Lane County opens 41 additional jail beds

Expanded capacity added as part of 2013 vote for 5-year public safety levy

On Tuesday, Sept. 8, the Lane County Sheriff's Office (LCSO) reopened an additional 41 jail beds in the Lane County Jail, bringing the total jail capacity to 362 inmates, with 297 of those for local offenders.

The expanded capacity to hold offenders was made possible by a five-year public safety serial levy approved by Lane County voters in May 2013.

Lane County voters passed the public safety levy that promised to keep a minimum of 255 local jail beds open throughout the five-year life of the levy. Levy funds are audited each fiscal year by an outside agency to ensure the Sheriff's Office is spending levy funds as voters intended. The first audit was released in early 2015 and found that the Sheriff's Office is keeping its commitment to Lane County voters.

The jail levy requires a minimum of 255 jail beds for local offenders.

Before the levy went into place, the jail capacity was 125 beds. July 2013 saw that number go up to 256 as the voter-approved levy took effect. Since doubling jail bed capacity in July 2013, LCSO anticipated opening up to 84 additional jail beds for local offenders once sufficient employees were hired and trained to staff jail housing areas.

No budget adjustments are required by the reopening of the 41 beds.

The number of capacity based releases — inmates released from the jail to prevent over-crowding — has fallen from 5,129 in the fiscal year before the levy to 2,126 in the last fiscal year.

Several factors have driven the decision to reopen beds.

- May: Staff identified need.
- June: Staff determined need was critical.
- July 1: California Forensic Medical Group (CFMG) brought in.
- Early August: Jail and CFMG met to finalize protocols.
- Aug. 31: Plan finalized.

Based on Lane County's population, estimates indicate Lane County Jail would need to hold about 1,000 local offenders to meet all the demands of the criminal justice system.

The Sheriff's Office anticipates opening additional local jail beds before the end of the 2015-16 fiscal year.

FAHS seeks donations for yard sale

Florence Area Humane Society (FAHS) volunteers are gathering items to offer in this year's annual Christmas Store, at 1193 Bay St. in Florence.

Items such as dishes, toys, wreaths, ornaments, indoor and outdoor lights, warm shirts, sweaters and caps and anything that will help celebrate the holiday season will be greatly appreciated.

FAHS is asking the community to donate any items that are not sold at the citywide yard sale this weekend, and drop those items off to the FAHS Thrift Store where they will be set aside for this major fundraiser of the year, the Christmas Store.

All sales from the FAHS store help to provide shelter and food for those lost or abandoned dogs and cats who are waiting for a home.
