The Doctor's Dilemma

By WInsOx ScEwOx

CHAPTER XXI.

One of my hitches, after the arrival of the Doctor, was to try to place a girl who was prominent in the city and who had a friendship with a lady in the family of the Doctor. The girl was young, pretty, and had a future, but was not of the highest class. I had been informed by Mrs. Wilson, who had been a friend of the Doctor's, that she was a good girl and that she had a future. I therefore decided to try to place her in a better position.

After several interviews, I was able to get the girl a position in a private family, but I was not satisfied with the result. The family was not satisfied with the girl, and she was soon discharged. I then tried to place her in another position, but I was not able to do so. I was therefore left with the problem of what to do with her.

In the meantime, I had been informed by the Doctor that he was considering the possibility of placing the girl in a position in the city. I therefore decided to try to place her in a position in the city, but I was not able to do so. I was therefore left with the problem of what to do with her.

In the meantime, I had been informed by the Doctor that he was considering the possibility of placing the girl in a position in the city. I therefore decided to try to place her in a position in the city, but I was not able to do so. I was therefore left with the problem of what to do with her.

In the meantime, I had been informed by the Doctor that he was considering the possibility of placing the girl in a position in the city. I therefore decided to try to place her in a position in the city, but I was not able to do so. I was therefore left with the problem of what to do with her.

In the meantime, I had been informed by the Doctor that he was considering the possibility of placing the girl in a position in the city. I therefore decided to try to place her in a position in the city, but I was not able to do so. I was therefore left with the problem of what to do with her.

In the meantime, I had been informed by the Doctor that he was considering the possibility of placing the girl in a position in the city. I therefore decided to try to place her in a position in the city, but I was not able to do so. I was therefore left with the problem of what to do with her.

In the meantime, I had been informed by the Doctor that he was considering the possibility of placing the girl in a position in the city. I therefore decided to try to place her in a position in the city, but I was not able to do so. I was therefore left with the problem of what to do with her.

In the meantime, I had been informed by the Doctor that he was considering the possibility of placing the girl in a position in the city. I therefore decided to try to place her in a position in the city, but I was not able to do so. I was therefore left with the problem of what to do with her.

In the meantime, I had been informed by the Doctor that he was considering the possibility of placing the girl in a position in the city. I therefore decided to try to place her in a position in the city, but I was not able to do so. I was therefore left with the problem of what to do with her.

In the meantime, I had been informed by the Doctor that he was considering the possibility of placing the girl in a position in the city. I therefore decided to try to place her in a position in the city, but I was not able to do so. I was therefore left with the problem of what to do with her.

In the meantime, I had been informed by the Doctor that he was considering the possibility of placing the girl in a position in the city. I therefore decided to try to place her in a position in the city, but I was not able to do so. I was therefore left with the problem of what to do with her.

In the meantime, I had been informed by the Doctor that he was considering the possibility of placing the girl in a position in the city. I therefore decided to try to place her in a position in the city, but I was not able to do so. I was therefore left with the problem of what to do with her.

In the meantime, I had been informed by the Doctor that he was considering the possibility of placing the girl in a position in the city. I therefore decided to try to place her in a position in the city, but I was not able to do so. I was therefore left with the problem of what to do with her.

In the meantime, I had been informed by the Doctor that he was considering the possibility of placing the girl in a position in the city. I therefore decided to try to place her in a position in the city, but I was not able to do so. I was therefore left with the problem of what to do with her.

In the meantime, I had been informed by the Doctor that he was considering the possibility of placing the girl in a position in the city. I therefore decided to try to place her in a position in the city, but I was not able to do so. I was therefore left with the problem of what to do with her.

In the meantime, I had been informed by the Doctor that he was considering the possibility of placing the girl in a position in the city. I therefore decided to try to place her in a position in the city, but I was not able to do so. I was therefore left with the problem of what to do with her.

In the meantime, I had been informed by the Doctor that he was considering the possibility of placing the girl in a position in the city. I therefore decided to try to place her in a position in the city, but I was not able to do so. I was therefore left with the problem of what to do with her.

In the meantime, I had been informed by the Doctor that he was considering the possibility of placing the girl in a position in the city. I therefore decided to try to place her in a position in the city, but I was not able to do so. I was therefore left with the problem of what to do with her.

In the meantime, I had been informed by the Doctor that he was considering the possibility of placing the girl in a position in the city. I therefore decided to try to place her in a position in the city, but I was not able to do so. I was therefore left with the problem of what to do with her.

In the meantime, I had been informed by the Doctor that he was considering the possibility of placing the girl in a position in the city. I therefore decided to try to place her in a position in the city, but I was not able to do so. I was therefore left with the problem of what to do with her.

In the meantime, I had been informed by the Doctor that he was considering the possibility of placing the girl in a position in the city. I therefore decided to try to place her in a position in the city, but I was not able to do so. I was therefore left with the problem of what to do with her.

In the meantime, I had been informed by the Doctor that he was considering the possibility of placing the girl in a position in the city. I therefore decided to try to place her in a position in the city, but I was not able to do so. I was therefore left with the problem of what to do with her.

In the meantime, I had been informed by the Doctor that he was considering the possibility of placing the girl in a position in the city. I therefore decided to try to place her in a position in the city, but I was not able to do so. I was therefore left with the problem of what to do with her.

In the meantime, I had been informed by the Doctor that he was considering the possibility of placing the girl in a position in the city. I therefore decided to try to place her in a position in the city, but I was not able to do so. I was therefore left with the problem of what to do with her.

In the meantime, I had been informed by the Doctor that he was considering the possibility of placing the girl in a position in the city. I therefore decided to try to place her in a position in the city, but I was not able to do so. I was therefore left with the problem of what to do with her.