday by Brigadier General William C. Dunkel, artillery commander of the Timber Wolf Division. General Dunkel represented Major General Gilbert R. Cook, divisional commander, who was unable to be present.

"Soldiers today are teamed up with you people on the home front," General Dunkel pointed out. "You are providing, through your mills and factories, the tools with which this war will be won. Soldiers are learning how to use the tools most effectively against our enemies. Your part is fully as important as ours."

The spirit of the soldier was highly praised by General Dunkel. He pointed to the remark of one of the men of the Timber Wolf division, who said, "Let's learn fast, so we can get this war over fast."

The soldier of today is more serious than were the troops of the last war, General Dunkel said, and discipline presents no serious problem.

Not only better citizens, but in many cases, more intelligent citizens, will come out of the ranks of this war, it was stated. In addition to orientation and other courses offered the men, the few who cannot read nor write are taught to do this, he pointed out.

General Dunkel was introduced by Lt. George H. Godfrey, Camp Adair public relations officer.

Poem by Lassie of 12 Describes American Youth Effort in War

This may not quite be Kipling, but as the effort of 12-year-old Roberta (Bobby) Tiersky, of Chicago, who is a niece of a Pvt. Leonard Tiersky of HQ Co., SCU, it well expresses the feeling that the public is wholeheartedly supporting the man behind the gun in this current conflict. The poem has been submitted to the "Schools at War" scrapbook being made in Washington, D.C.:

Now I'm going to tell you what Our school has done for the war. You may have guessed that we're taking part By the flag on our schoolroom door.

Some of us bought war bonds and stamps.

Others brought in scrap; Still others brought in useless keys, To lick the German and Jap.

You all help "Mom" in the kitchen, I know that I've done that, And when you're through with the frying, Isn't there some waste kitchen fat?

Take this fat to your butcher, He'll know just what to do. He'll send it off for explosives, To safeguard me and you.

And now I have told you, What our school has accomplished. I know we will go on and on, 'Til the enemy is demolished.

That — Bobby — is the spirit. Thanks.

For Mercy's Sake

Post 'History' in Work By 'Our Own' Artist

The "history of Camp Adair," largely back in Tent City days of last summer, is told in water color sketches which are part of a display from works of Staff Artist, Pfc. Don Lynch, now adorning the newly-decorated Library of the just reopened Service Club No. 1.

The display, hung this week by Librarian Pvt. Stump, also includes originals of 12 Lynch cartoons which have appeared in the Sentry. Water color titles include "Of Swimmin' Hole," "Lecture Under Trees," Tent Interior."

Pfc. Lynch, a product of Arlington, N.J., studied at the Art Student's League in New York and for several years operated his own studios in New Jersey.

His cartoons, under title "Notes from a Soldier's Sketch Book" are well-known to the Post and have also elicited wide comment in other quarters. A few of the choicest—such as the "Oregon Webfoot" drawing which appeared in a December issue of the Sentry—have been reproduced in northwest newspapers.

A Busy Pfc.
Pfc. Lynch recently completed a set of murals for the SCU 1911 Officers' Club. He is at present working on another to be placed over the fireplace and has been "assigned" to complete some in tropical motif for the recently-opened Non-coms club.

"Our favorite cartoonist" also announces that plans are moving ahead rapidly for a "Soldier-Artist Work Shop" here, similar to those which have been launched with good success at other Army Posts. Cooperating in this new move (details later, Pfc. Lynch

TRY NO. 10 DOWNING STREET

The Camp postoffice has a letter addressed to Pvt. Winston Churchill. If there really is such a guy in camp, we would appreciate his dropping into the Sentry office on his way to claim the letter.

Private's Hen, Little Annette, Will Lay Two Eggs for General Yet

With American Forces in North Africa—(CNS)—A little black hen outranks the commanding general in an Army cook shack near here. The general was sipping a cup of coffee when Private George Neiberger, thirty-seven years old, of Clearlake, Highlands, Calif., said: "General, do you mind finishing your coffee outside? Annette wants to come in."

"Who is Annette?" asked the surprised officer.

"She's my little black hen," Private Neiberger explained soberly. "Every morning she comes in here and lays me an egg. She usually gets here at 9:30 on the dot each morning and finishes up by 10. But she's bashful and won't operate if any one stays in the cook shack with her."

So the general and the private shivered together in the cold wind outside while Annette did her bit for the American Army.

St. Patrick's Dance Sponsored by NCO's

Affair at New Club Termed 'Big Success'

The up-to-the-minute social event was last night's highly successful St. Patrick's Day Dance at the newly opened SCU 1911 Non-Com Club. Sure, and it was the wearing of the green on that gay St. Patrick's day. What with the freshly-creased OD's and the lassies with a touch of green in their hair or in their dresses!

This occasion, getting away from Erin momentarily, was the second large function sponsored by the new club since it opened on the first week in March. Largely responsible for the total success and general good time had by all were M/Sgt. William Carmichael, club president, and T/Sgt. E. A. Brown, member of the board of directors. "Bill" was the genial host and kept things moving, and "Brownie" was assisting with the receiving of club members and their guests.

T/Sgt. Bob Black's Bob Cats (with due apologies to that Crosby gent) gave out with the boogie beat and the dance-floor was properly initiated with the contact of GI shoes and high-heeled pumps.

The Tahitian Bar, one of the club's novel features, proved just that during the evening. It was really great fun while it lasted, only it didn't last long enough. So, the Non Coms of the Service Command Unit are looking forward to the next club function . . . and may it be soon!

At least 90 per cent of the bicycle industry's facilities are devoted to war production, making airplane parts, bombs and bomb parts, small arms and other articles of war.

Partially Completed Corvallis USO Opens With Many Facilities

A large portion of Adairmen are now acquainted with the numerous facilities to be found at the newly-opened USO Club in Corvallis. But for those who haven't dropped in to see what the club offers, here's a tip that it should be THE place to go when in town. There is a large lounge room, equipped with new furniture and trimmings with a large log-burning fireplace as a main attraction.

Then there's the large library which also houses the ping-pong tables (at present until the second-floor game room is finished) and the quiet and restful writing room. The entire building eventually will operate as a club, though at present, only a portion of the first floor has been completed. There will be a large combination auditorium-theatre-ballroom also on the main floor. USO officials expect the entire project to be finished in a few months. But at present, there is plenty there to shout about. Why not drop in?

Hospital Dietician, Therapy Aide, Given 2nd Lieutenants Bars

It's now Lt. Helen Johnson and Lt. Lydia Kuehler!

Yesiree. Commissioned this week as officers of the United States army were these two women who are at the Station Hospital. Both were Civil Service employees until the War Department granted furloughs for the duration and six months and commissioned them into the Army.

Lt. Johnson came to the Camp Adair Hospital on August 17 after working in several Portland hospitals as a dietetics expert. She hails from Corvallis and was graduated in '41 from Oregon State where she was a home economics major.

Lt. Kuehler came to Adair from Fitzsimmons General Hospital in Denver as a P.T.A. (physical therapy aide) on August 23. She was with the hospital in Denver for 11 years before which she was on the staff of Walter Reed General Hospital in Washington, D. C. Her alma mater is Washington State, where she majored in physical education.

'Invasion of Tunisia' Booked at Theatres

The Tunisia invasion in North Africa filmed in color and dealing with the first combat between Americans and Germans, will be shown at the Post Theatres, beginning March 21. It is unrehearsed, taken from actual battle and shows the soldiers under fire. It supplements the Abbot and Costello feature, "It Ain't Hay."

The film will be shown for two days each at the following Post Theatres: March 21-22 at theatres one and two; March 23-24 theatres three and four; and March 25-26 at theatre five.

The film was produced by Darryl F. Zanuck. It has not been made available to the public as yet.

Timber Wolf Medals To Rifle Marksmen

Blouses of the men in the Timber Wolf Division Signal Company are being worn more proudly these days as a result of the recent presentation of rifle marksmanship medals.

The decorations were presented by Company Commander Captain Vernon H. McKissick. Division Signal Officer Lt. Col. Ralph E. Willey was present at the ceremony.
