

Units of Post Complement Served Four Divisions in Diverse Work

Units of the Post Complement who have served four divisions at Camp Adair and a host of separate units are pictured on these pages. Although it is impossible to name each person, the groups will be read from center to upper left-hand corner, counter-clockwise.

(3) THESE LOVELY LADIES are not the Camp Adair models, although they might well be, but secretaries at Station Hospital, so brother—"Keep Door Closed!"

(5) CAPT. BENJAMIN H. FRANK, Post Quartermaster officer, extreme right, with personnel of his offices.

(6) SHOWN HERE IS the complete, though slightly diminished personnel of Post Engineers, the builders, repairmen and general "fixer-upper" of the Post.

(8) THE FOUNDATION of Camp Administrative details are the civilian and enlisted personnel of Post Headquarters shown here.

(9) SIGNAL? Yes, but not for you. It's the Post Signal crew that handles everything from telegraphy to photography, including supply and repair as a service unit. Major Frank Bursick standing, extreme right, back row, is the Post Signal officer.
