

Marchetti art featured at Silver Lining Gallery

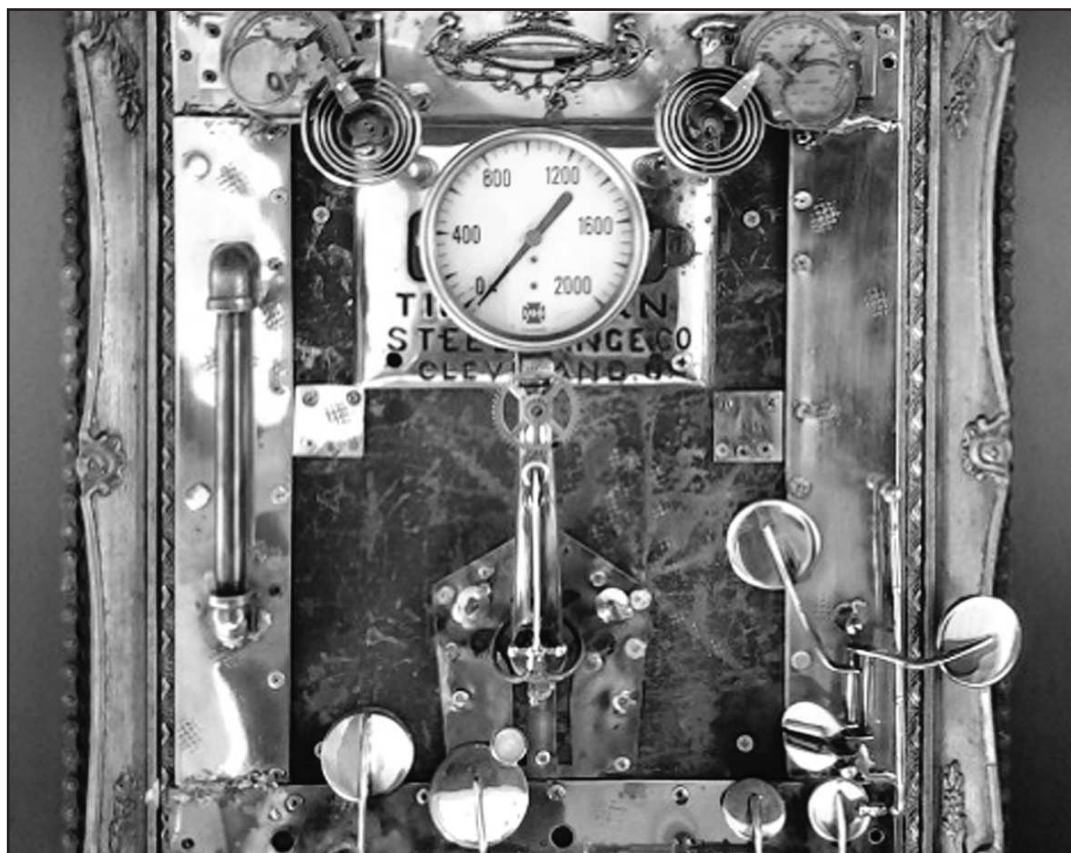

FLORENCE — The Giuliano Marchetti exhibit, “Mixed Metal Montage and Recycled Resurgence” is too extensive to be seen in only one visit or even one month.

Therefore, The Gallery Above the Silver Lining Boutique is dedicating the entire summer to his diverse and extremely artistic works — bells, instruments, montages and re-works.

His intricate inventions are incredibly intriguing and filled with eclectic engineering which resurrects the recycled items into artistic masterpieces never before seen.

Marchetti is gifted in many areas. This extensive show allows him to share his uniqueness and diversity with all art enthusiasts. The foundation of his unique style is the melding and welding of metals and common objects, magnificently masqueraded into multiple marvels that will intrigue each viewer and participant.

This adventurous collection combines function and form, geometry and balance, lights and darkness, science and spirit, and static structures with sound.

His structural sculptures and shadow boxes are bursting with boldness, boisterous ringing gongs and bells, motion filled music boxes, and microscopes that zoom into the pieces and see the excruciating detail that otherwise might have been missed.

Visibly recognizable household items have acquired new life thru his masterful hands and imagination.

The understanding of the multitudes of molten and melting metals montaged into a single artistic statement is where his creations begin, mixed with skillful creativity for each metal masterpiece.
