

Club 1 Takes Double Duty as No. 2 Closed

By Adele Adair

Big news this week from the Service Club front is that only Club 1 will be open to dish up entertainment for GIs until next Thursday morning, when Club 2, complete with a brand-new floor job, will re-open.

RENOVATING JOB

Club 2 closed this morning for a week-long renovating job to be done on the floors and the club in general. The library, cafeteria and fountain, however, will remain open during the time the lobby is closed.

FIELD HOUSE DANCES

Dances in the Field House will be resumed tonight after the holidays, with a band from the 91st on hand to furnish the music and Junior Hostesses from nearby towns to dance with GIs.

Field House dances will be held regularly during the month of January. However, the night of Jan. 21 has been reserved for a 198 AAA party to celebrate the battalion's first anniversary since activation. Orchestra, refreshments and entertainment by the outfit are scheduled.

CABARET ON DECK

Saturday will bring the return of the Cabaret Dance to Club 1, with the floor show furnished by the popular Meisinger Girl Revue of Salem. GIs may dance with Junior Hostesses from Dallas and McMinnville, or bring their own dates. Music will be served up with a flourish by a Post orchestra.

NEW TALENT PROGRAM

"Do You Want to Be an Actor," a new talent show at Club 1, will be presented Monday night, beginning at about 9 o'clock, following the Trailblazer radio broadcast. It will be conducted by Cpl. Barney Welch, 91st Finance Office, formerly with the Tulsa, Okla., Little Theater group.

Participation will be from the audience in short comedy sketches, with prizes for all participants and a grand prize for winners by audience applause. Come and take part in the show and back your favorite.

CLUB 2 RE-OPENS

Thursday night Club 2 will re-open, with a full evening's entertainment planned. At 7:15 dancing instruction, beginning with tap routines to learn basic rhythms, and then progressing to advanced ballroom steps, will be given. Pvt. Bob Rivers, professional dancer for 16 years, will be the instructor. Women are also eligible.

Following the dance class, a talent night and community sing will be held.

SPONSORED DANCE

Over Club 1 way, the 362nd Inf. will sponsor a dance, with everyone on the Post invited. The regimental orchestra will do the sending. This is scheduled Thursday.

CALLING ALL TALENT!

You talented GIs are really in demand now, with all USOs asking for you, and now this appeal is issued by Club 1. So if you can sing, dance or what-have-you, step up to Club 1 and offer your services!

WATCH FOR

A notice soon about the negro spiritual choir from Vancouver Barracks which will visit Adair—and especially Club 2.

'Meet the Wife' At Adair Sunday; Free to All GIs

Pvt. Jones, "Meet the Wife."

And Pvt. Jones (along with other Adair GIs) will do just that this Sunday, when the famous Portland Civic Theater players will bring the fast-moving, racy comedy, "Meet the Wife," to Theater 2 for two hilarious performances at 2 and 8 p. m.—free, of course.

Directed by Donald Mayre, the group presented "Dark Eyes" at Adair in October and other shows previously.

The light comedy, written by Lynn Starling, stars Alton Westwood, Patricia Dugan, Leonard Hicks and Barbara Spencer (pictured at left), who also had a featured comedy role in "Dark Eyes."

The play was brought to the Post through arrangements by Margaret Blodgett, Club 1 hostess.

Wisconsin Girl, Becomes Bride of 91st Div. S-Sgt.

In a beautiful formal ceremony Friday afternoon in Chapel 11, Miss Maryon J. Kovacs of Milwaukee, Wis., became the bride of S/Sgt. Julius C. Pipoly, also of Milwaukee and stationed with Co. B, 316th Med. Bn., 91st Division.

The bride, who wore a white satin wedding dress, was given in marriage by Lt. George Cullen Jr., CO of the groom's company. Miss Mildred Nixon of Corvallis was maid of honor, and S/Sgt. Raymond Hagedorn, Co. B, 370th Med. Bn., 70th Division, was best man.

The double-ring service was read by Chaplain V. P. Jaeger, Division chaplain. The wedding was attended by men of the groom's company.

Sgt. and Mrs. Pipoly are at home in Corvallis.

Wiebe-Comuntzis

Romance that began 15 months ago at Camp Adair climaxed Friday in a quiet service at Chapel 2, when Miss Dorothy Wiebe of Dallas became the bride of Lt. Gus Comuntzis of the 70th Div. Special Service office.

Lt. Comuntzis, who departed as a Sgt. from Post SSO last fall, completed OCS and returned to not only serve with the Trailblazers but to claim the titian-haired Oregon lass.

The informal, double-ring ceremony was read by Chaplain Loren T. Jenks, Division chaplain. Lt. W. R. Bogart, of the Trailblazer SSO, was best man, and Mrs. Bogart attended the bride as matron of honor. After a week's wedding trip, Lt. and Mrs. Comuntzis will be at home in Dallas.

Mrs. Comuntzis is a graduate of

Comedies, Frank Sinatra, Drama and Kay Kyser Coming to Post Theaters

NO TIME FOR LOVE—A fast and lusty comedy of that recent era of subways under the East River—and magazines which pictured them and not battlefields. Claudette Colbert is the photographer, and Fred MacMurray the sand hog she photographs and winds up by marrying. Spicy dialogue, good supporting players, melodrama, action, comedy—all combine to make NO TIME FOR LOVE a sure-fire hit at the box office, and definitely worth your 15 cents, GIs.

Dallas High School and has been employed in the Dallas bank. Lt. Comuntzis, whose home is in Morgan town, West Va., graduated from the University of West Virginia.

Allen-Heath

In an informal ceremony read in Chapel 6 last Saturday night, Miss Gloria Lee Allen of Dearborn, Mich., and Lt. Myron E. Heath, also of Dearborn, and now with Co. F, 274th Inf., Trailblazer Division, were married.

Lt. Gerald E. Boyea, of the same company as the groom, was best man, and Mrs. Boyea was matron of honor. The service was read by Chaplain Robert F. Rolf, 274th Inf.

HIGHER AND HIGHER—Surrounded by musical comedy and songs by Frank Sinatra, the revised plot of this '40 New York musical centers around the transformation of a scullery maid into a debutante so that she may go to the Butlers' Ball. Good comedy (almost slapstick) and if Sinatra singing four new ballads will please you, see HIGHER AND HIGHER.

THE CROSS OF LORRAINE—Another in the long list of stories of defeated Frenchmen, this is a realistic picture of the terrors of German prison camps, the menace of Nazi brutality and the dread of defeat. But somewhere along the line it fails to make any individual appeal, nor does it seem truly French. But if it's straight drama you want, this is it.

AROUND THE WORLD—You'll see the entertainment dished out to Yanks at outlying bases as Kay Kyser makes a tour of three continents with a group of performers—swing musical numbers by the Kyser band, well-staged production acts, comedy capers of Joan Davis and Mischa Auer, and plenty of beautiful girls—well, at least a lot. No plot, but the parade of musical numbers, plus comedy shots by Alan Carney and Wally Brown, and the enthusiasm of the old maestro keep the 'show movin'.
