Calvin will give you 15 cents a dozen for your eggs.

If you want to buy a mower or rake it will pay you to see Calvin.

Oranges, lemons and bananas at the Stationery Store.

Mrs. J. A. Allen and son, Price Montgomery, of Chesnimus, were in the city Tuesday.

F. A. Mead, music dealer, from La Grande, sold a Kimball piano to J. B. Olmstead last week.

Alex and Dick Warnock and families were in the city Tuesday on some business relating to mines.

H. W. Beecher purchased the remainder of the Basim horses at the sale at Joseph last Saturday.

Now is the paint season. Don't forget that John Calvin has the Heath and Miligan paint.

The shearing crew at the Litch corrals have completed their work and gone on their way rejoicing.

Chas. Swam accompanied a timber cruiser out on an inspection expedition last Tuesday to be gone several days.

Rev. Walker and family returned Monday from Elgin, where they attended the Epworth League Convention.

Dr. Temple purchased a fine bay team of Dick Warnock Wednesday. It is the swellest looking rig in the country.

There will be Children's Day exercises held at the Christian church Sunday evening. Everybody cordially invited to attend.

Mr. Peterson of Promise was in the city Tuesday on a business trip. He says there are many new comers in that section of the county.

I have one of the Anderson A grade buggies. If you are thinking of buying a buggy, I will be pleased to show you this one. John Calvin.

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Rich of Fruita were in the city Tuesday and Wednesday. Mrs. Rich was having some dental work done by Dr. Fosner.

A special school meeting is called for July 9, for the purpose of voting on the proposition of adding the Ninth and Tenth grades to the public school.

Owing to the appearance of smallpox in the Creighton and Trout creek districts, the schools have been discontinued, and the teachers, Miss Belle Forsythe and J. W. Kerns, have returned to town.

Merritt Legore was down from Hurricane creek Tuesday and is very enthusiastic over some claims on Hurricane creek from which the ore assays $8 in gold and 14 per cent copper. The ledge he says is about 30 feet wide.

J. F. Johnson and W. D. Weaver are moving the old buildings off the Calvin corner. The big corner building will be placed on the vacant lot east of the CHIEFTAIN office, and the other building will be put on one of Mr. Weaver's lots west of the Combes blacksmith shop.

Even script buyers have their troubles. Mr. Hartshorn, of Wallowa county, who is in the city at present, some time ago bought some Forest Revenue script to the amount of $700, which turns out to be counterfeit. There is no redress for him and he is just that much looser.—La Grande Observer.

F. A. Meade, La Grande, Ore., agent for Chickering, Kimball, Weber, Crown, Wheelock, Cable, Vose, Decker & Sons, Whitney, Hinze, Milton, and Singer pianos; Kimball, Crown, Burdette, Great Western, Needham, and Pacific Queen organs; Singer sewing machines and Empire Cream Separators. Prices lowest.

Albert Brayton, a young man who lives with M. B. Knight, on Joseph creek, was brutally attacked and beaten by two masked men last week. They first went through his pockets in search of money. They stole his shoes and a few other articles, tied his hands behind him and left him lying on the floor of the cabin. After a while he managed to free himself and went up to Flora. He said one of the men had a finger off at the second joint. Otherwise he could not identify them.

Here is an item from the Manti, (Utah,) Free Press, that is novel and interesting:

"Bring in your grasshoppers and have them infected with the fungus growth, a positive exterminant of this pest. Mr. Crawford, the druggist, will be pleased to supply all who call, free of charge. This remedy is no longer an experiment, and there is no excuse for further being pestered with grasshoppers if every farmer will do his duty."

Word comes from Wallowa that a company has been formed there for the purpose of building and operating a creamery and cheese factory. Ed Tulley, who recently graduated from the Agricultural College, will have charge of the business, for which he made special preparation. Wallowa is to be congratulated on this move, and we hope the spirit will continue.

The town was roused Tuesday morning by several pistol shots and a yell of fire. Ott's saloon was soon discovered to be on fire and the flames were gaining considerable headway. By a rushed application of water with a number of buckets the fire was extinguished. It was of incendiary origin as it started on the step at the back door, where kerozene could be easily smelled after the fire was out.

Chas. L. Swain, who has been out surveying for county surveyor Reavis, returned from a protracted trip in the North end of the county Monday, where he had been laying out some road. He had quite a varied experience, consisting of a contact with poison oak and a vicious dog out at Sled Springs. He was slightly bitten in several places, but not seriously.

Alf. Hays says he was on the Divide near the head of a small creek, last week, and killed five rattlesnakes where none had ever been seen before. He thinks that the creek must be the proverbial "Salt creek" up which which the defeated candidates go, and that there was too much "snake medicine" on the trip up this time, which caused the snakes to take to the higher ground.

The Enterprise Hotel Co. on Saturday sold the buildings off the Calvin lots for $225. G. W. Hyatt bought the corner one for $175, and W. D. Weaver the other for $50. They were allowed 15 days in which to have the buildings off the ground.

As a contrast between hand sheep shearing and the machine work, two sheep were picked out of the Boner band last week, that had been sheared by hand and resheared with a machine. Almost eight pounds of wool was the result.

J. D. Zurcher came in on Wednesday's stage. He has been a student for the past three years at the Oregon Agricultural College, at Corvallis. He has been making a specialty of electrical engineering and will graduate next year.

John Baker and family returned from La Grande Monday where they met Mrs. Baker's sister, Emma Henry, who just arrived from Denmark. She was unable to speak English, but made the trip without trouble.

A party of fisherman consisting of J. C. Reavis, George Hendrickson, L. Green and Wilford Green spent Friday and Saturday at the lake. They made a fair catch of good sized trout.

Alonzo Gesner, of Portland, has secured the contract for surveying the unsurveyed townships east of Innaha and will be in the city in a few days. His son arrived on Tuesday's stage.

W. P. Samms now has quite a collection of pets consisting of a parrot, monkey, badger, red squirrel, two young yellow hammers and two young hawks.

I. E. Johnson was appointed marshal Wednesday by the city council, with instructions to keep all persons infected with smallpox of the streets.

Messrs. Clarence Vest and Will Zurcher and the Misses Lena DeVore and Ada Roe spent Sunday at the Lake.

J. C. Shackelford and Carl Roe drove down to Wallowa Monday and back Tuesday, on a business trip.

Several people are contemplating a trip to Seaside, on the excursion which leaves La Grande on July 1.

Mrs. Rose Voris is spending a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McReynolds, of Trout creek.

B. T. Long and Will and Orion Wagner returned from a trip to Walla Walla Tuesday.

A. C. Miller returned from La Grande last week and will look after business for a few days.

L. J. Pizell of Wallowa passed through town Wednesday en route to Innaha.
