Q. What's the idea behind replacing brass buttons and insignias on our overcoats and blouses with plastic ones?

A. The change will make more metal available for war production. It is expected to result in a saving of 365,000 pounds of metal in 1943. The new plastic buttons are exact reproductions, are non-tarnishable and will not reflect light. As an additional step in metal conservation, manufacture of distinctive insignia for regiments, separate battalions, etc., will be discontinued.

Q. Where'd they get the name "torpedo" anyway?

A. Torpedo was named after a fish with an electric shock which numbs its victims.

Jack Holt of the movies, now a quartermaster captain at Ft. Warren, Wyoming, reports that his son, Tim Holt, also of the movies, is a bombardier cadet at Victorville, California.

A moron tied his hands behind his back so he could play the piano by ear.

A moron moved to the city because he heard the country was at war.
