Lisa's Avant Gardener Tips of the Week

Plant summer vegetable seeds such as beans, cucumbers, dill, and summer squash. Wait for soil temperatures to be warm before transplanting tomatoes, peppers, and basil. Fertilize shrubs with a light complete fertilizer with the late spring rains.

"We're glad to get you growing!"

Learn the basics of canning at Real Food Co-op on Saturday

Join Jen on Saturday, May 9, at 3 p.m. at the Real Food Co-op, to learn the basics of canning.

The main method Jen will use is the water bath method.

She will show some of the techniques of canning jams using a pectin that does not require any sugar.

She will also talk about how to make marinara, relish, apple and pear butter and more.

Canning allows people to enjoy fresh local fruit and vegetables year round.

It is a great way to support local farms by buying produce when it is in season.

The Real Food Co-op is at 1379 B Rhododendron Drive.

It is open to the public Monday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The co-op supports local food sustainability, buying in bulk and community education.
