

NEW 70th G-4

MAJOR D. F. MUNSTER, youngest Trailblazer general staff officer named G-4 of the division.

Major Munster Named 70th Division G-4

Reported as Youngest Staff Officer in AGF

One of the youngest general staff officers in the U. S. Army took over the reins of the 70th Division G-4 Section when Major Daniel F. Munster assumed his new position this week.

Major Munster, who has been with the Trailblazer Division since the first meeting of the original cadre at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., last year, has been the Division Quartermaster since the arrival of the division in Camp Adair last May.

He is the youngest staff officer in the 70th and probably one of the youngest men to be appointed to a general staff position in the Army Ground Forces.

Entering his tenth year in the Army, the major first saw service as an enlisted man with the 258th FA. He won his first commission by competitive examination in 1936, remaining in the artillery until 1941. In that year the transferred to the Adjutant General's Department in Washington, D. C., and in 1942 changed to the Quartermaster Corps.

Major Munster had an unusual experience in 1938 when he reported for duty to the 6th FA. He discovered that the man to whom he was reporting, Col. Rene DeRussy Hoyle, was the son of the man to whom his father reported in 1911, when he, too, reported for duty with the 6th.

Serving with Major Munster as Asst. AC of S, G-4, is Major L. H. Silverman, who has been efficiently carrying on the duties of the G-4 section since Lt. Col. J. G. Conley, former G-4, was reassigned.

SCU Non-Coms to Celebrate First Anniversary Apr. 8

(Nasty Critic)
By PFC Lionel Kay
Proving that non-coms of the SCU will do anything to make the Sentry, 1st/Sgt. Jack Vinson, president of the SCU Non-Coms Club, 8. (Jack, wasn't the anniversary party will be held Saturday, April 8. (Jack, wasn't the anniversary way back in February? Who you kiddin'?)

Failing to get dates any other way, the hard-up NCOs promise gifts (nothing-but open bribes) to any gal that dares enter their sacrosanct portals.

Refreshments will flow freely (and be imbibed similarly) and Joe Sieff's hot-blooded contest-winning jam band will arouse memories of more youthful days in the worn-out, jaded bodies of our beloved "higher authorities."

Come one! Come all! Where else can you go on Saturday nights? (Ed note—There's nothing more to be said, kid.)

Mary had a little swing,
It isn't hard to find,
Everywhere that Mary goes,
The swing is right behind.

Clothes Have Helluva Time Making Man

HERE ARE THREE REASONS why Supply Sergeants get nuttier than fruit cakes. Is Supply Sgt. Barney Abrams of Hq-QM to be blamed for this variety of manpower?—left, Howard Force, 67" worth of former Hillsboro Oregonian; Bernard McKee, 268 pounds of Post baker from Yakima, and Elmer F. Bailey, who brought all 4'10" of himself out from Schenectady, N. Y. Bailey and Force are section leaders at the Post Motor Pool.

To the Alert and the Wise Forever Goes the Prize

THEY ALL WORK TOGETHER at the heating shop of Post Engineers and together, like D'Artagnan's boys, they submitted an idea which Tuesday netted them a $20 check as part of the drive for civilian and military ideas which will save man hours in the Army and in civilian life and will in some measure compensate for the acute manpower shortage. Receiving the check from Lt. Col. Clarence U. Steele, Director of R & U Division, as Capt. Gilbert A. Waite, Director of Personnel, looks on are, left to right, Louis A. Borde, Charles Willey, M. J. Rounds and Clyde Govro.

WAC Band Will Appear Thursday In Field House

The WAC band will unlimber for one hour of dancing. Then everybody will go home.

Sgt. Webb Tilton, who was once the right bower for Fred Waring and who is accompanying the tour, will be a feature performer. What he will do is in the lap of the gods, for the Sentry couldn't find out.

Arrangements for the showing here of the WAC band were made by Miss Caddy via Major Elliott Benson, officer in charge of the tour.

The "Four Freedoms" show is reportedly one of the best of those to hit any of the Army Posts. Augmented by the style show, in which only girls with poise, purpose and plausibility will appear, the tour feature has been heralded as the potentially-greatest social event staged at the Field House.

Civilians, Military Get Prizes for New Ideas

5 Civilians Win $20; Submit Idea Helping Post Furnace System

MANY AWARDS TO EM

"My kingdom for a horse" has nothing on the new slogan of Camp Adair—"A reward for a good idea"; an idea, that is, which will save man hours in the Army and help relieve the manpower shortage.

Although awards are offered under a different set-up for civilian and military personnel, both are urged to enter into the suggestion program, according to a directive recently issued from the offices of Lieutenant General Brehon Somervell, chief of Army Service Forces.

Five civilians connected with the heating department at Post Engineers developed the idea which on Tuesday won a $20 cash award. They were L. A. Borde, C. W. Govro, M. J. Rounds, Earl McGarry and Charles Willey. The device, which reportedly will save many hundreds of dollars, is simply a U-shaped piece of sheet metal which can be manually inserted into slots of grate shaker spindles on hot air furnaces.

Made from scrap metal, the simple and inexpensive device holds grates in the horizontal position in which they are designed to be held and thus prevents the burning out of grates.

If you have any ideas that will save man-hours in the Army or in the work being done by civilian personnel, submit them to attention of Major Arthur Dy-sart, chairman of the board for processing military and civilian suggestions.

The breakdown of awards and how they are to be applied for suggestions is as follows:

- A. Officers:
 1. Recommendation for Legion of Merit.
 2. Letter of commendation.
 3. Consideration of promotion.
- B. Enlisted men:
 1. Recommendation for Legion of Merit.
 2. Promotion.
 3. Letter of commendation.
 4. Preferment in assignment.
 5. Furlough.
- C. Civilians:
 1. Cash or bonds from $5 to $250.

One Member of This Family Is All Wet Soldier's Pop in Navy

By Pvt. Edmund Arnold
Many an American father is proud of the part his son is playing in the war, but none can be prouder than T/Sgt. Lloyd Lewman is of the part his Dad is playing.

Father Lewman, just turned 50, has just finished his boot training at Farragut Naval Station and is visiting his sergeant son here. First thing on the agenda of the visit was admiring each other's stripes. Father, S/2c A. L. Lewman, wears a brand new white stripe of a seaman around his right shoulder and Son Lewman's latest rocker is only two months old.

Seaman Lewman was an apple-grower at Manson, Wash., when Sgt. Lewman volunteered four years ago. Meanwhile another son, S/Sgt. George, enlisted in the Air Corps, participated in four missions over Germany from an English base and was killed in action.

But let Seaman Lewman tell the story:

Bought Bonds—Not Enough!
"I'd bought thousands of dollars worth of war bonds, contributed to the Red Cross, the War Chest and all the other special funds, but I still felt that I wasn't doing my share in the war. So I just joined up. If I'd known how easily I could pass the physical tests, I would have enlisted lots sooner.

"No, I didn't have any trouble keeping up with the younger men."

His Daddy Has Gone to the Sea

ADMIRING EACH OTHER'S STRIPES are T/Sgt. Lloyd Lewman, Co. B, 274th, Trailblazers, and his father, S2/C A. L. Lewman. Son made tech two months ago, father (just turned 50) finished boot training last week.
