No action has yet been taken in relation to the proposed Blue Mountain forest reserve. In speaking of the matter recently, Hon. Binger Herman, commissioner of the general land office said: "The tract has merely been withdrawn from settlement and whether a reserve will be created and, if so, upon what lines, remains to be determined. Concerning the effect the creation of the reserve would have upon the grazing war in Eastern Oregon, I can say nothing, except in a general way, that the department is friendly to the grazing interests, and the regulations have met the approval of the sheep and cattlemen. This would seem to be a demonstration of the beneficient influence of the forestry regulations. The department is liberal in granting grazing privileges except where is found that grazing injures the tree growth or interferes with the waterflow.

The man who does things, who brings about results, who feels within himself the power of achievement and is determined to make himself known to the world, never waits to see what the crowd is going to do. He does not ask advice of everybody he knows, or wait for precedent. He lays out his own plans, thinks his own thoughts, directs his own energies. He does not complain because obstacles appear in his path; and when he comes to them he goes through them—not over them or around them. He never whines or grumbles; he simply keeps to his task and works in a vigorous, manly way. He goes about everything he undertakes with a determination which means victory. It takes courage and originality to step out from the crowd and act independently, to jump into deep water, as if it were, and swim or sink. The man who acts boldly wins the confidence of the world.—Success.

It's for You, Reader.

The editor of the Fowler (Ind.) Leader is a joker with a seriousness that attracts attention and leaves an impression. Here is his latest, and a good one, too:

"About once a week the printer of this paper is ripped up the back for lack of business principles. O Lord, how would we live if we had any? We are glad that we do not. While we have something like $7,000 invested in the printing business and our weekly pay roll is larger than any dry goods store in Fowler, we manage some way to make both ends meet. Not long since a merchant came to us and requested us to print some very touching resolutions about Rev. Truby, written by our dear friend, Banker Dague; the resolutions were printed. The merchant thanked us very sweetly for doing so. A month or so afterwards he wanted an extra copy of the Leader to send to Rev. Truby. It took an hour to find the missing number, the merchant was under many obligations to us for the trouble. A short time ago he came to the office just as the paper was going to press. He wanted to announce that Brother Buchanan would be here next Lord's Day to preach. A form was unlocked and the item inserted. The paper was delayed about fifteen minutes. Again we were thanked very sweetly. Yesterday we wanted a darning needle and the merchant charged us a cent for it, and that was business. We could tell a hundred stories like that. If there was any business about us we would get mad and swear. But there is no business about us, so we don't care, and rather enjoy the joke on us."

Passion's Slave.

The local dramatic company entertained the public last Friday night by presenting the drama entitled Passion's Slave. The text of the play was of events and trials often met in every day life and the enterpetation by the different actors was very vivid and realistic. Bruce Cox, the villian, was cool and deliberate in his demeanor. W. S. Burleigh, wrongly accused of many crimes committed by the villian did his part well, as also did Miss Nellie Brusha, the heroine who believed her lover innocent in the face of the crimes laid at his door.

Wilford Green, as the father of the heroine carried out his lines in a dignified and appropriate style.

W. I. Calvin, as the comic dutchman and Claude Lockwood both in love with the maid acted their parts to perfection and brought forth uproarous laughter. Mrs. J. M. Conner, who saw the crimes of the villian and convicted him at the proper time did her part in a pleasing manner. Gertrude Brusha as the wiley little maid acted her part to perfection. J. M. Conner as the police officer made a good record.

The company are to be complimented on having such fine sittings and scenery for the stage. Without doubt the stage in the Enterprise Opera House is far ahead of anything this side of LaGrande. It is hoped that they will produce a number of plays during the winter.

PULLMAN ORDINARY SLEEPERS.

The tourist travel between the East and the Pacific Coast has reached enormous proportions in the last few years, and calls for a special class of equipment. To meet this demand the Pullman Company has issued from its shops what it technically calls the "Pullman Ordinary Sleeper." These cars appear similar to the regular sleepers being built on the same plan, but not furnished with the same elegance. They are equipped with mattresses, blankets, sheets, pillows, pillow-cases, towels, combs, brushes, etc., requiring nothing of the kind to be furnished by the passenger. Each car has a stove for making tea and coffee and doing "light housekeeping," and each section can be fitted with an adjustable table. A uniformed porter accompanies each car, his business being to make up berths, keep the car clean, and look after the wants and comforts of the passenger. In each of the trains which are dispatched daily from Portland by the O. R. & N. Co. is to be found one of these "Pullman Ordinary Sleepers." The car attached to the "Chicago-Portland Special" goes through to Chicago without change, and the one in the "Atlantic Express" runs to Kansas City without change. Passengers in this car for Chicago change to a similar car at Granger.

Much of the first class travel is being carried in these cars, the rates being lower, and the service nearly equal to that in the palace sleepers.
