NOTICE: There will be a special Salvation Army Service in Post Chapel No. 1 at 1930 (7:30 p. m.) on Sunday, April 4, 1943. Major Paul Bodine, Salvation Army worker, will be the speaker, and will bring several musicians with him from Portland. All are cordially invited to attend this service.

COMPETITION!

Although the 614th Quartermaster is housed in tents, the boys manage to keep up with current events. One of the officers issues a weekly bulletin written by hand and placed on the notice board. It is a roundup of the week's news.

Military Police Barracks Banter

By Pfc. Frank C. Martin
 This week's Barracks Banter will be devoted principally to the affairs of the Loving Hearts Matrimonial Agency, a thriving Oregon industry for the advancement of young love. The Loving Hearts Agency ostensibly conducts its business affairs from its principal office in Dallas, but rumor has it that a branch office has been opened within the Detachment—reportedly in the sacrosanct surroundings of the company orderly room. High point of the agency's activities was the successful fruition of the transcontinental romance of Pfc. Sam Black and his fiancée, Miss Gertrude Stokes. Those of us who were privileged to witness the climactic series of events leading to the fulfillment of this romance can attest to the drama of the action. Telegrams and long distance telephone messages for Black coming in over the orderly room phone at all hours of the day and night kept three successive charges of quarters in a high state of nervous exhaustion. The pressing problem of whether or not Gertie would arrive on time even had First Sergeant Jack Vinson tearing his hair. The relief of the company was great when Gertrude finally arrived and the marital vows were exchanged.

Not to be forgotten in the rush of events is the entry into the marital state of Private Raymond Hamilton, a man with the appearance of a confirmed bachelor but with the technique of a Casanova.

On the verge of taking the fatal step are privates first class Roy Langdon and Alma Larson who reputedly are contemplating a double wedding at an early date. Any other cases developing in the Detachment will be given due publicity as soon as the next report comes in from the local representative of the Loving Hearts Matrimonial Agency.

THE Q. M. LAMENT

I think that I shall never see
 Another soldier quite like me!
 Right face! Left face! I'm so confused!
 No one knows how I'm abused!
 The Q.M. made me what I am,
 And that's not worth a tinker's
 dam!
 Yard-birds are made by men
 like these
 But only God can make M.P.'s!

In line with a contest currently being conducted in the pages of the Sentry, namely the "Billfold Girl Contest," certain citizens of prominence in and about the Detachment are considering a "Girl on the Shelf" photograph contest to select the most beautiful young lady gracing the shelves of the four company barracks. The Barracks Banterer is heartily in accord with any such enterprise and will even go so far as to nominate a choice which will be mighty hard to beat. That choice occupies a very prominent niche on the shelf above the bunk of Pfc. Norman Arter. She is the lovely Marion Lapham, a California rose from the heart of San Francisco. Visitors to the first barracks will readily attest to her beauty which rivals that of Venus and Helen of Troy. It is rumored that Marion will visit Camp Adair in the near future. O, tempores! O, mores!

 Oh, Norman!

Nominations for Army War College: After due consideration of the eligible candidates, we have come to the conclusion that there are only two men in the Detachment worthy of this distinction—the military experts of the company, Corporals Armand Addonizio and Irving Altwarg. Regardless of the situation, whether the Allies have suffered reverses or whether they in turn have pushed the Axis forces back, Addonizio and Altwarg readily interpret each succeeding move of the opposing forces according to the strategic significance of the action. G-2 must have openings for men like these .... if only for them to fall through!

It appears that in the last minute rush to meet publication deadlines, the promotion of Pfc. Ivan Larson to the rank of Technician 5th Grade was inadvertently omitted from the Sentry's columns. Now the last thing any of us want to do is to overlook one of the Larson boys. There are so many of them! Furthermore, with the exception of Burton Larson, they are pretty husky and they wield considerable influence in the kitchen. It would be a fate worse than death to sit down to a meal in the M.P. mess hall, knowing that the Larson boys were drawing straws to determine which would have the privilege of putting arsenic in your soup. So we say in all sincerity: Long Live the Larsons! May there never be any straw in their kitchen!

UNDER FIRE . . . The range is taking a beating these days. Coffin Butte directly behind the targets has been pushed back several inches and still retreating. Under Lt. Pete A. Lafka of sunny? California, and Lt. Willis M. Parrish, of Richmond, Virginia, the Headquarters Company men are constantly firing away, fearless and determined, to make the grade. . . . Although many have never fired before, being guided properly, they are confident and giving a good account of themselves. The NON-COMS who failed to qualify should contact some of our rookies for after school instruction. Namely Pvt. James L. McKenzie who shot ten BULLS EYE'S out of ten rapid fire shots from a standing position. You can find him any night at our NON-COM Club keeping in shape. He is our bartender.

ATTENTION GIRLS . . . Our spacious, luxurious Club at Ave. D and 2nd St. North, is open to all attractive females nightly. We feature dancing, beer and cokes, and the handsomest soldiers to be found anywhere. (Finders keepers) The body beautiful is represented by and in the shape of Sgt. Bangle, Sgt. Iverson, Sgt. McCormick (voted the answer to a maiden's prayer), Sgt. Sachs, formerly of Boston and Colby university fame, the reason why girls leave home, and Sgt. Nickey Sansonia . . . the reason they come back . . .

"FRANKSTEIN, DRACULA, & THE HUNCHBACK OF NOTRE DAME" . . . It was merely co-incidental that the following soldiers resembled the above named characters, as they sat in the lobby of Headquarters Bldg., waiting for something to happen. Sgts. Gunn, Lipscomb, Mattingly and Cpls. Gerity and Orton. Indeed they were a sad looking lot, but it was not for the usual reason, of being shipped out, restricted to Camp, or being Charge of Quarters on a night when Mary, Josephine and Ophelia are in the Pink and ready to go . . . They were to be pallbearers at a soldier's funeral. We mourn our loss—

FOR ENLISTED MEN ONLY
 . . . Sign on door is self explanatory, but not the only reason the boys walk up a flight of stairs at Post Headquarters. Alongside the door is the Civilian Personnel Office where Camp Adair's most beautiful females are busy at work . . . You can hardly blame the boys as they march up the stairs always "EYES RIGHT," for within their vision but not reach, are seated the most luscious, vivacious and charming personalities, Miss Marvel Coon, Eileen Green, Margaret Toppano, Marion Jackson, Florence Ayers, Elizabeth Rowell, Esther Friese, and the Mrs.'s Harwood, Duigood, Bates, Gustafson, and many others whose names escape me at the moment. (Is that possible?) . . . WHAT THEY DON'T KNOW IS THAT SEATED DIRECTLY OPPOSITE THE DOOR IS MAJOR RIORDAN'S DAUGHTER, MISS ALA RIORDAN, GETTING A GOOD LOOK AT THE GOLD BRICKS. (Loafers to yuz Civilians).
