

*Feb. 13 fundraiser supports CROW's flight
for new nest*

Share your heart

Members of Children's Repertory of Oregon Workshops invite the public to join them Feb. 13 for a night of musical and theatrical entertainment.

COURTESY PHOTO

Children's Repertory of Oregon Workshops (CROW) presents an opportunity for the Florence community to become personally involved in building the dreams of local youth.

On Friday, Feb. 13, at 7 p.m., CROW invites the public to "Share Your Heart." Held at the Florence Events Center (FEC), this fundraising party is like nothing you've ever attended.

The evening will feature the vocal talents of local performers Marty Adams, Mary Beers, Michael Jacobson, Sheena Moore, Erin Reinke, Jacob Steinberger and Jason Wood.

There also will be a silent auction filled with unique products and services from local businesses. Perhaps the most heart-warming portion of the evening will be when several of CROW's talented, hard-working performers entertain the audience.

"These kids are amazing, and they are the reason that we are doing any of this," said CROW director and founder Melanie Heard.

The evening will culminate with a "Raise Your Paddle" donation opportunity.

Reservations are required for this event. Single tickets are $39 for adults and $25 for youth, ages 12 and under. A full table of eight can also be purchased for $285. Tickets include wine (adults only) and hot hors d'oeuvres, as well as a chance to bid on auction items.

For tickets, call the FEC at 541-997-1994 or visit www.eventcenter.org.

CROW is currently in production for "Once Upon A Mattress," which will take the stage April 10-12 at the FEC and will feature more than 50 onstage and behind the scenes roles for young people ages 5-22.

See CROW page 8