FRUITA.

Since the late rains the weather has been highly favorable for haying and we assure you, the ranchers of the Park have not been idle. And their wives? Strawberries, cherries and hay harvest all come in on the same train. With picking, cleaning and canning these luscious berries, the daily recurring household duties, and with the extra labor of preparing three meals a day for the harvesters, who are as busy and overworked as farmers' wives?

Crops of all kinds in fields and meadows, perhaps, were never better; and this fine weather is enabling the farmers to house them in splendid condition. The work progresses slowly by reason of the great scarcity of field hands.

Gardens and orchards, though backward, are promising. Green peas and new potatoes have made their debut upon our tables, and though they are two or three weeks behind time, they are none the less appreciated.

Business of importance demanding his presence at Enterprise and Joseph, caused Tom Rich to shut down his saw mill for a week recently.

A recent letter from D. C. Davis, written from his Tennessee home, says he is still on the trail. He desires to be kindly remembered to all his Alder Slope and Prairie creek friends. He is quite feeble, 104 in the shade.

Thos. F. Rich returned from the valley the 20th.

A niece and two nephews of Aunt Betty Smith passed through en route to lower Imnaha the 20th, two of whom came from Iowa and a nephew from Eagle valley.

The recent hot days are cooking all vegetation.
