FRUITA.

N. Johnson, a Civil War Veteran of many scars has harnessed his 14-foot overshot to a cider mill. The apples from which the cider is pressed are obtained from the big orchard of T. F. Rich.

Mrs. J. A. Balter and her little daughter, Bertie, went to Joseph last week, where Miss Bertie will attend school. Friends visiting Joseph will find mother and daughter at the Mitchell.

Miller Brothers of Joseph bought Mark Thompson's herd of cattle, about 90 head last week. They received the cattle at once and will drive and winter them at their ranch near Union.

The divorced wife of the late Lewis Neal is expected any day. She comes from Spokane her former home. A son-in-law and his wife accompanying her. Mr. Neal's son, Ira, is already here; and should Mrs. Neal be pleased with the Park all will make their future home here.

Alfred and James Kinney, of Upper Prairie Creek are preparing to spend the winter over on Snake river near the Seven Devils. James has pulmonary trouble, and it is ardently hoped a sojourn of several months over there will be of great benefit to him.

Mrs. Bessie Gyan is almost well again, but not so Mrs. Mollie Horner. She is still confined to her room at the home of her father, Jas. Wilson at the mouth of Freeze-out Creek. Her malady is now said to be pneumonia.

J. A. Blevans and Thos. Morga and wife returned from Joseph the last of last week where they did their fall trading with merchants, millmen and others ere winter storms shut them in from outside points.

Peach Plums, Apples and Pears.

For sale very cheap at the orchard on the Jas. L. Reavis ranch. Will be delivered at your home if desired.

Our New Offer.

In another column is an offer that exceeds any other ever made to Chieftain readers. $25 for the Chieftain, Conkey's Home Journal, the musical membership and five of the best books of the age. The books alone are worth in the market more than $25. Ask any one who is acquainted with the price of books. Also ask him about the books being of a high class. We cannot afford to make anything but a bona fide, "all wool and a yard wide" offer to our patrons. Stop in some day and see samples of the books.

From the Tenderfoot.

Lee Devore and T. R. Akin came down from the Tenderfoot mine on the head of Imnaha Friday. A vast amount of development work has been done on this property, in fact enough to satisfy the stockholders as to its richness and to warrant their installing a mill next spring as soon as the weather permits. Work will be begun early next year on the wagon road leading from the end of the present road between the Sheep creeks across the divide and down to the mine. The company expect to have the machinery here by the time the road is completed and Wallowa county will have a producing paying mine. The development of our latent mineral wealth has only begun. The next year will see a vast change in the mining situation. The Chieftain has always predicted a rush to the mines along the Imnaha and this prophecy has every prospect of being fulfilled at no distant date.
