A LOST RECKONING.

The Terrible Injustice Done to the Memo-ry of an Old Maid.

It was a dreamy, sad afternoon, near the close of September. The thin, almost impalpable haze of autumn hung lace, and the stillness was almost depressing in its intensity.

Suddenly the bell of the village church began to toll. The solemn reverberations seemed almost out of tune, breaking upon the slumberous stillness of Scrofula of Lungs.

I am now 42 years old, and have suffered for the last fifteen years with a lung trouble. I have spent thousands of dollars to arrest the march of this disease; but temporary relief was all that I obtained. I was unfit for any manual labor for several years. A friend strongly recommended the use of Swift's Specific (S. S. S.), claiming that he himself had been greatly benefitted by its use in some lung troubles. I resolved to try it. The results are remarkable. My cough has left me, my strength has returned, and I welgh sixty pounds more than I ever did in my life. It has been three years since I stopped the use of the medicine, but I have had no return of the disease, and there are no oans or weakness felt in my lungs. If do the hardest kind of mechanical work, and feel as well as I ever felt kince I was a boy. These I know, are wonderful statements to make, but I am honest when I say that I owe my existence and health to-day to S. S. S. I would be recreant to the duty I owe to humanity if I failed to bear this cheerful testimony to the merits of this wonderful medicine.
