

"Soldier, what are you trying to do to my daughter?"—Pfc. Elmer Haugen, 363th Inf., 91st Division.

"Well, Pvt. Filbert, how are you getting along with Sgt. Henry?"—Pvt. Syd Fossum, 882nd FA, 70th Division.

Thanksgiving Plans For Post Revealed

(4) Nearby communities will again play host to Camp Adair men at home dinners. Men interested are urged to contact any of the USO or Service Men's Clubs in the communities.

(5) Mess halls throughout the Post will serve turkey dinners and mess sergeants will really have an opportunity "to do it up brown."

Football Game!

(6) Highlighting Trailblazer athletic activity for the day will be a touch football game between the Division Artillery Champions and the 276th Infantry. The game is scheduled for 1430, on the Field Artillery gridiron.

(7) Service Clubs will hold open-house throughout the day with special activities reserved for afternoon and evening. At 3 p. m. the SCU Military Band will be presented in a concert at Service Club 1. At Service Club 1, a show and radio broadcast, Trailblazer sponsored, will be the high point of the day. Festivities are scheduled to begin at 8:00 p. m. and the proceedings will be aired over KEX from 9:00 to 9:30. Following the broadcast the 70th Division dance orchestra will play for dancing.

Service Club 2 will feature dancing throughout the evening with the 91st Division dance orchestra doing the honors. Hostesses have not been provided for the evening, but married men and their wives as well as single men and their girl friends are particularly invited.

Both these events are open to all men on the Post.

(8) At the Red Cross Building in the Station Hospital patients will view a "circus" enacted and produced by hospital patients. Suggestively billed as "Goldbrick Bros. Circus," its gala premiere is set for 7:00 p. m. Thanksgiving Day.

and the Clay brothers in their enthusiasm to sing and tap dance for the all-soldier audience nearly wined themselves completely.

The "Three Sweethearts of Harmony" closed the show. The three girls, who have just returned from a tour of the Hawaiian Islands, were hard to let go.

Cpl. Dean Nelson and his 91st Division orchestra provided the accompanying music plus some "jamming" of their own.

HOW DO YOUR GI CLOTHES FIT, CLAUSSEN
Six-foot-six Pvt. Richard Clausen of Omaha has had to answer so many questions about himself since his induction into the Army that he now hands inquiring campmates a card which reads: "My name is Tiny Clausen—6 feet 6 inches; weight 270 pounds; wear size 15 shoes. Does that answer your question?"

Half Day of Holiday For 70th On Thursday

Trailblazers Intend Fulsome Celebration

All the traditional trappings of Thanksgiving day will be enjoyed by the Trailblazer Division—divine service, football and the festive turkey dinner.

Major General John E. Dahlquist has ordered a half-holiday for the 70th Division and regular training schedules will end at noon. Several units and organizations are planning parties, dinners and dances and a very full schedule of events has been arranged for the entire Trailblazer personnel.

Chapel observances will begin Wednesday evening and will carry through Thursday. At the Division Artillery chapel, Mass will be sung at 1630 and Protestant services will be at 2000. At the 274th chapel, Mass will be Thursday at 1630 and Protestant services the night before, Wednesday at 1900.

Thanksgiving services at the 275th Chapel will be as follows: Protestant services, 1500; Catholic Mass, 1630.

Wednesday evening Mass will be observed at 1900 at the 276th Chapel and Thursday at 1900 Protestant service will be conducted.

All-American stars will probably see action in the touch football game scheduled for 1430 on the Field Artillery gridiron. The contesting teams have not yet been decided but they will be the champions of the Division Artillery and of the 276th Infantry, who will meet in the first round of the playoffs for the Trailblazer Division trophy.

All the customary fixin's that go with a turkey dinner are in store for the 70th. Sage dressin' and giblet gravy, cranberry sauce and mashed potatoes, sweet potatoes and pumpkin pie and salads, relishes and candies are on the menu.

Two Timber Wolves on All-Army Ball Teams

Bell, Armstrong With Army's Best Players

Two Camp Adair men, Roy "Beau" Bell and Paul Armstrong, both of the Oregon semi-pro and northwest service champion Timber Wolf Division nine, formerly stationed here, were selected by Army Times for its All-Army teams, which were announced in the November 13 issue of the publication.

Bell, who is classified as a utility infielder, was selected for the team composed of players who came into the Army from major league nines. Before induction he had played with the St. Louis Browns and the Detroit Tigers. His batting average for the season with the Timber Wolves was .381.

Bats .428

Armstrong, an outfielder, was spotted on the All-Army team of players from minor league competition. He formerly played with Montgomery in the Southeastern League. His season average was .428, well above the team's average of .391.

In 1942, Armstrong got 189 hits for 593 times at bat in 146 games. His season batting average was .319, while in the field he was rated .973. He was also chosen for the league all-star team in 1941.

Three great All-Army nines were chosen by the sports staff of the Army Times with the cooperation of Public Relations, Special Service and Athletic officers and enlisted men in camps, forts and fields, scattered from Camp Stewart, Ga., to Ft. Lawton, Wash.

Three Teams Selected

One team represents the players who left the fat pay envelopes of the major leagues for GI baseball. Another team was chosen from candidates with minor league experience, while the third was selected from the list of players with college and sandlot experience.

It has been a great year for Army baseball teams. Almost every semi-pro tournament in the country was dominated by a team in khaki, and Army teams broke about even in their games with major and minor league nines.

The sports staff of the Army Times believes the three All-Army teams chosen in the nation-wide poll would be well up in the money in any circuit.

Underdog Southern California May Upset Huskies in Rose Bowl Classic

By Pvt. Paul Rosenberg

For the first time in the history of the Rose Bowl classic, two Pacific coast teams will clash. Twice-defeated University of California and the virtually untested Washington Huskies will see action on New Year's Day.

Starting the season brilliantly, the Trojans were undefeated, untied and unscored upon until they came up against the San Diego Naval Training Station, and bowed 10-7 in a real, old fashioned thriller.

Fliers Bomb Trojans

Last week, still smarting from their only reverse of the year and with an injured and riddled backfield, they met the March Field Fliers. The Air Corps went wild when Indian Jock Jacobs led a concentrated attack that crumpled the Californians, 35-0, and made them drop out of the running as national contenders.

But as their record is the best in the southern half of the Pacific Coast Conference, they were picked for the Rose Bowl game.

Washington, with a really good team and without a regular playing schedule, scraped up games here and there, and they remained undefeated and untied for the season. Their only great accomplishment, however, was the downing of the same March field eleven which gave the Trojans their worst defeat in 54 years.

Underdog May Upset

On New Year's Day, when the power of the Pacific coast clashes, the underdog California aggregation may upset the favored Washingtonians, since they have a reputation for real fighting when they get into the Bowl; yet, as in years past, a U. S. C. team can be beaten and broken at game time.

The Huskies are in for their toughest fight of the season, and this one holds glory and prestige behind it, for the entire football world will be waiting and watching the outcome.

2 Stellar Shows 'Wow' EM of Post

Mrs. Margaret Blodgett, senior hostess at Club 1.

In the Chinese Follies, the gorgeous Der Ling sisters, Mammon and Jay, did not disappoint those who had seen their photo in last week's Sentry. Toy Yat Mar brought the house down with her salacious songs and could only get away on the promise of returning in another act. New shows, it was indicated, may be returned to Adair every other week from Portland.

With over 22 fine acts in the "Stars of Tomorrow" show, only the most outstanding can be lightly reviewed.

Shades of Sansonia

Outstanding was ten-year-old Gerald Parton, virtuoso of the accordion. Playing on a special "junior-size" instrument, Gerald's nonchalance while interpreting difficult numbers, such as Liszt's Hungarian Dance No. 1, caught the audience's fancy. This young man is going far.

Darlene Hughes, "Portland's Benny Goodman," did a swell job on the "licorice stick." Other top acts featured Flora Forrest, concert singer, and Dicky Holmes, who though not much more than a toddler, is on his way to fame already as another great "Irish tenor."

The dynamic Dunn brothers on banjo and guitar were irrepresible,
