

'Power of the Heart' to be screened in Yachats

YACHATS — A screening of the groundbreaking film "The Power of the Heart" will take place Monday, May 18, at 6:30 p.m., in The Yachats Commons.

Woven into the film are interviews with some of this era's greatest teachers, including Maya Angelou, Deepak Chopra, Marianne Williamson, Jane Goodall and more.

Following the screening will be an exclusive Q and A with author and film co-producer Baptist de Pape, and Dr. Dean Shrock.

The film has been released in conjunction with the book of the same name, which has been translated into 20 languages and distributed in 70 countries.

In the book, Dr. Shrock, who is a Yachats resident, discusses his work and research that joy, heartfelt communication and feeling loved and cared for can improve the quality of life and the lifespan of people with cancer.

The film is written and directed by Drew Heroit, director of "The Secret."

There is a suggested donation of $10.

For more information, call Dean Shrock at 541-547-3887.

Eugene Symphony season finale in Florence

SEACOAST Entertainment Association's season of seven high-caliber performances wraps up on Friday, May 15, at 7 p.m., when the Eugene Symphony returns to present a special Florence-only "Orchestra Showcase," the finale of Eugene Symphony's 49th season.

This unique, one-time concert will include the music of Barber, Haydn and Beethoven; and feature the symphony's principal cellist Anne Ridlington.

The symphony will host a free pre-concert talk at 6:15 p.m. to meet the audience and give insights on the evening's music.

According to Lindsey McCarthy, marketing director of the Eugene Symphony Association, attendees will hear the Eugene Symphony at its very best, from the poignant emotions of the strings in Barber's Adagio for Strings, to the cello-rich melodies of Haydn's Cello Concerto in D Major, to Beethoven's Symphony No. 6, "Pastorale" that pays tribute to the natural world and our existence within it.

evocative pieces of American music. It begins with a single, sustained note, eventually joined by the elongated melodies and extended suspensions that create a great unresolved harmonic tension.

Ridlington will play Haydn's gracefully athletic Concerto in her first solo spotlight.

The piece begins with a long sonata form movement that develops two relaxed and lyrical melodies, and which allows for a long solo cadenza.

The middle movement features a songlike melody from the cello, alternating with contrasting material.

The concerto ends with high-spirited and flashy rondo.

The first movement of Beethoven's "Pastorale" begins with Awakening of Cheerful Feelings Upon Arriving in the Country.

The following Scene by the Brook unfolds with aptly flowing grace. At the very end, Beethoven has woodwinds imitate birds with a flute as a nightingale, and oboe as a quail, and a clarinet as a cuckoo.

Individual tickets are $30 per adult and $10 for those under 18. Tickets are available online at SEACOASTEA.org or at the Florence Events Center box office, 715 Quince St., or by phone at 541-997-1994.

Artist profiles, video clips, and more information are available at SeacoastEA.org.

SEACOAST is planning another outstanding season beginning in October with Latin/pop/jazz/classical artists, Quatro. Also included in the 2015-2016 line-up are singer Ken Lavigne, guitarist Jesse Cook, Ballet Fantastique, the Glenn Miller Orchestra, SHUFFLE (a group so multitalented they let the audience pick the playlist), and gypsy-jazz artists The New Hot Club of America.

Season tickets, which offers a value of seven concerts for the price of five, go on sale later this spring.

Local author to speak about Florence history

Florence author Judy Fleagle will present the program at the May 22 meeting of the Oregon Dunes Chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR.)

Fleagle's PowerPoint program will feature the history of Florence and the Siuslaw Valley, highlighted by 80 photos from her book, "Around Florence."

It was published in 2014 and covers the history of the town and surrounding area from 1876 to the present.

Most of the program is based on the book. Expect some interesting history, such as how two businessmen trying to outdo each other developed a thriving town, and how Florence was dependent on ocean-going sailing ships before the age of the railroad.

More than 180 photos illustrate the book and show the development of the town and of transportation to and at the coast, the 100 years when fishing and logging were the valley's mainstays, and the gradual transition to tourists, retirees and the arts.

The 80 photos used in the program give an overview of the book.

Because Fleagle has been a resident of Florence for 30 years and a docent since 2002 at the Siuslaw Pioneer Museum, she was the perfect person to write Around Florence. She was able to use 150 of the museum's historic photos in the book.

And she has had previous experience as an author with her two critically acclaimed books about Oregon's iconic coastal bridges.

After the program, Fleagle will have copies of Around Florence for sale and will sign and personalize them.

DAR is a non-profit, non-political volunteer women's service organization dedicated to promoting patriotism, preserving American history and securing America's future through better education for children.
