THE ONLY SYSTEM THAT EVER FRIGHTENED THE HOUSE.

Woman Won Heavily and Sold the Secret of Her System-It Cost 70,000 Francs, and Was Considered Cheap at the Price.

Lord Rosslyn's recent vain attempt to "break the bank at Monte Carlo" has brought out a number of old stories regarding similar attempts in the past. Perhaps the best of the lot was told by an official at Monte Carlo to a Lon-Fracticate it, positively and absolute- never but once did a "system play" don writer. This official declares that

QUIZZED BY THE KAISER.

Experience of a New Yorker in the Lustgarten at Berlin.

One summer day in 1890 a New Yorker visiting Berlin strolled to the Lustgarten, and, sitting on one of the benches, contemplated the various fine buildings around him. He did not know his bearings well, and, in halting German, asked some questions of a young man who had sat down beside him. This young man was unquestionably a German, but he replied in perfect English, remarking that he presumed his interlocutor was either an Englishman or an American. The couple chatted for half an hour, and the American became more and more astonished at the minuteness of the other's knowledge of the archaeology of Berlin. He knew the history of every building in sight, told the American just those things that the guidebooks do not tell, and, withal, was so courteous and unaffectedly cordial that the heart of the tourist warmed to his unknown guide.

WON AT MONTE CARLO. | New Yorker made a remark about the opinion held in America of the Kaiser. In those days the young "war lord" was regarded as a dangerous firebrand, as an irresponsible monarch who might and day plunge Europe into conflict. It was even said that he had shown evidence of insanity.

When this subject arose the young German suddenly changed from a givabout the Kaiser current in America. troit Free Press. These the New Yorker furnished to the best of his ability, and ended by asking:

"And no one," says the American in telling the story nowndays, "need say anything about the Kaiser to me. I know a man when I see one."

CHARACTERISTICS OF DELAREY. Weapons in the Field.

John Hendrick Delarcy first saw the light in the district of Lichtenburg born in the Orange Free State, and was of Hugenot origin. He took part with Pretorius in driving the English out of and stated that madam and her party | Bloemfontain in 1848, and had his farm and property confiscated after Sir Harry Smith had reversed the situation by forcing the old Boer warrior back again across the Vaal. The Delareys sought a new home in the west of the Transvaal, where Jacob Hendrick spent his early life. The general is a man over the medium height, sinewy in build. and remarkable for his quiet, dignified manner. He has deep-set, dark eyes, a prominent Roman nose, and a large. dark-brown beard, giving to his face a strong, handsome, and patrician expression.

He was born of a fighting family, and has had the experience and training of campaigns in conflicts with hostile Kaffir tribes. His first command was to a bank in Milan. The matter was in the war which the English incited the Basutos to wage against the Free State in the early '60s, when he was quite young. These experiences qualified him for a prominent military position when the present war broke out. still unsatisfactory he came to Monte and he was unanimously elected to the command of the Lichtenburg burghers greatly disconcerted him. He represented his native district in against the Kruger, following in that assembly. He favored a large franchise concession to the Uitlanders as a means of averting a conflict with England, but soon saw that a demand for political reforms was only a pretext for precipitating a conflict. He was one of the most ardent advocates of an attacking as against a defensive military policy when England forced a resort to hostilities upon the republic.

Like General Cronje, he carries no weapons in the field. His field-glass. wooden pipe, and, last but not least, his Bible, are his inseparable companions. He is a universal favorite with the burghers of both republics, and inspires great confidence in his men by his almost unerring military judgment, splendid generalship, heroic courage. an indomitable tenacity of purpose, and an all-round resourcefulness in all emergencles.

He is remarkably self-contained in his actions, never getting excited, even in the thickest of the fight, but always remaining cool, cautious, and alert .-Michael Davitt in "The Boer Fight for Freedom."

Statehouses at Capitol.

Every State in the Union should erect a stately building at Washington, suggests W. A. Hungerford, in the Washington Times. These buildings could be the business headquarters of the State Senators and Representatives in Con-

Much of the State's business with the National Government might be transacted through this channel. Visitors to the city from the States could make their State building their headquarters or a meeting place, have their mail addressed there, etc.

The States could also maintain therein a permanent exhibit of their principal agricultural and manufacturing resources for the edification of the thousands and thousands who daily throng the city, not only from all parts of the United States, but of the world.

SORES AND ULCERS.

Sores and Ulcers never become chronic unless the blood is in poor condition—is sluggish, weak and unable to throw off the poisons that accumulate in it. The system must be relieved of the unhealthy matter through the sore, and great danger to life would follow should it heal before the blood has been made pure and healthy and all impurities eliminated from the system. S.S.S. begins the cure by first cleans ing and invigorating the blood, building up the general health and removing from the system A CONSTANT DRAIR all morbid, UPON THE SYSTEM.

When this has been accomplished the discharge gradually ceases, and the sore or ulcer heals. It is the tendency of these old indolent sores to grow worse and worse, and eventually to destroy the bones. Local applications, while soothing and to some extent alleviate pain, cannot reach the seat of the trouble. S. S. S. does, and no matter how apparently hopeless your condition, even though your constitution has broken down, it will bring relief when nothing down, it will bring relief when nothing else can. It supplies the rich, pure blood necessary to heal the sore and nourish the debilitated, diseased body.

Mr. J. B. Talbert, Lock Box 225, Winona, Miss., says: "Six years 250 my leg from the knee to the foot was one sold sore. Several physicians treated me and I made two trips to Hot Springs, but found no relief. I was induced to try S. S. S, and it made a complete cure. I have been a perfectly well man ever since."
