Strike! There Was One in 8; Col. Foster Got It

THE HONOR of rolling the first bells down the eight alleys opened Wednesday night in the new Post bowling alleys, 1st St. South and E Ave., went to the following eight officers. There was one strike, made by Lt. Col. Eugene I. Foster, Post executive officer, and two balls (no identity) went in the gutter. Shown rolling 'em out are, left to right, Lt. William F. Benson, Lt. William H. Ross, Capt. Russell G. Floss, Capt. Gilbert A. Waite, Major Carl B. Forsman, Lt. Col. Clarence Steele, Lt. Col. Foster and Post Commander Col. Samuel D. Hays.

Post Commander Helps Open Bowling Alleys

HE DIDN'T STRIKE, but Post Commander Col. Samuel D. Hays rolled the ball mighty close to the "1-3 pocket."

Free GI Legal Aid Now Given 275th By Barristers in Regt.

have their own GI, cost-free, regi- | be to interview all men in the mental legal advisors today, in a regiment to determine those who move believed to be the first of its kind in the Army.

The 275th Infantry Legal Adpersonal legal affairs of . . . per- laws. sonnel may be placed in good or-

Soldiers of the 275th Infantry Advisory Group's first task will need legal advice or help. This "screening" process is now under way.

visory Group, its members nine When complete, soldiers who have enlisted men all of whom were ex- found to need legal aid will be giv- ward L. Lonas, I Co., Oklahoma; A "press only" service at the perienced practicing attorneys in en the earliest available opportu- Sgt. Joseph P. Kelly Jr., D Co., laundry, which is equipped with their respective states before in- nity to consult with a member of California; Tec4 George C. Mcduction, is the official name of the the Group, if possible one from Naughton, Service Co., Kansas; nounced for officers uniforms at 270th Engineers, with their redunique body, initiated so that "the his own state, familiar with its Cpl. Dominic B. Pioletti, Hq. Co., the following rates: blouses, 20c; and-white colors, the al executive officer, the Legal Service Co., Washington; Sgt. Ed- Co., 3rd Bn., Illinois,

CLUB 2 AVAILABLE FOR PRIVATE UNIT DANCES

Although Service Club 2 is no longer operating as a service club, it is available for private regimental, company and battalion parties and dances, Capt. Russell G. Floss, Post Special Service Officer, has announced.

Arrangements may be made by contacting the Post SSO or Club 1 hostesses. Requests must be made by the Commanding Officer of the unit.

Units have already taken advantage of this opportunity, Ann Caddy, Club 1 Director, reports, and an average of four parties a week have been held.

Pvt. Goldyn Featured In April 27 Air Show

A new Trailblazer vocal soloist, Pvt. Edmund Goldyn, Co. 6, PRTC, will feature the "Oregon's Own" radio hour over KEX at 2030 April 27. Pvt. Goldyn will sing "Lover, Come Back to Me" from Other high spots of the program will be "Lady of Spain" with the division band, a medley from the operetta "Showboat" by the Trailblazer concert orchestra.

The hour will end on a surrealistic note with the band doing the

The former attorneys, now GIs, Co., New York; Pfc. John F. jackets, 25c; overcoats, 30c. who make up the Advisory Group, White, Hq. Co., 3rd Bn., Missouri; Inaugurated at the instance of with the States in which they prac- Pfc. Melvin H. Wetherill, E. Co., Field House Dances start 2000 Twenty-five minutes was re-

Legion of Merit Medal Given Gen. Dahlquist

(Continued from page 1) Chief of Staff, G-1, of the European Theater of Operations.

In the words of the War Departnent citation, "General Dahlquist

Bloody Axe-men Still Buying War Bonds

The 276th Regiment is still buying War Bonds and Stamps. The close of the war bond contest has not put the damper on purchases within the Bloody Axe Regiment. Pay day, March 31 found the Companies buying $1, 094.85 in bonds and stamps.

Post QM Offers A1 Dry-Clean Service

Cleanliness being considered next to godliness, Post GIs should find no trouble getting into the upper brackets, if they follow through with the dry cleaning service available through QM, which some while back negotiated a contract with one of the largest dry cleaning! plants in the area to expedite this ever-important soldier problem.

On specified days GIs can take their clothing directly to their supply room and it is handled in the same manner as laundry sans need of any advance payment, for deductions are taken out of their monthly payroll.

It's a price-saving set-up, as field jackets in fact are now laundered free of charge, whilst other attractive prices include:

Prices Are Ckay

Trousers, .35; shirts, .30; blouses, .35; overcoats, .60 and ties .01 cents. Service of 48 hours may be obtained for slight additional charge at officer's receiving station in the QM Laundry.

The QM dry-cleaning is supervised by Capt. Bernard O. Kearns, QM Laundry and Dry Cleaning Officer, who in civilian life operated his own laundry in St. Louis, Mo.

In a note "to supply," it was pointed out that, in order to economize on vehicle miles and personnel hours, all dry cleaning for officers and enlisted men should be brought to and picked up at the well-known "Love of the Three Post laundry on the same day the organizations take care of their

Major W. K. Shepherd, regiment- tised are: Sgt. Horace G. Geer, Louisiana; Pvt. John D. Casey, Hq. Friday. Junior Hostesses arrive quired for the entire Division to 2000. Smart GIs-arrive 2000.

disprayed high professional skill, the Special Army Observers Group splendid judgment and devotion to in London, and later Assistant duty, and rendered service of outstanding value for the Government in establishing personnel, postal and welfare systems for the United States Army Forces in the Kingdom of European Theater of Operations."

While in Europe, General Dahlquist served under General Dwight D. Eisenhower.

In Full Tradition

Despite the inclement weather, the Division parade honoring the commanding general on the occasion of the award was in the full-blown tradition of such events, beginning with the marching onto the parade field of officers and men of the 70th, with weapons, in cadence to the spirited strains of the 70th Division Band.

Following the arrival of Generals Millikin and Dahlquist, Brigadier General Peter P. Rodes, comman iing general, 70th Division Artillery, presented the Division to General Millikin, and the three general officers reviewed the Division, massed by battalions, from an open command car.

On their return to their positions, colors of all units in the Division massed to the center of the Division front and color-bearers advanced to positions facing the III Corps commander.

Lt. Col. B. V. Merrick, adjutantgeneral, thereupon officially "published" the War Department order awarding the Legion of Merit. General Millikin then stepped forward and affixed the magenta-ribboned decoration to General Dahlquist's

Division In Review

Then, as the three Generals stood at attention in the drenching downpour, the Division passed in review before them.

As the first infantry regiment came down the line past the reviewing position, the band broke into the Trailblazers' own "Oh, Susanna." The three rifle regiments, 275th, 276th and 274th, passed in that order, their well-ordered lines oblivious of the weather, their darkblue guidons dipping in unison as each battalion passed the high of-

Next came the four artillery battalions, their red-and-gold guidons brilliant spots of color, and the band played the snappy "Over hill, over dale," march of the gunners.

In steady succession the other Illinois; Cpl. Herbert Freiman, B shirts, 15c; trousers, 15c; field Battalion, with maroon guidons and the vari-hued colors of the Special Troops units.

Caught by the Camera Wednesday

As 70th Commanding General

Is Awarded Legion of Merit

THE ENTIRE 70TH DIVISION passed in review Wednesday as the Legion Merit medal was pinned on its commanding general, Major General John E. Dahlst, by Major General John Millikin, commanding general, HI Corps. Pictured here, apper left, General Millikin (standing) reviewing Trailblazor battalions from command car prior to decorating General Dahlquist, In the rear seat is General Dahlquist and in the front seat Brigadier General Peter P. Rodes, 70th Division artille mander. Center, Lt. Col. B. V. Merrick, adjutant-general, 70th Division, "pi the citation awarding the Legion of Merit to General Dahlquist. Right, to mo tifully describe the Oregon weather prevailing Wednesday are these two pretators watching the review from beneath umbrellas.